BELGIUM MAY SELL 2 TOWNS TO BERLIN; PROTEST BY FRANCE

Offer of $40,000,000 for Eupen and Malmedy Is Reported.

VIOLATES TREATIES, IS ATTITUDE IN PARIS

Brussels' Big Debt to Holland Would Be Taken Over as Part of the Deal.

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Paris, Aug. 17.—Negotiations are pending between Germany and Belgium for the possible cession to Germany of the border towns of Eupen and Melmedy for $1,500,000,000 francs (approximately $40,000,000) thus involving the first possible violation of the treaty of Versailles and a direct rupture of the Locarno past, the correspondent was informed today from an authoritative source. The deal has not been consummated, but it is understood that Belgium for some time has been considering the proposal of Germany to purchase these towns, which were given to Belgium under the terms of the treaty which ended the world war.

A vigorous protest by France is to be made, it was indicated in officials circles here today, where it was stated that France takes "a very grave view of the situation."

No official anncuncement has come from Brussels but information has been received from reliable sources in the Belgian capital that this radical proposal was made some time ago by Germany, and that the matter has been considered in Brussels.

Known in Paris for Months.

Inquiries among some French governmental officials today revealed that France has been cognizant of the German efforts to recover the stragetic towns of Eupen and Nalmedy for some months, but apparently France has been moved to take up the matter with Belgium through diplomatic channels when she learned of the definite German proposal to cancel the large Belgium debt to Holland which some German banks would take over if Belgium would give up their border territory.

It was frankly stated in French circles that such a deal would be an absolute contradiction of the terms made at Versailles—the first violation of the Versailles treaty. The French go even further in charging that if Belgium made such a move she would also be guilty with Germany of breaking the provisions of the Locarno treaty. The French say the Germans may offer the excuse that they were not a party to the Versailles treaty, but there is no excuse so far as the Locarno pact is concerned. One provision of the Locarno treaty declares that western European boundaries established by the Versailles treaty must be maintained, and the French contention that since Germany signed this pact she has no right to dicker for any territory ceded to anybody, Belgium included.

Peace Held Threatened.

It is understood that in calling the gravity of the situation to the attention of the Belgians the French have pointed out that any rupture of the Locarno agreement would threaten the peace of Europe; also that any violation of either the Versailles or Locarno treaties would constitute a dangerqus precedent which Germany might take advantage of in the future.

It is generally believed here that Belgium will not get very excited over any possible French protest if the other allies remain quiet.

It was not admitted in so many words that an official protest had been made to Belgium, an indication being given that the matter had "been brought to their attention," but it was frankly stated that French officials viewed the proposal most seriously, leaving no doubt that this French reaction had been relayed to Belgium.

Professor Marries 5,000 Feet in Air

New York, Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—In an airplane 5,000 feet above Central park, Dr. Henry C. McKown, university professor and former army aviator, took Miss Ruth I. Hord, a Mount Pleasant (Tenn.) school teacher, as his bride today.

Post Begins Poll of All Interested in Best Site For New Center Market

Buyers, Farmers, Dealers and Shippers Eligible to Vote—Ballots Printed Daily—Residents May Submit Statements in Support of Opinion. Results to Be Given Officials.

What new site, in your opinion, should be selected for the farmers' and Center markets?

With public opinion apparently divided on that question, The Post today begins a poll of public opinion to determine what new site the majority of the residents of Washington and its environs believe should be selected. A ballot will be published daily, so long as there appears to be sufficient public interest in the question to justify it. The ballot is at the bottom of this page.

Any one may vote. It is not necessary to be a resident of Washington. The farmers who bring their produce to Washington to sell, and those who ship their products here for others to sell are eligible to vote, as well as are all residents of the Capital.

A summary of the poll will be published daily in The Post, and the information afforded by the balloting will be given to the government officials responsible for moving the markets from their present site and selecting a new site elsewhere.

Removal of the farmers' market, adjacent to Center market, is made necessary by the new public buildings program.

Sites already proposed are:

In Eckington, near the Patterson tract, adjoining the freight yards of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

In the Southwest section of the city, along the water front, adjacent to the municipal fish wharf, and adjoining the market storage program already begun in that section.

In the midcity section, between K and L streets, from Sixth street eastward, including the existing Convention Hall market, and, if necessary, extending eastward beyond that.

Those voting, however, are not restricted to a selection of one or another of these sites, but may propose others.

FIRST CHANNEL FLIER PLANS OCEAN SERVICE

Bleriot, Who Made Trip in 1909 in Tiny Plane, Is Air Sick on Second Voyage.

DESCRIBES AIR LINER

Special to The Washington Post.

London, Aug. 17.—Louis Bleriot, who crossed the English channel yesterday by air for the first time since he established the record as the first to fly across that strip of water in 1909, revealed here today that he was working on plans for building an air liner to fly across the Atlantic ocean commercially, and establishing a New York-Paris air-passenger service within the next two years.

Before flying back to Paris, M. Bleriot expressed the hope that his young son, who is becoming an air pilot, might fly the first of these machines to New York.

"The machine will be a monoplane," declared Bleriot, "a monoplane with wings two meters deep. There will be a seating capacity for half a dozen passengers, who will have enough room to be comfortably installed during the voyage. The engines will be in the fuselage, while between the engines the mechanics will be able to walk to and fro, attending the passengers on the voyage."

Not only would this plane have seating accommodations for passengers in the wings instead of the body, as at present, but it would not be "amphibious," Bleriot indicated. It would have four engines. If one engine gave trouble, a spare one would be used in its place.

Bleriot estimated the cost of such a machine at 2,000,000 francs and said the tightness of the money market in France at present was preventing him from proceeding with his plans.

Asked why he had not flown the channel since his history-making air voyage seventeen years ago, Bleriot replied, "Because, until two years ago I considered that flying from Paris to London was dangerous."

Moreover, Bleriot confessed he got air sick while crossing the channel on this occasion.

Report Improvement For Senator Fernald

West Poland, Maine, Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Improvement in the condition of United States Senator Bert M. Fernald, who is ill at his home here, was noted tonight by his physician. Senator Fernald's illness has been diagnosed as intestinal poisoning. A report from the sick room tonight said that Senator Fernald has rested quietly throughout the afternoon and his heart action was much improved and his general condition better.

After a consultation late today, it was announced that a thorough examination had revealed no trace of malignant trouble and that with complete rest for a few weeks there was now no apparent reason why the senator should not return to his former health.

MEXICAN UPRISING PLOT ATTRIBUTED TO WOMEN

Alleged Catholic Movement Linked With "Invasion" by Gen. Estrada.

U. S. MAY SEIZE OTHERS

Mexico City, Aug. 17 (By A. P.) The chief of the secret service, Jose Mascorro, declared tonight that his investigations have revealed that the plot for uprisings in various parts of the republic on Sunday last was largely organized by Catholic women and was definitely connected with the revolutionary movement of Gen. Estrada.

The intention was, by means of simultaneous operations within and outside the country, to sweep Mexico into a revolution, he said.

Chief Mascorro declared that two Catholic women prominent in the federal district, Senora Josfina Novoa and Senora Luz de Perchez, were leaders in the plot, with an equal number of men and women composing the executive board and district organizations.

Los Angeles, Aug. 17 (By A. P.) More arrests in connection with the proposed revolutionary movement in Lower California—nipped last Sunday with the arrest of nearly 200 men—were imminent tonight.

Warrants charging neutrality violations are to be issued against the persons who ordered construction of two armored motor trucks for participating in the revolt, Lucien Wheeler, chief agent of the Department of Justice said. Department agents today identified these persons after uncovering another war-equipped truck in a Hollywood garage. The truck was similar to one

TWO FLIERS KILLED AS PLANE HITS LAKE

Naval Ensigns Are Carried to Bottom of Lake Michigan as Ship Falls.

Chicago, Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Two naval ensigns plunged to their deaths today when the seaplane they were flying above Lake Michigan near the Great Lakes naval training station, suddenly dived into the water. The dead are Ensigns George Hammer, of Texas, and Egbert T. Stone, of Howard, S. Dak. The two were flying the plane 500 feet out from shore when comrades on the beach saw it swerve downward and disappear below the surface. Hastily organized rescue crews found that the force of the dip had carried both the plane and its two passengers to the bottom of the lake and two hours of dragging were necessary to recover the bodies.

Strike in Breweries Of Berlin Is Ordered

Berlin, Aug. 17.—Berlin is threatened with a prohibition-like drought since workmen in the breweries decided tonight to strike for an increase of a dollar a week in their wages. The employers said they could not pay it because the recent bad weather had hit the beer trade and there was a big slump in the consumption of the liquid. The date when the strike will begin is to be decided tomorrow.

CALLES IN DANGER AS ARMY GENERALS TURN AGAINST HIM

Has Catholic Officers Watched, Uncensored Reports State.

SERRANO DECLINES POSITION IN CABINET

President Seeks U. S. Aid, but Helps Anti-American Propaanda.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

According to dispatches reaching here yesterday in code and through diplomatic channels, President Calles of Mexico faces a new and grave danger from the fact that the federal army leaders appear to be turning against him on account of the religious issue. This, it is said, explains the importance which Mexico City attaches to the plot of Gen. Enrique Estrada in San Antonio, and likewise explains the feverish efforts now being made by the Mexican government to enlist the help of the United States in frustrating other plots near the border.

At the same time the encouragement which Calles apparently is giving to attacks on American Ambassador Sheffield and to anti-American propaganda while secretly endeavoring to give satisfactory assurances to the government of the United States is regarded here as in line with the usual Mexican program of attempting to gain support at home by implying that foreigners are interfering with the affairs of Mexico. In this connection it is noted that both President Coolidge and Secretary of State Kellogg are avoiding any move which would assist Calles in playing his game.

Three Groups Feared.

But the uncensored dispatches of yesterday indicate that now the federal army is particularly worrying the Mexican president. This army is composed of three groups and the leaders are being subjected to powerful pressure to follow their own ambitions and restore Mexico to the traditional policies of past Mexican leaders.

The outstanding army figure is Gen. Serrano, governor of the federal district. He is a Catholic and disagrees radically with Calles' religious program. He has refused a position in Calles' cabinet, because he disagrees with Calles' communistic tendencies. He has been back only about two months from a two years' trip to Europe, where he made a study of military and government problems. He passed three days in New York before returning to Mexico and at that time he made it clear that he considered communistic doctrines dangerous to his country.

Serrano is said to be ambitious but loyal to his chief up to the point where he believes loyalty may be the undoing of Mexico. Whether he has reached the point of considering refusal to go along further with Calles or whether he is waiting until the time is ripe are the unknown factors in the situation. Calles is reported to be watching Serrano's every movement without the general being aware of it. Furtherfore, Serrano's command is full of men with pronounced religious devotion, who have the image of the Virgin inscribed on their rifles and whose wives and daughters believe they are among the victims of Calles' decree.

Gomez Sees Trouble.

Another powerful military figure is Gen. Arnulfo Gomez, commanding the federal army at Vera Cruz. He is a Catholic and believes that

RESIGNATION REPORT DENIED BY KELLOGG; PRESIDENT CONCURS

Direct Denial Is Issued by Secretary After Published Rumor.

ALTERING OF POLICY ON MEXICO IS REFUSED

Executive Authorizes the Announcement of Stand of Nonintervention.

Paul Smiths, N. Y., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Frank B. Kellogg is expected to continue in office as Secretary of State under President Coolidge.

A published report that Mr. Kellogg planned to resign soon, not only brought a direct denial from the Secretary himself at the summer White House today, but a statement on behalf of the President that the report was unfounded and that he would regret very much to have the premier of his cabinet resign.

Mr. Kellogg, who has served the government for years, first in legal activities as an attorney, then in the Senate, then as Ambassador to the Court of St. James, before he succeeded Charles E. Hughes in 1925 as head of the State Department, is regarded by Mr. Coolidge as a very valuable member of the cabinet.

And, with his experience and increasing knowledge of the department, it was said, for the President, he is becoming more valuable every day.

Secretary Said to Be Well.

As for Mr. Kellogg himself, he was said to be well, to be able to work hard and sleep well.

With Mrs. Kellogg a guest at White Pine camp since Sunday, the Secretary of State will go to Plattsburg tomorrow to make an address at the unveiling of a monument to Commodore Macdonough, of the war of 1812.

He will return here late in the day to remain a day or two and complete a report he is making to the President on some details of his office that have arisen since Mr. Coolidge left Washington for the summer.

During the temporary absence of Mr. Kellogg, the President will turn to a consideration of other affairs and receive tomorrow from Julius Rosenwald, of Chicago, president of Sears Roebuck & Co., a report on business conditions.

While President Coolidge is understood to be devoting close attention to tentative plans for aiding the agricultural industry by obtaining a greater coordination of the agencies that extend credit to the farmers, little light has been thrown upon the program he has in mind.

In general, it has been indicated, the step contemplates some action

Illness of Fenning's Counsel Delays Trial

The Fenning trial is again postponed. This time it is because of the reported illness of his counsel, M. F. Mangan. The case was first postponed because of the illness of the arresting policeman, Orville Staples, of the Third precinct, who has returned to duty. The case was set for this morning, but will be continued for several days until Mr. Mangan, who is said to be confined to his home by illness, recovers.

Mr. Mangan's apartment did not answer telephone calls yesterday evening. Mr. Fenning is charged with two infractions of the traffic laws—parking within three feet of another automobile and obstructing a private driveway.

Mrs. T. V. Boynton, 72, Is Bride of C. S. Alden, 51

Daughter of Mrs. T. Van Rensselaer Berry and Kin to Many Prominent Washingtonians Wed to Retired Jeweler in Paris.

The marriage of Mrs. Theodore Vernon Boynton, member of one of Washington's oldest and most prominent families, and reputed to be wealthy, to Charles S. Alden, retired jeweler, was performed in Paris Monday, it was learned here yesterday. The bride is 72 years old, while Mr. Alden is 51. Judge Walter Berry, a brother of Mrs. Boynton, who is practicing law in Paris, was present.

While friends of the couple had known long of their attachment, word of their marriage came as a surprise in local society circles.

Mrs. Boynton is a daughter of Mrs. T. Van Rensselaer Berry, and is related to Mrs. John B. Henderson and Mrs. James Carroll Frazer, as well as a host of others of prominent lineage. Her first husband has been dead for several years. She resides at 1302 Eighteenth street northwest.

Mr. Alden, who lost his first wife several years ago, retired from the jewelry firm of Whitmore, Lynn & Alden in April, and since then is understood to have spent considerable time lecturing on psychology. Several of his lectures were held in Mrs. Boynton's drawing room.

Mrs. Boynton and the first Mrs. Alden were close friends before the latter's death, and the marriage Monday was described by friends as the consummation of what on the surface had appeared to be a beautiful, companionable friendship.

They departed together with a party of friends for Paris in June. They are understood to plan to return on the steamship Lapland, leaving France Saturday.

1 KILLED, 3 BADLY HURT IN TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Youth Dies of Injuries Following Head-On Crash of Auto With Bus.

MAN PINNED UNDER CAR

A sixteen-year-old youth was killed and three persons were critically injured in traffic accidents in and near Washington yesterday a man injured July 25, died last night. A score of collisions in which none was hurt were reported. All of the accidents were due partly to wet and slippery streets, police say.

Guy Moore, 16 years old, of Stewart Farm, Md., died last night in Casualty hospital from two compound fractures of the skull and body injuries. His father and mother, William H. Moore, 42 years old, and Mrs. Margaret Moore, 42 years old, are critically injured in Casualty hospital.

They were driving down a steep incline near Brooks Station, Md., when the car skidded and crashed headlong into a large bus, driven by Howard E. Trotter, of the Tidewater Bus Co. The car overturned.

The boy's father and mother suffered possible fractured skulls, besides injuries to bodies and heads. His sister, Margaret, 14 years old, escaped with slight cuts and bruises.

Wesley L. Parker, 50 years old, 1232 Thirteenth street northwest, died at Gallinger hospital last night from a fractured skull received on July 25, when he was struck by an automobile driven by Norman Beaton, 1207 C street northeast, at Ninth and M street northwest, according to police. Coroner Herbert E. Martyn was notified last night and ordered an inquest to be held at the morgue today at 11 o'clock.

Charles Henderson, 54 years old, 1004 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, was struck down and trapped under a street car at Tenth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest. He is in emergency hospital in a critical condition suffering from a fracture of the skull.

Henderson was crossing the

YOUTH ADRIFT AT SEA SAVED AFTER PRAYER

Boston Student Is Saved by Coast Guard After Drifting 24 Hours.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 17. (By A. P.).—"I prayed as I never prayed before and thank God I am on land once more."

These were the words of Gordon White, 16-year-old son of Wilfred L. White, Boston compass manufacturer, as he greeted newspapermen at the coast guard base this afternoon after being rescued off Beach Haven by the C. G.-113. He had been adrift in a small boat for more than 24 hours and little hope was held out for his rescue.

The youth was one of a party of 13 students of the Tabor Academy, Mercen, Mass., who came to the resort last night on the cabin cruiser, Tabor Boy, a ninety-footer. When the craft was within 200 feet of Brigantine Beach, a sudden squall broke and a small tender, with young White aboard snapped a tow line and drifted out to sea.

White was located after being picked up by the Pequod, a fishing craft that found the youth floating in the water filled dingy 12 miles east of Beach Haven shortly after 1:30 p. m., today.

U. S. TRAVEL ALLOWANCE INCREASED TO $6 DAILY

Amount Raised From $4 and Will Apply to All Federal Departments.

EFFECTIVE ON OCTOBER 1

The government daily traveling allowance, which has remained unchanged at $4 a day since the days when a dollar a day and a full dinner pail were the shiboleths of political campaigns and government jobs were thought of as lucrative, yesterday was increased to $6 by Brig. Gen. H. M. Lord, director of the budget.

Announcement of the increased daily subsistence allowance for traveling government officers was contained in new regulations which are to govern all departments and bureaus of the Federal government. Heretofore each of the departments has had its own travel regulations.

The new regulations were framed by the Federal traffic board through a committee on which there were representatives of all departments and bureaus, and will become effective October 1 and will govern all branches of the government service except the postal service, except where there are different provisions in specific laws.

They are to be printed in pamphlet form and will be ready for distribution in about two weeks, and were formulated to standardize the rules governing travel expenses for the government.

Congress has appropriated $35,314,595.29 for travel expenses for the current year, which is an increase of $177,830.65 over the appropriations for the last fiscal year, when $35,136,764.64 was appropriated.

Boris, Unwed, Quits Bride-Hunting Trip

Paris, Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—A Havas dispatch from Sofia says that King Boris has returned from his incognito trip to Switzerland.

King Boris, young bachelor, monarch of Bulgaria, left his capital in the middle of July on what was described in many quarters as a matrimonial errand. He was accompanied by his sister, the Princess Eudoxie. Traveling as Count Rilski, the young king went to Geneva, Luzerne and other Swiss cities.

PATROLMAN OFFERS AN ALIBI FOR MAZER IN MELLETT KILLING

Says Underworld Chief Was at His Home at Time of Murder.

SUSPECT IS DEFIANT TOWARD ACCUSERS

Shouts Denials That He Hired Slayers or Was Involved in Murder Plot.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Patrolman Streitenberger, of Canton, said tonight that he was prepared to give testimony that will be a complete alibi for Louis Mazer, charged with the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher. Streitenberger is attending a fraternal convention here.

Mazer, he declared, was with him from midnight until nearly 1 o'clock on the night of the killing, and at no time during that hour was within 20 block of the scene of the murder.

"Louis Mazer is innocent of the murder of Don R. Mellett," Streitenberger declared. "He was at my home from midnight until 12:50 o'clock or 12:55 a. m. the night of the killing, and I will do anything I can to clear him."

Streitenberger said he had asked Mazer to come to his house to see a dog that was sick.

"We talked for quite a while. I recall that my wife called downstairs that it was nearly 1 o'clock and time to go to bed. Mazer left about five minutes after that—between 12:50 and 12:55 a. m."

About an hour later Streitenberger said he was called out for duty on the Mellett murder.

Mazer Nearly Collapses.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Louis Mazer, alleged Canton vice lord, charged with the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher, throughout hours of grilling today shouted defiance at his inquisitors. He stoutly denies any connection with the crime.

Several times during the day Mazer was reported on the verge of a breakdown. Upon occasion he wept. Generally he shot back at his accusers, "The man lies."

His erstwile business companion, Carl Studer, called "Crown Prince of the Jungles" in Canton, was tight-lipped, declaring: "I'll lie in this cell until I rot before I make any confession."

Both men are held here on Federal charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. Their arrest yesterday was admittedly a ruse to get them into custody away from Canton's allegedly corrupt political atmosphere, although Joseph R. Roach, Chicago, "clean-up" attorney, says he has an "air-tight" liquor conspiracy case against the pair.

Say He Hired Slayers.

Evidence with which Mazer was confronted included testimony by Steve Kascholk, "informer" against Mazer, and others, that Mazer was an employer of the men who were designated to "get" Mellett.

Identification by Gascholk of Mazer's automobile as the car in which he was taken to the Mellett home to look over the scene of the intended murder.

Identification of Kascholk of Mapolice dog belonging to Doll Carey, known in Canton's underworld as "Louis Mazer's woman," as one of the occupants in the automobile on that occasion.

Evidence that the white-handled revolver of peculiar foreign make, from which the fatal bullet is believed to have been discharged, was owned by Mazer.

An affidavit signed by Norman Clark, Canton attorney, that his life was threatened by Mazer, who accused him of "talking too much about the murder."

Was in the Neighborhood.

Mazer's own admission that he was in the neighborhood of the Mellett home near the hour of the murder and that he visited the home of Patrolman Streitenberg between 11:30 p. m. and 1:30 a. m. Mellett was slain at about 12:15 a. m.

For a moment this morning it looked as if Mazer were on the verge of a confession, but the nervousness he exhibited was later attributed to the shock he received when confronted for the first time with information that he faces a first degree murder warrant.

"Louis, what is the matter?" Mazer's 60-year-old mother wept.

"It's a lie, I didn't do it," Mazer

POWER TO REVOKE PERMITS IS UPHELD BY COMMISSIONERS

Board, Deciding Three Appeals, Declares Eldridge Has Right Under Law.

CORPORATION COUNSEL ALSO SUSTAINS ACTION

Director Authorized to Make Public Names of Drivers Forfeiting Licenses.

Power of Director of Traffic M. O. Eldridge to revoke driving permits of motorists without waiting for them to be convicted in court of offenses charged against them was upheld by the commissioners yesterday in deciding the first three appeals from such action by Eldridge.

Congress conferred the authority to suspend or revoke permits summarily at its last session. In the amendment to the traffic act containing the provision, it was set forth that persons losing their permits by revocation could appeal to the commissioners. It was generally understood that these appeals would be on questions of fact; not whether Eldridge had the right to take away the permits, but whether he was justified in so doing under the circumstances of a specific case.

The question of his right to revoke while a court trial was pending was raised in the case of William M. Buckley, 1406 S street southeast, whose automobile struck a colored woman, the accident resulting in her death. Buckley's permit was revoked and he appealed.

Upheld by Stephens.

An opinion in the case was sought by the commissioners from Corporation Counsel Francis H. Stephens, who advised them that Eldridge had the right, under the law, to do as he had done.

So the commissioners denied the appeal, taking the same action in appeals from Alious Nash, 1227 Fourth street northwest, accused of driving while intoxicated, and Edward J. Duvall, 224 V street northeast, charged with reckless driving.

All of these cases probably will be appealed further, the law permitting them to be taken to the District Court of Appeals for final decision.

The commissioners yesterday also upheld the director of traffic in his recommendation that he be authorized to make public, from time to time, names and addresses of motorists whose permits are suspended or revoked, so that the police may be aided in preventing such motorists from driving, by neighbors reporting them if they use their cars thereafter.

Liquor Seized in Abandoned Car.

Police of the new Thirteenth precinct made their first liquor seizure last night, when they found an automobile containing 66 gallons of corn whisky abandoned on the Walter Reed hospital reservation.

Storms Aplenty Promised For Today and Tomorrow

Get out the old yellow slicker and rubbers and be prepared for plenty of cool, wet weather, for the weather man promises plenty of thunderstorms for today and probably tomorrow.

The present rainy spell, which has covered a period of three days, has caused the mercury, which clung consistently around the 100 mark last week, to drop to an average below normal, with yesterday's temperature being close to the 70's for the greater part of the day.

The highest temperature recorded yesterday was at noon, when the mercury reached 86 degrees. A thundershower after 1 o'clock, however, caused the mercury to drop 6 points within a few hours. At 6 o'clock last night the temperature had dropped to 75 degrees. The only discomfort felt yesterday was caused by the humidity, which stayed close to the 75 degree mark practically all day.

Washington and nearby towns in Maryland and Virginia where water shortages have been feared due to an unusually small amount of rainfall have been greatly relieved by the near cloudbursts which have descended during the past two days.

No more torrid weather is expected by the weather bureau for some time.

Prisoner Offered Bribe To Judge, Police Allege

After having offered a bribe to Police Justice W. S. Snow to dismiss a charge against him for violating the prohibition law, police allege, Samuel Petrello, a barber, 303 Cameron street, was placed under $5,000 bond for a hearing in Alexandria police court today before Justice Aylett B. Nicol.

Petrello, who has a record of several local convictions for violations of the prohibition law, was on parole from the State penitentiary where he was sent following a conviction of dry law violation, and had served a portion of his sentence. Monday afternoon the police, headed by Capt. Campbell, raided the barber shop and home of Petrello, which is just around the corner from police headquarters, and seized a quantity of home brewed beer in bottles and fruit jars.

Trade Chamber Holds Outing September 14

Benning Airport Cost Placed at $500,000

Development of the old Washington Jockey club property at Benning as an airport was urged on the National Aeronautic association yesterday by the Kenilworth Citizens association. The property, comprising 189 acres, could be bought for $378,000, and is so located and in such condition as to permit its finishing for an airport at a moderate cost, making the total cost of land and its clearance not more than $500,000, the association said.

At the same time the suggestion from the aeronautical association that the Gravelly-Hunter point section be developed as an airport met with opposition from A. H. Gregory, yachtsman, who urged that the point be developed as a yachting center and not as an airport.

17 French Good-Will Students Visit Here

The party of seventeen French students now on a good-will tour of the United States, arrived in Washington yesterday. Following a visit to the French Embassy in the morning, the students went to the City club for luncheon as guests of Roger O'Donnell. Following the luncheon, the party motored to Arlington cemetery, where they placed a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

The students will leave Washington early this morning for Philadelphia, where they will be conducted through the grounds of the Sesquicentennial.

Parade to Precede Legion Convention

A night street parade will be held August 27, under auspices of the convention committee of the District of Columbia department of the American Legion, in connection with the convention which will be held at the Central High school auditorium Friday and Saturday nights of next week.

According to present plans, the parade will form at 7:30 o'clock at Fourteenth and Newton streets northwest, proceeding south on Fourteenth street to Clifton street and east to the high school. Francis F. Miller, of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing post of the Legion, is in charge of the parade.

Fall From Third-Story Window Fatal to Baby

A fall from a third story window of his home two days ago, caused the death yesterday of Gerald Thompson, 22-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Thompson, 3333 N street northwest. Deputy Coroner Herbert Martyn certified accidental death.

According to police, the child had been left in care of his brother, Raymond, 6 years old, Sunday, and his sister, Marjorie, 4 years old, was playing on the rear porch. The sister, it was said, dropped a doll out of the window and the older brother went to retrieve it. While he was out the baby walked to the window and fell.

Physical Condition Changed, Woman Sues

Frederick C. Whitmarsh, 332 Seaton place northeast, who is alleged to be indirectly responsible for the fact that Mary N. Hammond, 1217 Decatur street northwest, weighs too much for comfort, is short of breath at times and is inclined to inactivity, was sued by her yesterday in circuit court for $20,000 damage.

Through Attorney Paul E. Lesh, the plaintiff says that on November 19, last, she was struck by a truck driven by Whitmarsh at Fourteenth street and Columbia road northwest. As a result of the injuries and shock, she states, she is suffering from hyperthyroidism and other ailments. Her physical disposition now is just the opposite of what it was prior to the accident, she states.

Girl Wife Asks Court To Annul Marriage

Hazel E. Norris, daughter of Mrs. Margaret P. Schumacker, 107 Eastern avenue, Takoma Park, filed suit yesterday in equity court through her mother against her husband, William L. Norris, 1014 Fifteenth street northwest, to have their marriage of May 16, 1925, annulled on the ground of alleged coercion and non-age.

Through Attorney D. Edward Clarke, the plaintiff says that Norris threatened to take both of their lives if she did not agree to marry him, although she was but 16 years old at the time. Since the marriage, it is stated, the plaintiff has become compeltely disgusted with her husband.

George Washington Post Names Ticket

T. F. Krauskopf and G. T. Rude were nominated for the office of commander of George Washington post, No. 1, American Legion, at a meeting held at 1829 I street northwest last night.

Other nominations were Walter J. West and H. W. Longfellow, first vice commander; J. P. Cromwell and William Lawler, second vice commander; B. C. McGee, J. N. Knappen and Charles S. Bellman, third vice commander; H. J. Rath and John Bishop, quartermaster; Howard S. Fisk, sergeant-at-arms; J. J. Owen, master-at-arms, and Dr. M. H. Darnall, surgeon.

Woman Sues to Obtain Custody of Grandson

Mrs. Kathryn Lerch, 63a Bates street northwest, filed suit yesterday in equity court against Joseph I. Wilson, 1417 Morse street northeast, her son-in-law, to acquire custody of her 4-year-old grandson, John J. Wilson.

The boy's mother died June 2, last, it is stated. Wilson and his wife entered into a separation agreement in March, 1924, Mrs. Lerch says, and the mother was given the boy. Since the death of the mother, it is stated, Wilson has gotten possession of the boy. Attorney Lowry N. Coe appears for Mrs. Lerch.

Grocer Surprises Robber.

Surprised while attempting to open a cash drawer in a grocery store at 1001 New Jersey avenue northwest, last night, a colored man grappled with Nathan Blendman, owner of the store, and escaped after striking Blendman in the eye with his fist. After checking up on the contents of the cash register, Blendman discovered that nothing was missing.

6 VIRGINIA COUNTIES FORM SHENANDOAH PARK HIGHWAY BODY

Delegations at Front Royal Meeting Favor Clarendon-Falls Church Route.

H. E. NAYLOR ELECTED PRESIDENT OF GROUP

Arlington County Business Association to Plan Booster Campaign.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 500. Clarendon, Va.

With the view to establishing a direct highway from the Memorial bridge to the northern entrance to the Shenandoah National park, citizens from Arlington, Fairfax, Prince William, Warren, Loudoun and Fauquier counties met yesterday at Front Royal, Va., and organized the Shenandoah National Park Highway association.

Hugh E. Naylor, of Front Royal, prime mover in the establishment of the National park for Virginia, was unanimously elected president. Other officers elected were Arthur Orr, Arlington county, first vice president; George B. Robey, Fairfax county, second vice president; Thomas Lon, Prince William county, third vice president; George T. Strother, Fauquier county, fourth vice president; F. L. Tavenner, Shenandoah county, fifth vice president; Mrs. Catherine M. Rogers, Arlington county, secretary; O. W. Bordon, Warren county, assistant secretary, and Dr. F. W. Huddleston, Fairfax county, treasurer. Members of the board of directors, two from each county, will be announced later.

President Naylor read a letter from Gov. Harry F. Byrd, in which he expressed his regret at being unable to attend. The governor expressed his approval of the movement and wished it success.

The organization went on record as approving the direct-to-the-bridge route passing through Clarendon, Ballston to Falls Church as the first link in the highway.

President Naylor, in opening the meeting, which was held in the auditorium of Randolph-Macon academy, briefly outlined the purpose of the organization, stating that the principal object was to establish a highway from the Nation's Capital to the northern entrance to the park by the shortest possible route.

Mayor B. J. Hillidge, in his address of welcome to the delegates, said: "The day of individual views has passed and all sections are now working together, and by continuing all things attempted can be accomplished. We are to have here in Front Royal the northern entrance to the park, and nothing more appropriate could be started than has been today, the movement for a highway by the shortest route to the Nation's Capital."

Prof. C. L. Melton, of Randolph-Macon academy, said there are 30,000,000 people who will want to reach the park and by way of Manassas Gap to Front Royal 26 miles will be saved.

Col. H. C. Benchoff, president of the national park, said:

"Virginia faces a new day. Let us forget our individual ideas. Let no selfish feeling grow, as by so doing you pull loose the foundation stone of the greatest development in the State's history.

"One-half of the $2,500,000 necessary for the park has been pledged, and everything now looks easy. The organization is now planning to carry on a national campaign to raise the balance needed to assure the park which we know we will get."

Other speakers were Maj. E. W. R. Ewing, of Arlington county; George F. Harris, of Herndon, and Linwood Robinson, of Manassas, all of whom urged support for the organization.

With 75 delegates from Arlington county, the caravan left the courthouse at 8 o'clock, passing through Falls Church, Fairfax, Middleburg, Upperville and Deleplane, where large delegations joined the party, numbering more than 200.

McCarl Denies Consul's Bill for Drinking Water

Water which is good enough for the native population of Rangoon, Burma, to drink is good enough for the American vice consul to drink, too, Comptroller General McCarl decided in a ruling made public yesterday disapproving an expenditure of $11.20 by Keyne V. Graum, vice consul, for drinking water.

The vice consul submitted a report on the municipal water supply by the health officer of the city, but that report merely declares the water has a too high count of micro-organisms without disclosing the presence of noxious germs, and the vice consul's use of special water was based on an apprehension of cholera, dysentery and other tropical diseases and not on immediate necessity, the Comptroller General ruled.

He did not indicate beyond that statement whether he would approve expenditure for special water if the vice consul was made ill by the city supply, which, he said, is potable for the native population of 293,000.

BLAST AT ANNAPOLIS KILLS TWO WORKERS

Two Others Hurt When Boiler in Experiment Plant Explodes.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 17.—A naval board of investigation, appointed by Rear Admiral Nulton, superintendent of the Naval Academy, is investigating the cause of the boiler explosion at the naval experiment plant here today which resulted in the deaths of two civilian employes and the injury of two others.

John H. Gray, fireman, whose skull and ribs were fractured and who was injured internally, and Martin W. Rousch, who was burned over the body, died tonight at the Naval hospital. Benjamin Ford, a painter, suffered a fractured jaw and John A. Kramer received minor scalds. Both are expected to recover.

The explosion would have resulted even more seriously except for the fact that the majority of the workmen had five minutes respite after their dinner hour before returning to the building to work. It was in these five minutes that the blast occurred. The experiment plant is used for testing materials for use in the navy. It is partly of iron, concrete and glass construction and situated directly on Severn river. Practically the entire side of the building on the water front was blown out when the huge boiler burst. Much machinery and equipment were badly damaged. Gray is said to have been the only man in the boiler room when the blast shook the building. The detonations could be felt a mile away.

Military Road Ordered Closed.

Military road, formerly part of Grant road, between Second and Davenport streets northwest, just off Connecticut avenue, was ordered permanently closed by the commissioners yesterday. The land comprising the roadway will revert to the owners of abutting property, but the closing will not be physically accomplished until Thirty-second and Davenport streets are opened to traffic.

4 HOUSE MEMBERS LEAD IN MISSISSIPPI PRIMARY CONTESTS

Collier Apparently Nominated Again in the Eighth Congressional District.

HUMPHREYS CONCEDES WHITTINGTON'S VICTORY

Busby and Lowery Are Ahead; Emerson Holds Margin in Wyoming Race.

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—All of the four members of the Mississippi delegation in the national House of Representatives who sought another term in today's Democratic primary election apparently were renominated on the face of returns tonight.

Practically complete unofficial returns showed that Representative J. W. Collier, of Vicksburg, had defeated Francis Harmon, of Jackson, by approximately 2,500 votes in the Eighth district. W. Y. Humphreys, of Greenville, candidate from the Third district, conceded the nomination of W. M. Whittington, incumbent, when tabulations revealed that Humphreys was 1,500 behind.

Jeff Busby, of Houston, incumbent, was leading J. F. Smith, of Derma, by 2,701 to 321 when returns had been obtained from five of eleven counties in the Fourth district.

Seventy precincts out of 142 in the Second district gave Representative B. G. Lowery, of Blue Mountain, 5,085 votes to 3,994 for Richard Denman, of Charleston.

Emerson Ahead in Wyoming.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Scattering returns in Wyoming's primary election from nearly every section of the State tonight gave State Engineer Frank C. Emerson a slight lead over Secretary of State Frank E. Lucas, for the Republican nomination for governor. Twenty-six out of 683 precincts gave Emerson 244 and Lucas 148.

The winner of the Republican nomination will oppose Gov. Nellie Tayloe Ross in the November election. She is unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

The only national office involved in today's primary is that of representative in Congress at large. Charles E. Winter, Republican incumbent, has no primary opponent, and the Democrats have no candidate listed on their ballot for the place.

British Paper Barred Because of Rum "Ad"

New York, Aug. 17 (By A. P.) A tehtative decision barring an English magazine from the United States because it contains an advertisement for alcoholic liquor was made known today by customs officials.

A section of the national prohibition law which makes it illegal to advertise "anywhere and by any means" manufacture, keeping for sale or furnishing of liquor," was cited by Edward Barnes, acting solicitor of the customs office.

He said that the monthly, the Key to London, published by the American information bureau, was temporarily barred as an "illegal importation" pending a final decision by Federal authorities because it told where, in England, one might buy a certain brand of cherry brandy.

China in First Move To Renounce Treaties

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Geneva, Aug. 17.—China has taken the first step toward the denunciation of her customs treaties by officially notifying Belgium that the tariff pacts of extraterritoriality will automatically terminate October 29. This action, by the special Chinese tariff commission, carries out the threats made recently by both Chao Hins Chu, Chinese Minister at Rome, and Alfred Sze, Minister at Washington.

According to official information, Peking is preparing to renounce all existing treaties three months before the extension period arrives. Abrogation of Belgium's treaty will be followed by similar action in regard to the American, Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, Italian, French and British treaties.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS NAME COMMANDEB TODAY

Four Candidates in Field for Office; Organizations Join Parade.

ALLIED GROUPS ELECT

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Delegates to the twenty-eighth encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans and allied organizations here cut short their business sessions today for their annual parade. They were joined by veterans of the civil and world wars, regular army units and the national guard and citizens' military training camp students now in camp here.

Business sessions were devoted to selecting nominees to be voted upon tomorrow, when the veterans will decide upon next year's convention city. El Paso, Detroit and San Antonio have extended invitations.

A successor to Carmi A. Thompson, national commander, who was unable to attend because of his mission to the Philippine islands for President Coolidge, will be chosen from a group including Senator Rice W. Means, of Colorado; Harvey H. Hanna, of Nashville; Frank B. Dodds, of Lawrence, Kans., and Carl G. Juneau, of Milwaukee. Nominations for senior vice commander include C. Neel Markham, of Portsmouth, Va., and William A. Dawkins, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Carl A. Anderson, of Omaha, and William Berich, of Indiana, were nominated for junior vice commander. The Rev. Ezra C. Clements, of Owatonna, Minn., is unopposed for chaplain.

Blanche J. Barker, of Boston, is unopposed for president general of the auxiliary. The Naval and Military order selected Captain Robert Waukowski, of Culver City, Calif., as commander in chief, and Col. Christopher T. O'Neil, of Allentown, Pa., was elected senior vice commander.

Greetings from Commander Thompson were sent to the veterans.

"I have been selected to a duty I must perform," he said, "and I shall do it to the best of my ability, and in order that no man or party shall say he or it has a mortgage on my opinion or my report, I shall pay every cent of my expenses and those of my staff."

Judge Edward S. Matthias, of the Ohio supreme court, noted a 10 per cent gain in membership of the organization and stressed the need for greater publicity. He also urged the veterans to maintain permanent headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Still Arrests Denied By Chicago Attorney

Chicago, Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Edwin A. Olson, district attorney, today denies the report made yesterday that his office and that of E. C. Yellowley, prohibition administrator, were planning wholesale action against merchants who sell stills and other paraphernalia for the manufacture of liquor.

"No move to take these men before the grand jury is contemplated by this office," he said, "nor shall I have any conference with Mr. Yellowley."

BALTIMORE GIRL FORCED FROM CHANNEL IN STORM

Miss Cannon's Stride Wins Praise; Soon to Try Swim Again.

Cape Gris-Nez, France, Aug. 17. (By A. P.).—The storm gods were not so kind to Lillian Cannon, of Baltimore, as they were to Gertrude Ederle. The Baltimore girl, who started early this morning to beat her New York rival's trans channel record, was forced to give up the attempt after two hours and 35 minutes in the water. For the first hour everything went well with her. Enthusiastic friends aboard the accompanying tug were sure she would set a new mark. But the elements were against her. A terrific thunderstorm came up suddenly, with much lightning, and the heavy squall piled up the waves which, meeting the rushing tide, made a choppy sea that daunted even the trawlers.

Miss Cannon, plucky swimmer that she is, was undaunted by the rising sea and wanted to continue, but her advisers on the tug insisted that she come out of the water.

"I won't let a little thing like a storm beat me," she said. "I'll try again at the first favorable tide." Thus she declared herself on board the tug even before she had got the seawater out of her eyes. Some of the experts on channel swimming were so favorably impressed with her showing that they are confident that, granted anything like a favorable condition of tide and weather, she is bound to succeed in her attempt to swim the channel. All were rather chary, however, about predicting that she would beat Gertrude Ederle's record.

Bissingen, Germany, Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Gertrude Ederle today told the Associated Press that she was prepared to take on all male and female challengers in a channel swim for a purse of $20,000 before starting for the United States.

RINGER BOY WINS FIGHT AGAINST DEATH PENALTY

Sentence Is Commuted to Life Imprisonment After Plea to Pardon Board.

FATHER OFFERED TO DIE

Lincoln, Nebr., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Donald Ringer, 19, the youngest person to receive the death sentence in Nebraska, today won his long battle for life when the board of pardons commuted his sentence to life imprisonment.

Decision to commute the sentence came after hearings Monday and today. Yesterday Ringer made a personal plea to Gov. McMullen and other members of the board. He denied each of the five confessions he is alleged to have made and asked for "a fair deal just once in my life."

Ringer was accused of slaying and robbing Carl Moore, automobile salesman in 1924. He was arrested at Gulfport, Miss. Ringer's companion, George Bender, has never been apprehended.

The board stipulated that "no further pardon, commutation or parole ever be granted to this applicant."

Last week Ringer's father offered to die in his son's place, and later the boy's sister made a plea to the board in his behalf.

Coin Harvey Held Sinking.

Rogers, Ark., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—W. H. ("Coin") Harvey, critically ill at his home at Monte, Ne, near here, was said to be growing weaker today. He remained in a stupor, and attending physicians expressed grave fears as to the outcome of his illness. He is suffering from blood poison.

NOTED WOMAN SURGEON LOSES LIQUOR PRIVILEGE

Prescribed Rum for Eggnogs and Cooking, Dr. Effie L. Lobdell Admits.

HONESTY CALLED ERROR

Chicago, Aug. 17 (By A. P.) Dr. Effie L. Lobdell, noted woman surgeon, and a fellow of the American College of Surgeons, was among nineteen physicians whose licenses to dispense liquor were revoked yesterday, it became known today.

Dr. Lobdell said her license had been revoked "because I have been honest about it."

"I issued several prescriptions for friends who were going traveling," she said. "Then I issued several more for culinary purposes—for cooking and making eggnog. My mistake, it seems, was in being perfectly honest about it—writing on the prescription exactly what I issued it for."

Declaring that physicians have always resented the act of placing the prohibition problem on their shoulders, Dr. Lobdell said she could not see that liquor is more medicinal today than it was before prohibition. She was informed when her books were examined, she said, that "they are not near as bad as most of them, but I had been careless." She said she informed the examiner that "it was perfectly all right to revoke the license because I can get all I will need for my purposes from those who still have the privilege."

TWO WOMEN SEEN IN LANE NEAR SPOT OF RECTOR'S DEATH

Larger One Was Berating Man and Companion, Court Is Advised.

TESTIMONY IS TERMED OF GREAT IMPORTANCE

W. J. O'Rourke Is Principal Witness of Day in the Hall-Mills Inquiry.

Somerville, N. J., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—A dozen witnesses were called by the State today to establish proof that Henry de la Bruyere Carpender and Willie Stevens should be held for the murders of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills in September, 1922.

William J. O'Rourke, of New Brunswick, whose testimony State Senator Simpson, prosecutor, said was "of tremendous import," told of seeing three persons in De Russey's lane, near the Phillips farm, on the outskirts of New Brunswick, shortly before the time the State has fixed for the murders.

The man, O'Rourke said, "looked like Dr. Hall," a woman standing beside the short, heavy man in dark clothes resembled Mrs. Mills, he believed. Another and larger woman, who seemed to be berating the others, he could not identify. He said he did not know if it were Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, the rector's wife, now at liberty on $15,000 bail, charged with the murders.

Many Lovers in Lane.

Under cross-examination, O'Rourke was asked if DeRusseys lane was not a noted trysting place for lovers and if he had gone into it. He replied that "there were so many lovers in there that there wasn't room for me to go in." This brought loud laughter from the crowd in the courtroom and County Judge Cleary, sitting as a committing magistrate, ordered the courtroom cleared of all but interested parties.

"People who have no more brains than to laugh at a murder hearing should not come into court," he said, banging his gavel. The crowd, after its ejection, sat on the steps of the courthouse and waited for news of the hearing.

O'Rourke fixed the time he saw the three persons as 8:55. The State maintains the murders were committed at about 10:30.

There were two cars parked near the lane, O'Rourke said. One of these had no headlights. On cross-examination O'Rourke was asked if he knew Mrs. Hall. He said that he did, but he could not say it was she he saw.

Laundered Burial Socks.

Barbara Tough, maid in the Hall home at the time of the murders, said she was not aware that Mrs. Hall knew of the alleged intimacy between Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills. Questioned about a pair of white silk socks given her for laundering a few hours before the bodies were found and in which Dr. Hall was buried, she said she attached no significance to the incident, as Mrs. Hall always gave her Dr. Hall's white silk socks to launder. She said her instructions were indefinite and that she could launder the socks when it was convenient.

She admitted that the utterance of Mrs. Hall, "Wash these for him," had not been used by Mrs. Hall when giving her socks for laundering on other occasions.

Raymond Schneider, who once confessed he saw his companion, Clifford Hayes, murder the rector and chorister, told of his discovery of the bodies. He said he had never been in DeRusseys lane before the time he came upon the bodies while walking with Pearl Bahmer. When examined in 1922, he said he came upon a man and woman in the lane the night of the murders. He was sentenced for perjury for the confession he retracted. Pearl Bahmer, his sweetheart, was committed to a home for wayward girls.

Cedric Paulus, chauffeur for Mrs. Hall, but a high-school student at the time of the murders, testified he saw a light in the community house adjoining Dr. Hall's church at about 1:30 the night the rector and Mrs. Mills were slain.

Charles A. Collins, New Brunswick detective, sent to Philadelphia to question the dyer to whom Mrs. Hall sent a light tan coat to be dyed shortly after the bodies were discovered, said he had been told there were no bloodstains on the coat. The dyer, he said, was not certain that bloodstains would cause discoloration of a woolen scarf sent with the coat. But no bloodstains were discovered on the scarf, either, he said the dyer told him.

Simpson asked a doctor who described the slash on Mrs. Mills' throat if he thought the wound could have been inflicted by a pair of pruning shears. The doctor was not sure what sort of instrument had been used, but gave it as his opinion that pruning shears had not been used.

Paulus, who was tree surgeon for Mrs. Hall before he became chauffeur, was asked if he had seen a pair of pruning shears about the Hall home. He said he had not.

Diary on Hall-Mills Murder Found Here

A diary, containing references to the Hall-Mills murder was turned over to authorities investigating the case in Somerville, N. J., by Washington police yesterday. The book was found recently in a pile of trash by a young girl living in a nearby Maryland suburb.

The diary, which was partly mutilated by time and fire, evidently had been written by a woman, according to Chief of Detectives Henry G. Pratt. He refused to divulge the name of the finder of the diary.

Names in the book, according to Inspector Pratt, were Christian names and nicknames. The girl who found the diary turned it over to her mother, who in turn gave it to the police.

NATIONAL ARMIES FLEE BEFORE CHINESE ALLIES

Despite Suspected Soviet Aid, the Kuominchun Are in Full Retreat.

MAY MAKE NEW STAND

Peking, Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—The Kuominchun, national armies of the government overthrown last April, are in full retreat to their base at Kalgan, 116 miles northwest of Peking. Forced from Nankow Pass after heavy bombardment in which both sides are believed to have suffered heavy losses, they yielded the town of Hwailai, north of the pass, to the allied forces of Marshals Wu-pei-fu and Chang Tso-lin without resistance.

Falling back toward Kalgan, 70 miles from Hwailai, the national armies are tearing up the railroad tracks to check pursuit. Somewhere along the northern side of the loop of the Great Wall of China, of which Kalgan is a gateway toward Mongolia, they may make their stand.

Since July 2 the kuominchun had held Nankow pass, 1,900 feet above sea level, against the efforts of Wu Pei-fu, China's foremost commander, to dislodge them. Modern warfare methods were used by the opposing forces.

The kuominchun, well commanded and drilled, fell back in good order to Hwailai, but threatened with a bombardment from the hills with outranging guns and continued their retreat northward without offering fight.

That the kuominchun have been dealt a decisive blow seems unlikely. At their backs lies Mongolia, across which by two caravan routes they are believed to have been receiving aid from bolshevistic sources of Russia. From Kalgan, if need be, they may continue their retreat by railroad to Tatungfu or turn upon their pursuers in high mountain passes.

KITCHENER BODY HOAX IS DENIED BY POWER

Newspaper Man Says Box, Found Empty, Tampered With; Repeats Claim.

London, Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—The Star today quotes Frank Power, British newspaper man, as denying that he hoaxed anybody with reference to the packing case alleged to contain the body of the late Lord Kitchener which was found empty yesterday.

That some one tampered with the "Kitchener casket" was intimated by Power in the interview attributed to him by the Star. The paper quotes Power as saying concerning the empty shell inside the casket: "It obviously can not be the shell which contained the body and which I placed in the coffin in Norway." Power, with his wife, returned from Portsmouth at noon today. He visited Scotland Yard, but what took place has not been divulged.

At another point the Star quotes Power: "I have a clear conscience in the matter and am not seeking shelter behind the law. I haven't broken any regulation nor made any false declaration. Neither have I hoaxed anybody."

Men and Wives Held In Murder, Robbery

Dade City, Fla., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Two men, said by Sheriff I. W. Hudson to be Louis Curtis, 29, and Arthur Davenport, 25, and two women claimed by them to be their wives, were identified here today as the four persons who early yesterday robbed a grocery store at Tarpon Springs and shot to death E. E. Blewfield, policeman.

Sheriff Hudson said several eye witnesses had made the identification, but the men denied all knowledge of the crime.

TWO NATIONS TO HONOR BIRTH OF VIRGINIA DARE

Sir Esme to Speak at the Unveiling of Monument to Her Today.

OTHER EVENTS RECALLED

Roanoke Island, N. C., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Statesmen of two nations, high church and military dignitaries and thousands of natives and visitors will unite tomorrow to commemorate the birth 339 years ago of Virginia Dare, the first English child born on the American continent. A monument is to be unveiled at Manteo, marking the spot where the child was born. The principal speaker will be Sir Esme Howard, British Ambassador, who will speak from a rostrum erected under huge oaks near where the baby was christened the Sunday following her birth.

The unveiling, while it is to be the outstanding event of the observance, constitutes only a part of a week set aside for the purpose of commemorating historic happenings at the now isolated spot. Here was planted for the first time the English flag on the newly discovered continent. Here was born the first white child of English parentage, and here occurred the first Christian baptism, later to be followed by the disappearance of the entire colony from the face of the earth, and of which no trace ever has been found. It is to commemorate these events that a "home-coming week" is being held all this week with some special observance each day.

Gov. McLean of North Carolina, who was expected to introduce Sir Esme, probably will be unable to attend. Representative Lindsay C. Warren, of North Carolina, whose efforts in Congress were responsible for a Federal appropriation for the Virginia Dare marker, will deliver an address of welcome and will introduce the distinguished guest if Gov. McLean is absent. Gov. Byrd of Virginia also was among those expected to attend, but it could not be learned tonight whether he would make the trip or not.

Aside from the address of welcome by Representative Warren and the address by Sir Esme, no speeches are scheduled.

AGED HERMIT HANGED BY 2 YOUNG COUSINS

Dog Leads Posse Over Trackless Mountains, Confirming the Confessions.

Hot Sulphur Springs, Colo., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Across trackless mountains which for weeks have defied every effort of posses to locate Fred N. Selak, 75-year-old hermit of Grand Lake, Colo., a pointer dog today led searchers to the body of the recluse. The body was found suspended from a tree near the wealthy hermit's cabin by authorities who began their hunt following the confession last night of Ray Noakes and Arthur Osborne, young cousins, that they had hanged Selak July 21.

According to Osborne, the hanging was the culmination of a dispute over a division fence.

Rogers Tells English He Outshines Shaw

London, Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Will Rogers, the American comedian, broadcasting tonight for the largest fee ever paid to a radio talker in this country—the check going to a hospital charity at Rogers' request—told England that he was now greater than George Bernard Shaw. He based this conclusion on the fact that G. B. S. had ben barred from broadcasting on his seventieth birthday anniversary while he was permitted to broadcast without anything to celebrate.

"England made a great mistake," he said, "in not complimenting George Bernard on his birthday. Germany did—but, then, Germany does not have to live with him."

Owner of Gold Claim Kills 3 After Dispute

Merced, Calif., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Gunfire flaming from the rifle of Paul Baran, 50-year-old prospector, took three lives today in a modern revival of the feudal days of Western gold camp history. Self-defense and the right to protect his mining claim were given as Baran's reason for the shooting in the wilds of Mariposa county. His victims were Theodore Shastner and Victor Shimonoieff, both of Oakland, Calif., and Harry Clark, of Dabney, N. C.

After the shooting the prospector took a train to Merced and surrendered to the sheriff. He said the three men were planning to drive him off his property, which, he told officers here, is worth $80,000.

Panic in Brooklyn As Bomb Explodes

New York, Aug. 17 (By A. P.). Panic reigned among the 40 tenants of a four-story building at President street and Fourth avenue, Brooklyn, early today when a bomb was exploded on the top floor, doors were blown open, windows smashed and plaster fell, but no one was seriously injured.

The explosion was of such violence that police could not find even a fragment of the bomb, but experts said that it must have been filled with dynamite. The bomb had been placed against the door of an apartment occupied by Biananati Sebastian, who, with his wife and six children, were literally blown from their beds. He said he had no enemies.

VALENTINO REPORT SHOWS NO CHANGE

Temperature Rise Follows Fairly Good Day; Crisis Expected Soon.

New York, Aug. 17 (By A. P.). Despite a rise in his temperature tonight, the condition of Rudolph Valentino, motion picture star, was reported "unchanged" in a bulletin issued by three surgeons who operated on him Sunday for appendicitis and gastric ulcers.

An early bulletin said that the star had passed a fairly satisfactory day at the polyclinic hospital, to which he was rushed after collapsing in his apartment Sunday night. No mention of the local peritonitis, which set in following the operation and made Valentino's chance of recovery doubtful, was contained in tonight's bulletin. The crisis is not expected before from 36 to 48 hours.

Valentino's temperature rose when night came, but physicians said this was not cause for undue anxiety. Early this evening his temperature is reported as 103; respiration, 26, and pulse, 108. During the day his temperature was 101½; pulse, 100, and respiration, 22. Valentino's former wife, Jean Acker, sent a telegram saying she expected to sail for Europe Friday, but would endeavor to see him before she sails.

Leviathan Steward Fined on Rum Charge

New York, Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—A student steward aboard the United States Leviathan who had been recommended for the position by a United States senator pleaded guilty today to an attempt at smuggling liquor ashore and was fined $20.

The young man is J. C. McParland, son of a prominent Tennessee attorney, who, according to Treasury agents, obtained the job through a letter of introduction from United States Senator Kenneth D. McKellar, of Tennessee. He was stopped as he came down the gangplank with a bottle under his arm. Five other bottles were found in his stateroom.

English Nobleman Found Shot to Death

London, Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Sir Howard Spicer, member of the paper-making firm of Spicers, Ltd., today was found dead from a bullet wound in a Strand district hotel in which he was a large shareholder.

Sir Howard went to the hotel last night and apparently locked himself in a room reserved for the use of hotel directors. His body was not discovered until several hours after his death. Members of the family stated that Sir Howard had suffered repeated attacks of influenza during recent months. He was 54 years old and was created a knight in 1918.

Maude Fulton Divorces Actor.

Los Angeles, Aug. 17 (By A. P.). Maude Fulton, playwright and actress on the speaking stage, was granted a divorce in superior court today from Robert H. Ober, actor. Testimony supporting a charge of cruelty and neglect was heard. Miss Fulton and Ober were married December 20, 1920.

Banker's Money Didn't Help Him

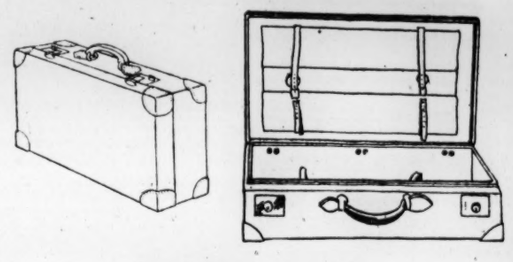

"Have spent a fortune in doctoring. Twelve years ago I became afflicted with stomach trouble which steadily became worse. I frequently became prostrated with colic attacks and bloating. My doctors wanted to operate for gall stones. I wished to avoid an operation, and on advice of a friend tried MAYR'S with excellent results, as since taking it about two years ago my trouble has entirely disappeared." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at Peoples Drug Stores or druggists everywhere.—Adv.

KILLED GIRL FOR THRILL, WOMAN, 40, CONFESSES

Slayer and Her Husband Are Threatened by Mob Armed With Shotguns.

VICTIM, 12, WAS GUEST

Greenville, Tenn., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—The coroner's jury today found that 12-year-old Novella Winkle, whose body was discovered in a subcellar of the Tifton home, had been murdered and directed that Bob Tipton, 43, and his wife, Alama Tipton, 40, be held without bail.

The woman told authorities first that she killed the child Thursday morning while her husband was at a store and gave jealousy as the cause. Later she said she had always wanted to kill just for the thrill of killing.

John Winkle, father of the child, believes she was struck in the head with an ax and that her throat was cut. He says the child was killed Friday, as tracks of a person, whom he thought was a man, following the girl to the woodpile, where blood was found, would have been obliterated by the heavy rain of last Thursday night. A blood-covered ax was found back of the woodpile.

Wounds on the back of the body and skull indicated to authorities that she was struck as she was trying to escape. Physicians said that cuts from a razor, though not deep enough to cause death, were found on the body.

Novella had been visiting in the Tipton home for two weeks before her disappearance.

A preliminary hearing will be held tomorrow morning.

The slaying has aroused deep feeling in the mountain community, the scene of the crime. Men and women, armed with shotguns, threatened the prisoners before their removal to the jail here.

President Receives Pie Made of 5,000 Cherries

Paul Smiths, N. Y., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—An immense cherry pie, measuring 80 inches in diameter and 4 inches in depth, weighing 46 pounds and containing 5,000 cherries, was presented to the President and Mrs. Coolidge today from the cherry growers of the Grand Traverse region of Michigan.

The pie was baked in Traverse City, Mich., Saturday and brought here in an automobile by Wallace H. Keep, of that city, who was a student at Amherst with Mr. Coolidge, and Hugh Burkhart, a cherry grower of Michigan.

The two reported that they were held up in Canada by a police officer for speeding, but were permitted to proceed when they explained their mission.

CALLES FACES GRAVE PERIL IN LOSS OF ARMY SUPPORT

Calles' communistic tendencies mean trouble for the people of Mexico, according to the latest reports. Like Serrano, Gomez is said to be waiting until the time is ripe and watching the outcome of the present disturbed condition. Calles has secret agents watching Gomez, according to yesterday's reports.

The third army group is in command of Gen. Amara, who is secretary of war. Outwardly Amara is friendly toward Calles, but the latter regards him as ambitious and has taken steps to keep close watch on his activities.

Meanwhile, Alberti J. Pani, minister of finance, is said to have warned Calles that certain trouble is ahead and to have offered his resignation, which Calles has not accepted. Candido Aguilar, who was minister for foreign affairs in Carranza's cabinet, and Luis Cabrera, are reported to be encouraging Calles to go even farther in his extreme policies. Accordingly, judges of the courts and clerks of the courts who are suspected of disagreeing with the Calles religious policies are being asked to resign.

There appears to be no direct connection between the leaders in the church controversy with Calles and the weak spots which are developing in the military support upon which the Mexican president relies to maintain his power. The church leaders have announced publicly that they do not favor anything resembling military force, and they have appealed to the people to remain patriotic and support the Calles government. But the Mexican soldiers themselves, together with many of the officers who command them, are said to be inclined to show less devotion to the government than in the past.

According to a report which has escaped the censorship and reached diplomatic circles here, many of the Mexican troops threw down their arms in the clash between federal troops and religious worshipers at Atoyac in the state of Guerrero. Gen. Amarillas ordered his men to fire into the crowds of worshipers, who refused to be driven away, and when the first women were shot down the soldiers turned their guns on Gen. Amarillas and killed him, it is stated. The crowd was then driven to the church and dynamite was thrown on the federal troops who sought to avenge Amarillas.

Fourteen Women Slain.

This dispatch, which has attracted attention here, states that fourteen Mexican women were later executed at Zacupa and Acambaro. It naturally is difficult for officials here to check up on the accuracy of dispatches, as the Mexican government is apparently seeking to suppress all news of disorders.

Reports that President Calles would seek the extradition from the United States of de la Huerta on "nonpolitical grounds" are awakening interest here in the widespread Calles program to nip revolutionary movements in the bud. But it is difficult to see how the United States can extradite de la Huerta for a nonpolitical offense alleged to have been committed more than three years ago. The statute of limitations would in any event act as a bar to extradition, it is stated.

Besides, the United States government has already had one experience with the government of Mexico respecting the turning over of Mexicans charged with nonpolitical offenses. Gen. Demetrio Torres was turned over to the Mexican authorities near San Antonio about a year ago after the Mexican officials solemnly had assured the United States government that he would not be treated as a political prisoner. He was charged with a political offense and shot down within 24 hours after reaching Mexico.

The Department of Justice is preparing to institute proceedings against the alleged filibusters under arrest at San Diego, Calif. The law prohibits using American territory as a base for expeditions against a friendly government.

J. H. Grande Freed From Mexican Jail

Mexico City, Aug. 17 (By A. P.). J. H. Grande, of Los Angeles, recently arrested on a technical charge of fraud on complaint of the Mexican Banana Co., has been released from jail. The Mexican authorities announced that there was "insufficient evidence" against him, and the charges against Grande have been virtually dismissed, according to the construction given to the situation by United States officials, although the case has not actually been wiped off the court docket.

A condition of Grande's release is that he shall not leave Mexico until the complainant has had an opportunity to present further evidence, if it is so desired.

Swedish Queen Is Weaker.

REVOLT PLOT IS LAID TO MEXICAN WOMEN

seized Sunday night when Gen. Enrique Estrada and his "command" were taken near San Diego.

Information was obtained indicating that a second movement had been contemplated from Imperial valley, presumably in coordination with Estrada, but that it had disbanded when word of Estrada's arrest was received.

Adolfo de la Huerta, former provisional president of Mexico, has been living here incognito for several weeks. Federal officers who were engaged in trailing alleged revolutionists through Imperial valley, stated they did not believe de la Huerta was in any way concerned with the movement led by Estrada.

San Antonio, Tex., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—The San Antonio Light says today that Mexico will ask the United States for the extradition of Adolfo de la Huerta, former provisional president of Mexico; Enrique Estrada, now in jail at San Diego, Calif, as alleged leader of a revolt against lower California, and all leaders who participated in the de la Huerta revolution in 1923.

The paper quotes as its authority Amilcar Zentella Sanchez Marmol, comptroller general of Mexico under de la Huerta and now a member of the chamber of deputies. He is here gathering information on the de la Huerta movement. Deputy Zentella said the specific charges will be maladministration of funds.

Court Cites E. B. Dean, Jr.

Edward B. Dean, jr., son of a realtor, was cited yesterday by Justice Bailey to appear Friday to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt for alleged failure to pay alimony to Mrs. Mabel J. Dean and for alleged failure to pay $410 which she owes at the Cairo hotel.

diplomatic usage or international law or treaty rights to interfere in the purely domestic matters of Mexico.

Although Mr. Kellogg had come to White Pine camp prepared to report to Mr. Coolidge on his recent conference in Washington with James A. Flaherty, supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus, no direct reference was made in the statement of the government's position to the petition of that order, at its Philadelphia meeting, asking that the United States intervene to protect Catholic churchmen in their dispute with President Calles of Mexico.

No Reference to Mexico.

Neither was there any reference to the position of James R. Sheffield, American Ambassador to Mexico, who is en route to the United States for a vacation and a personal report to his superiors on the situation in that country. There have been indications that Mr. Sheffield would like to see a stiffening of the Washington government's attitude in its oil lands controversy with Mexico. He is to confer with Mr. Kellogg in Washington next week.

Whenever the rights of American citizens as to the persons or property are infringed in a foreign country, it was made clear, the American government will do what it can to see that they are duly respected.

In so far as the religious controversy in Mexico is concerned, it was added, Secretary Kellogg has knowledge of but one specific complaint concerning the taking of church property in Mexico. That specific complaint was lodged with Ambassador Sheffield, who, it was said, made representations to the Mexico City government and was informed that the case would be adjusted.

In reference to the oil lands controversy, it was asserted that Mexico had made large concessions to the United States but there still were a number of matters not definitely determined.

As a general rule, it was said today, it is difficult to say whether American citizens have suffered indignities in Mexico, as that is a broad term. Some Americans have been expelled from Mexico, it was said, under article 33 of the Mexican constitution, which gives the government the right to expel foreigners. But when even it has appeared that this authority has been used against Americans without sufficient justification, it was added, it has been the practice of the American Ambassador at Mexico City to intercede—sometimes successfully and sometimes unsuccessfully.

among banks, insurance companies and mortgage and loan companies that will release frozen farm financial paper along lines similar to the pool organized in Northwestern States two years ago by large institutions for the relief of smaller banks in that territory.

No Knowledge of Pool.

Published reports, however, were denied today that the President was moving to bring about a $100,000,000 private banking pool in one or more financial centers for loan purposes on farm property. He was said to have no knowledge of such a movement.

A report that the President had issued an order to the prohibition enforcement officials in Washington against a program for placing unpalatable or poisonous substances in industrial alcohol to make it unfit for beverages was denied.

Mr. Coolidge did not even know, it was asserted, whether he or the prohibition unit had authorities under the law to adopt such a course. No one had spoken to him on the subject, it was emphasized; he had never heard of any such plan and he had never given any directions concerning industrial alcohol.

No Change Toward Mexico.

Informed through a personal report by Secretary Kellogg of the last aspects of the Mexican situation, President Coolidge today authorized the reiteration that the policy of the Washington government was one of nonintervention in Mexican domestic affairs.

The government of the United States, it was said on behalf of the President at the summer executive offices, has no authority under di-

NO MEDDLING IN MEXICO.

President Coolidge has made clear the fact that he will pursue a policy of "hands off" in the Mexican religious quarrel. The United States will try to protect its citizens everywhere in the world, but the Mexican controversy as such does not concern the United States. Mexico's expulsion of aliens, including Americans, can not rightfully draw a protest from the United States government unless in the process Americans are deprived of liberty or property. The United States exercises the right to expel or exclude undesirable aliens and it would not permit another government to challenge that right.

The American Federation of Labor has received appeals from Mexican church representatives and also from labor representatives asking it to take sides in the quarrel. It refuses to do so. A semiofficial statement sets forth the attitude of the federation. The tendency of organized labor in Mexico to range itself in antagonism to religious organizations is deplored by the federation, but the controversy is regarded as a domestic Mexican problem, to be solved by Mexicans without outside interference.

Individual Americans are free to hold and express their opinions regarding the controversy in Mexico, and there is no danger that they will be reluctant to express themselves. The United States government, however, can not properly become a partisan. Its duty is to maintain a strictly neutral attitude and to avoid any intermeddling with Mexican affairs.

A BUSINESS BAROMETER.

The periodical reports of the condition of the Federal Reserve banks are a fairly good index of the general credit and business condition of the country. There are four items of importance which measure this level of credit and business conditions—total investments, total loans, total deposits and total money (Federal Reserve notes) in actual circulation.

The last report of the Federal Reserve Board covering the condition of 698 reporting banks belonging to the reserve system, shows that total investments of the several banks were $5,612,309,000, an increase of about $130,000,000 over the same period a year ago. These investments, or assets of the banks, are in government securities and other bonds, stocks and securities. The volume of these investments rises and falls in response to business activities.

Total loans and discounts, that is, accommodations, last week were $14,109,807,000—about $8,450,594,000 being on stocks and bonds. This last item was about $430,000,000 above a year ago—not a good sign—but was $9,000,000 below a week ago. Commercial loans were $8,450,594,000, which was $90,000,000 above a week ago and $340,000,000 above a year ago—a good sign.

Demand and time deposits last week were about $18,681,000,000, which was a slight decrease from a week ago and a year ago. Demand deposits increased.

Federal Reserve notes in circulation last week averaged about $2,009,800,000, which was about $100,000,000 more than a year ago. An increase in the volume of Federal Reserve notes, if normal and confined to commercial business, is a sign of health. The Federal Reserve banks are reservoirs of credit, and the four main items in every report of the Federal Reserve Board serve as a barometer of the general business of the country and the movements of credit upon which business depends.

A DINNER THAT MAY BE EPOCHAL.

"Breakfast in New York in the morning and dine in London on the evening of the same day." This slogan of the airmen, which has hitherto represented an ideal seemingly impossible of attainment, has inherent in it the virtue that it spurs adventurous souls to make more strenuous efforts to bring it nearer and ever nearer to realization. "Excelsior" is, in many senses, a good motto.

Something, which, if achieved, is destined to make the ultimate goal appear less remote, is to be attempted. When Capt. Rene Fonck and his companions begin their transatlantic flight, it is their intention to carry with them a hot dinner, cooked in New York, to be served, still hot, to Americans in Paris on the arrival of the Sikorsky airplane. The various dishes, packed in vacuum containers, will be rushed by motor car to Roosevelt field, Long Island, just before the start of the flight and, if all in the meantime goes well and if time calculations are approximately accurate, they will be removed, 34 hours later, at Le Bourget field, Paris, and dispatched thence by automobile to the Hotel Crillon, where the expectant guests will be assembled at an hour to be named as soon as the wireless announces the take-off of the airplane from American soil. It is to be hoped that the company will not have too long to wait, for the menu—Manhattan clam chowder, Baltimore terrapin, roast Long Island duck, and Vermont turkey—reads extremely well and, no doubt, will taste even better to the temporary or permanent expatriates, especially as there will be no lack of appropriate beverages to bring out and accentuate the distinctive flavor of each dish.

The whole plan is meant to be practical and, on the face of it, may seem materialistic; but behind it there is an illuminating and inspiring thought and faith—the same sort of thought and faith that carried Columbus across the ocean to the discovery of unknown land and, at a later date, drove the pioneers ever westward to cope with and subjugate the wilderness.

There is no one so bereft of imagination and vision as not to wish that the Sikorsky airplane may come through its difficult task in accordance with anticipations.

ITALY HARD AT WORK.

Nothing would please the average American more than to learn that all European countries were actively at work, with optimistic spirit, with peace established and productivity restored. The disabilities of Europe are not a matter of gratification in the United States. On the contrary, the never-ending tale of misfortunes and hardships coming from Europe acts as a damper upon travel and commercial intercourse, and unquestionably dissuades American interests from undertaking new enterprises in the Old World. But the activity of Italy is in sharp contrast with the situation in other parts of Europe, and may be justly regarded as a strong factor in enlisting the sympathy and cooperation of Americans. Col. Edward Clifford, former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, who has just returned from a motor trip through Italy, thus describes conditions:

> I was astounded at the industry of the people of Italy. The old song, "Everybody Works but Father," is not sung in Italy. Father is working, and so is grandfather and great-grandfather and the boys and girls, noblemen and peasants, all ages and all classes. Idleness is a crime. The eight-hour day has been extended to nine. There are no strikes and no labor disputes.
> "Order, discipline and work," is Mussolini's motto. And it is having its effect. We must cease to regard Italy as a country only of the past. United Italy is a nation of the future. Though poor in material resources, it is rich in the potentialities of its law-abiding, frugal and happy citizens. Capital is needed. Italy offers a fine opportunity for American investors. The Italians of all classes respect and admire Americans. Americans who go to that sunny land meet a cheerful welcome and are treated with kindly courtesy.

Mussolini's dictatorship evidently appeals to the Italian people. They needed a leader, and having found him they gladly confer power upon him. If he continues his policy of "order, discipline and work," while avoiding imperialistic adventures, Italy doubtless will find full and profitable employment within its proper field. It should be the commercial and financial mistress of the Mediterranean basin, and its manufacturers and traders should hold the markets against all competition.

Peace production, and not territorial expansion schemes, will transform Italy and enrich its people. They are energetic, artistic and inventive. They deserve a government such as Mussolini is establishing, in which individual and national industry has full opportunity to produce wealth. Italy's material resources will prove to be far greater than is commonly imagined, if the energies of the people can be directed to their development without misgovernment and without rumors of war.

MORE PER ACRE.

Economists of the Department of Agriculture have been studying the question of the nation's future food supply, to determine how much the crop yield per acre can be increased by means of modern methods.

It is discovered that crop yields per acre in the United States have been increasing steadily for the last 40 years. The heavier total production is due more to increase per acre than to increase in acreage.

A study of the period between 1920 and 1924 reveals the fact that about 400,000,000 bushels of corn, 120,000,000 bushels of wheat, 165,000,000 bushels of oats, and 115,000,000 bushels of potatoes, or a total of about 800,000,000 bushels, were produced in 1924 over the production in 1920, due entirely to intensive production and improved soil fertility.

The increase of production per acre will depend largely upon the prevailing average price of the leading farm products. Rising prices will naturally result in intensified cultivation and more generous and scientific restoration of soil fertility.

"NOTHING DOING."

The circuit court of appeals of the Sixth district has rendered an opinion to the effect that a subcontractor can not collect damages arising out of possible profits cut off and suspended by cancellation of a war contract.

The substantial question involved in the case was whether under the provisions of the act of June 15, 1917, and the "emergency shipping fund" provisions of the act of October 6, 1917, a contractor under agreement to supply lumber for Shipping Board vessels could recover for possible profits lost because the war ended and the contract was annuled.

The court decided that the Shipping Board, through the Fleet Corporation, had the power to make the contract and to suspend the same, upon making just compensation. "Possible profits," the court decides, do not come under the head of "just compensation."

Such cases are relics of the world war. The shipping experiences of the government during the world war cost the taxpayers something like $3,000,000,000. That is enough.

A NEW MOTOR FUEL.

Reports of the production of a synthetic motor fuel by German scientists will be of interest to the motor world. Manufacture of the fuel appears to be so practicable that active negotiations have been entered into by fuel interests in this country and Great Britain to obtain production rights from the German dye trust. Although details of the process are being guarded, it is presumed that the new fuel is obtained by a coal distillation process. Recently the capitalization of the German dye trust was increased, and in London the opinion prevails that the additional funds were required to enter into immediate commercial production of the fuel.

With the oil supplies of the country diminishing there have been made many attempts, stimulated also by the high price of gasoline, to produce satisfactory substitutes. Some time ago the Ford Motor Co. engineers experimented successfully with the production of benzol. This is produced from shales, of which there are large deposits in many Western States, the product being used as a mixture with gasoline rather than as a straight substitute. Naval experts have also been highly successful in mixing denatured anhydrous alcohol with gasoline, in the proportion of three parts alcohol to seven parts gasoline. The result has been a stretching of gasoline supply without sacrificing any power.

It is understood, however, that the German experiments are along totally different lines, and that the substitute is a complete motor fuel of itself. If it turns out to be practical, and can be utilized without further attachments to the engine, it will prove a great boon.

PERSHING AND THE LEGION.

A few weeks ago George Washington Post No. 1, the pioneer post of the American Legion, officially and unanimously indorsed Gen. John J. Pershing, one of its charter members, for national commander of the American Legion. Delegates to the next departmental convention to be held August 27-28 were instructed to present his name, and to make a canvass of the convention to make certain that his name will be presented to the national convention in Philadelphia next October. It is hoped that Gen. Pershing will be elected by acclamation.

George Washington post is to be congratulated upon taking the first step in this matter. The next commander of the legion will be the leader of the "expeditionary convention" to be held in September, 1927, in France. Ten years ago Gen. Pershing led a great army to Europe. It would be very appropriate for the same commander to lead another great army in a peace-time invasion.

This association of former service men is still in its formative stage, and the opportunity offered to able men in its leadership is unlimited. Aside from the sentimental consideration of promoting better relations between France and the United States by means of an expedition to that country, the possibilities of the legion in fostering good citizenship are such as should appeal to Gen. Pershing.

AIR MAIL CONTRACTS.

Charles Dickinson, operator of the air mail contract route between Chicago and St. Paul and Minneapolis, has notified the government that he wishes to relinquish his contract. Giving the customary 45 days' notice, he says that his enterprise, so far, had been operated at a large loss, and that all air mail lines are losing money. If true, this is undoubtedly a serious situation.

There was an unfortunate tendency on the part of commercial aviators at the time the Kelly bill was passed to consider it a direct aviation subsidy, sugar-coated for the benefit of the constituents back home. To a very minor degree this may have been true, in that the bill was designed to encourage commercial flying. In the larger aspect, however, it simply provided the Postoffice Department with the necessary authority to make contracts. Instead of being subsidies, air mail contracts are purchases by the government of postal transportation.

No air mail line can be run at a profit today with only the income from the government. The use of air mail is not yet extensive enough, especially on the feeder lines. But the growth of air commerce is assured, and air mail contracts, now unprofitable, will be in sharp demand.

The Worst Story I Heard Today—By Will Rogers

The Worst Story I heard today was told to me by an Englishman. As Shakespeare so aptly said, "the story is the thing." There is no use telling what Englishman told it, besides there is a Libel Law in England.

A man and his wife were driving an old horse and buggy along a Country road. The road was narrow, but there was grassy level ground on each side of the road. As they proceeded a farmer drove a heavy loaded farm wagon out of a field on to the road, making it impossible to pass unless you drove out around him. The farmer said, "Do you mind just pulling around on the grass, Lady?"

"Mind?" snapped the lady, "Of course, I mind. You must back your team." "It's a heavy load, ma'am, and the horses is tired, if you don't mind?" answered the farmer.

"You ought to have thought of that before you pulled out there. You ought to have known I was coming," said the Lady. Then the husband interrupted, just in time to get himself in dutch, "Pull around, my dear."

"I shall do nothing of the sort. I won't pull around, and it's just like you to fail to give me your moral support in a crisis of this kind."

A smile come over the old Farmer's face. "I'll back my team, Mister," he said. I understand; I got one of them at home, too."

Running Wild.

PRESS COMMENT.

The Heavy Drinkers' Vote.

New York Evening World: Judge Martineau, who wins the gubernatorial nomination in Arkansas, despite the charge of his opponent that he drinks too much, may have polled the votes of all the heavy drinkers in that prohibition State.

Satisfying Reaction

Toledo Blade: One of the most satisfying reactions to life is that of having a comfortable home to go to when there is no place else to go.

Come Out of the Rain.

Miami Herald: The Ohio State board of health has warned golfers, particularly elderly ones, not to play in the rain. A golfer who hasn't sense enough to come in when it rains is not worth wasting a health bulletin on.

What Holds 'Em Up?

Trenton State Gazette: United States exports of suspenders dropped from 51,567 to 36,175 pairs last year. Not that we are deeply concerned over the loss of commerce, but merely as a matter of interest in a highly important subject, we are curious to know just how the trousers of the world are now being held up.

Starting Too Late.

Jacksonville Times-Union: Mussolini says economy is the only thing that will save Europe. Trouble is that Europe is starting out to practice economy too late.

Bad Actor.

Cincinnati Enquirer: These congressmen who thought the prohibition question was giving them all the trouble in the world didn't know what a bad actor a farm-relief measure could be.

All a Man Can Do.

Springfield Daily News: A woman may pick up her embroidery to end a conversation, but all a man can do is to put on his hat and leave.

Impressed With Silence.

Pittsburgh Gazette-Times: In his appeal to President Coolidge for clemency Ponzi is likely to be impressed with the executive's habit of silence.

A Gruesome Affair.

Knoxville Journal: A Philadelphia man who choked a girl to death, then cut up the body and hid the pieces in different places has been held guilty of second degree murder. A first degree murder in Philadelphia must be a rather gruesome affair.

Didn't Miss Much.

Atchison Globe: A vacation is a fine thing, but doesn't come up to the promise of railway folders and summer resort literature, and when you return you have to formulate fairy fabrications about the fun you had. So if you missed your vacation, the chances are you didn't miss much.

Prima Facie Evidence.

Detroit News: Immigration officials, who seem to be the same everywhere, demanded Miss Ederle's passport when she landed at Dover. She had supposed that swimming the channel proved she was Miss Ederle.

The Booze Referendum.

Philadelphia Record: The supreme court of New York has denied the application of Hellen M. Albert, who sued as a citizen, to enjoin the board of elections and the mayor from submitting the State prohibition referendum to the voters next fall. One after another the efforts to block the proposed referendum have failed, and there seems to be little doubt that the people of New York State will have an opportunity to express themselves, although what good it will do it is difficult to see. Something worthwhile might come of a national referendum, but with the present complexion of Congress that is not likely soon to eventuate.

King of Italy.

Chicago Evening Post: "Italy's King Dedicates Shaft," says a headline, indicating that Premier Mussolini is making a regular Prince of Wales out of him.

Loser Must Pay.

New York Sun: The general strike in Great Britain beggared the trade unions, and their members are now refusing to pay dues. In industrial strife, as in military strife, the winner has the possibility of gaining something, but whether or not victory brings advantage to him the loser must pay.

Farm Relief.

Detroit Free Press: The city man knows he is paying enough for stuff produced on the farms, even if he doesn't know what to do about farm relief.

Not Doing Badly.

St. Louis Post Dispatch: Some one who is making a survey of the country says St. Louis is last in the Antisaloon league. But she is second in the National Baseball league and on two days this week was first in the hot weather league, so we are not doing badly.

Highly Successful.

Aiken (S. C.) Journal and Review: The Rainy Day club was organized by women 30 years ago to agitate for shorter skirts. Few movements have met with more marked success.

Setting a Mark.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: Since 1919 only four passengers in airplanes have been killed in Great Britain, according to the annual report on civil aviation. In that time such transportation has covered more than 4,500,000 miles. The planes are setting a mark at which railways might shoot.

What We Need.

Minneapolis Journal: Mrs. Besant's Krishnamurphy is coming over to tell us where we were carrying on a thousand years ago and where we are likely to find ourselves a thousand years hence. A lot of us need to be told where we are now.

Iowa Corn.

Des Moines Register: All authorities interviewed by the Register agreed that a very conservative estimate of the amount of corn held now by Iowa farmers is 100,000,000 bushels.

During the last 30 days the price of cash corn at Iowa elevators has gone up from 15 cents to 18 cents a bushel, which would mean an aggregate increase in value of from $15,000,000 to $18,000,000.

Sulphur and Molasses.

Philadelphia Inquirer: Taking a fall out of old-fashioned home remedies, Boston's health commissioner says the majority of them were largely superstitions, but personally we never inclined to look upon sulphur and molasses as possessing any of the immateriality of superstition.

Would Fare Bettter.

Memphis Commerical Appeal: And it might be that the Western farmers would fare better if they spent more of their time farming and wasted less attending protest conventions.

Vigorous Denials.

Indianapolis News: Assertions that Detroit is the wettest spot in the United States doubtless will bring vigorous denials from New York, Chicago and other go-getter centers.

The Advertising Man

—By GLENN FRANK—

THE advertising man holds an important sector in the business field.

The casual observer is likely to think of the advertising man as a mere merchant of catch-words to caress the ears of the credulous and lure them into buying things they do not need.

Maybe there are advertising men who do not rise above this confidence-man philosophy of their profession.

If there are such men in the business of advertising, it is a case of the littleness of the man libelling the largeness of the mission.

The nature of the advertising profession is such that the advertising man is challenged to a wide knowledge of men and of materials, if he is to be more than a peddler of epigrams.

The advertising man is a liaison officer between the materials of business and the mind of the nation.

He must know both well before he can serve either wisely.

I do not know another servant of the business world who daily faces a greater challenge to social statesmanship than the advertising man.

Facility in framing slogans is only one of the minor tools in the advertising man's kit.

He must study much in order to say little, if he is to say it effectively.

He must know the social order thoroughly before he can serve the business order thoroughly.

The tone and temper and economic health of the social order is the soil in which the business enterprises must grow.

Upon the thinness of fertility of that soil the success or the failure of the advertising man's adventures must largely depend.

The business order and the social order are too intimately related for the advertising man who aspires to be more than a tricky tradester to tear them apart in his thinking.

The really great advertising man knows that a good business cannot be permanently maintained in a bad civilization.

And this is why the great advertising man must be a statesman as well as a salesman.

Then, too, the really great advertising man must be as much interested in increasing the sanity of consumption as in increasing the size of consumption, for great businesses are not built upon fads that are worthless and passing, but upon appetites that are worthy and permanent.

The advertising man need not go outside of his profession to find a playground for his sense of values.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A Good Word for the Cop.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I note with considerable satisfaction that the commissioners have stated publicly that they are behind the head of the police department who demands that policemen shall be courteous at all times and that they shall not roughly handle "suspects."

May it not be equally advisable for the commissioners and the head of the police department to stand behind the policemen in publicly declaring that policemen are entitled to the same courteous treatment from the public?

The position of a police officer is as respectable and honorable as that of any other officer of the government—and as important. He is the visible evidence of the rule of law, because of his immediate and intimate contacts with the public under the most trying and unfavorable circumstances, where "snap judgment" must be exercised in many instances. He has not the time to weigh pro and con, nor has he the setting of a mahogany desk in a specially equipped room to impress those whom he meets at the crucial moment.

I understand that the "bobbies" in Great Britain do not carry revolvers except when on special or dangerous details; but I further understand that the "bobbies" in Great Britain are backed up by unsentimental heads of police departments and court officers, and that the citizen who treats the "bobbies" with discourtesy is subject to the hazards of a fine or imprisonment with no allowance for "good behavior."

The obligations of the citizen are less onerous than that of the policeman, and his duty less difficult to perform than that of a peace officer. If the police officer gets a "square deal" from the citizen, his job would be about like that of the hero in a movie.

Shooting Up Damascus.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Turning today to my favorite reading (the immortal covenant of the League of Nations), I noted a thing that had never before conveyed its full beauty to me.

In article 22 of the covenant, the mandates article, it is specifically provided that "certain communities formerly belonging to the Turkish empire" (as, for instance, Syria) "have reached a stage of development where their existence as independent nations can be provisionally recognized subject to the rendering of administrative advice and assistance by a mandatory."

So you are to understand that Syria is an independent sovereign nation and that the Senegalese and Senegambian and Tunisian and Circassian French-paid conscripts and mercenaries who seem to be shooting up Damascus are merely "rendering administrative advice and assistance." Don't forget it, dear sir.

CAPITAL SOCIETY EVENTS

THE Ambassador of Great Britain, Sir Esme Howard, is at Roanoke Island, N. C., today, having gone there from Manchester, Mass., where the British Embassy is established for the summer. The Ambassador will unveil the tablet that has been placed on the former site of Fort Raleigh in honor of Virginia Dare, first white child born in America. He will stop in Washington on his way back to Manchester, arriving in the Capital Friday night and leaving for Massachusetts the following evening. He is accompanied on his trip by Engineer Commander Albert Knothe, R. N., assistant naval attache of the British Embassy, and by Lieut. Comdr. S. S. Yeandle, United States coast guard.

The Minister of Guatemala and Mme. Sanchez Latour, who are motoring through the Allegheny mountains, are not expected to return to Washington until the middle of next week.

Mr. W. Irving Glover, Assistant Postmaster General, will return to his apartment at the Wardman Park hotel Monday after a visit with his family at Eaglesmere, Pa.

The third secretary of the French Embassy, Mr. Armand du Chayla, will depart next week for France, where he will pass about three months on a vacation.

Count Rogeri di Villanova, first secretary of the Italian Embassy, entertained at a farewell dinner Monday evening on the Willard Hotel roof, in honor of Mr. du Chayla. His guests were: Mr. Raoul Tilmont, charge d'affaires ad interim of the Belgian Embassy; Signor Luciano Mascia, secretary of the Italian Embassy; Count de Sartiges, counselor of embassy and charge d'affaires ad interim of France; and Mr. C. Diamantopoulos, first secretary of the Greek Legation.

Mr. Paul Henderson, formerly Second Assistant Postmaster General, now general manager of the National Air Transport Co. of Chicago, is passing several days at the Wardman Park hotel.

Commander Vago to Sail.

Commander Ricardo A. Vago, naval attache of the Argentine embassy, and Mme. Amanda B. de Vago, are at the Hotel Ambassador in New York City, where they have gone preparatory to sailing Saturday on the Voltaire for Argentina. Commander Vago having been assigned to sea duty. His successor as naval attache has not yet been appointed.

Maj. Sherburne Whipple, until recently connected with the Adjutant General's Department in this city, has gone to West Point to assume his new duties there as adjutant. He replaces Maj. H. B. Lewis, who has beeen ordered to China. Maj. and Mrs. Lewis will sail from San Francisco for the major's new post, August 21.

Mrs. Champ Clark left Washington yesterday for Summit Point, W. Va., where she will be the guest for a few days of Mrs. A. P. Thomson, at Hawthorne, before going to her home at Bowling Green, Mo. Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson, son-in-law and daughter of Mrs. Clark, will join Mrs. Clark at Summit Point for a few days before continuing their motor trip to Washington from their home in New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Gattie, who have been visiting in Washington, have departed for New York, whence they will sail tomorrow on the Caronia for their home in London, England. Mrs. Gattie is the younger sister of Mrs. Robert N. Stanfield, wife of Senator Stanfield, of Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. F. Johnson left Washington Saturday for Deer Park, Md., and expect to be away until after Labor day.

Fisher—Marshall Nuptials.

The marriage of Miss Laura Winder Marshall, daughter of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Richard C. Marshall, jr., to Ensign Edgar Derry Fisher, U. S. N., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edgar C. Fisher, took place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at Spring Lake, N. J. The ceremony was performed out of doors at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Franklin Nebius, and the bridal party passed down an aisle roped off by white ribbons. The Rev. Mr. Dobell was the officiating clergyman.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin crepe fashioned along straight lines and at the neckline there was a beaded band of tulle. The flared skirt was also finished with the beaded tulle, and the sleeves were of that material. The train was of satin and tulle and her veil was of Venetian lace. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Chase, of New York, was in orchid organdie, made over a white slip, and her hat was also orchid colored. She carried a sheaf of gladioli. The bridesmaids were: Miss Anne Devereux, Miss Katherine Marshall and Miss Maud Marshall Mason, all cousins of the bride; Miss Carey Mason, of New York; Miss Hazel Ericson, of Chicago, and Miss Allison Roebling. Their gowns were made alike in organdie with two in pink, two in green and two in blue, and their hats were of white trimmed in tulle matching the colors of the dresses. They also carried sheaves of gladioli, harmonizing with their frocks.

Mrs. Marshall, mother of the bride, was gowned in gray net, trimmed in embroidery. She wore a violet picture hat and carried a bouquet of orchids.

Mr. Richard Coke Marshall 3d, brother of the bride, acted as best man, and the ushers were: Mr. Robert Pirie, Mr. James Raugh, Mr. William Taylor, Mr. Charles Buchanan, Mr. Renwick W. Smedberg 3d and Mr. Harry Pottle, all ensigns, U. S. N.

Immediately following the ceremony there was a reception at 185 St. Claire avenue. The house was decorated with an arrangement of the season's blossoms. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Fisher departed on a wedding trip to northern New York State, the latter wearing a costume of blue flat crepe embroidered in squares of red and gold. She had a hat of blue ribbon and wore a fox fur about her shoulders.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Dr. and Mrs. Lynch, of Norfolk, Va.; Miss Fleming, of Fort Wayne, Ind.; Mrs. R. S. Marshall, of Portsmouth, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. A. Hobson, of New York city; Mrs. D. B. Peters, of Hampton, Va.; Miss Virginia Brant, of Washington; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Reynolds, Mrs. W. W. Spaulding and Mrs. H. C. Barnes.

Carr—Hanna Wedding.

Miss Natalie Hanna, daughter of Mrs. Stuart Hanna, of New York, was married to Mr. Stanley Carr, son of Mrs. E. B. Carr, of 2127 R street, this city, Monday evening, at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father O'Doherty, of St. Charles' Roman Catholic church, and those present at the ceremony, which came as a complete surprise to the friends of the couple, who had met only recently, were the bride's mother, Mrs. Stuart Hanna, and her stepsisters, Miss Ruth Hanna, Miss Charlotte Hanna and Miss Mary Hanna; Mrs. Edward Crozer and Mrs. Moncure Wainwright, of New York; Mrs. Evan Roberts, of Philadelphia, and Mr. P. H. Duer, of Baltimore.

Mrs. Carr is a daughter of Mrs. Hanna by her first marriage, and was adopted by the late Mr. Dan Hanna, son of the late Senator Mark Hanna, of Cleveland, after her mother's marriage to him. She inherited a share of Dan Hanna's fortune. Mr. Stanley Carr is a Washington broker.

Miss Elliott Wedded.

The marriage of Miss Frances Elizabeth Elliott, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Elliott, and Mr. Bernard Leonard Walker took place Monday evening at 8 o'clock at Mount Vernon Place church, the Rev. W. A. McKee officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. James E. Madore, of Richwood, W. Va.

Miss Elliott wore a gown of white satin, fashioned in long straight lines, the skirt made with godets heavily beaded in pearls. Her lace veil was arranged in cornet style and she carried a shower boquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Evelyn Worne, of Charleston, W. Va., a classmate of the bride, was gowned in peach colored taffeta made in bouffant style, the skirt finished with a shadow hem of tulle. She carried an arm bouquet of old-fashioned garden flowers. Little Jean Corning, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl, and she was in a dainty green chiffon frock fashioned over a flesh colored slip.

Mr. William W. Walker, only brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Harry Bissett and Mr. Sharp Hayden.

The bride is a graduate of Southern seminary of Buena Vista, Va. Mr. Walker is a graduate of the Georgetown law school and is a member of the District bar.

Immediately following the ceremony there was a reception at the Washington hotel, after which Mr. and Mrs. Walker departed on a wedding trip, the latter wearing a traveling costume of tan with a small hat to match and a black silk coat trimmed in mink fur. They will be at home after September 15 at 5021 Wisconsin avenue.

Mr. Barry Mohun will sail from New York today on the Mauretania to join his family, who have been abroad since early in June.

The SWAVELY School

Swavely, formerly in Washington, is now located in the country at Manassas, Virginia. In addition to the college preparatory department, there is a junior school especially equipped to take care of boys from twelve to fourteen doing seventh and eighth grade work.

A limited enrollment and small classes enable each boy to get the close personal attention which the crowded grade schools of Washington are unable to give.

The FIVE-DAY PLAN is popular with Washington boys. Students stay in the real country at a safe, progressive school for five days and spend every week-end at home. The wholesome, homelike atmosphere at Swavely is satisfying to the most anxious parent.

The school is easily accessible by railroad and auto route. Address E. Swavely, Principal, Manassas, Virginia.

RUTH AND PETER

By Achmed Abdullah

(Copyright, 1926, Thompson Feature Service, Inc.)

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Ruth Wellis, young, pretty and very ambitious, applies for a position as secretary to Peter Barton, a distinguished New York lawyer. The fact that Ruth is taking a night school course in law and also her direct businesslike manner make an excellent impression on the lawyer and he engages her at once. Harry Davis, a young man from Ruth's home town, who is in love with her, is likewise in the employ of Barton, and it was through him that she learned of the position. Ruth likes Harry, but she is determined on a successful business career rather than marriage. She is sharing an apartment with two sisters, Edna Mathews, who works in a downtown bank, and Hattie Mathews, secretary to a great criminal lawyer. Masie Andrews formerly occupied the apartment with the girls, but is now living alone, although Riccardo Martinez, an unscrupulous adventurer, has the key to her new apartment. Ruth feels sorry for Masie and remains her friend in spite of these circumstances. Ruth finds her new job with Barton immensely interesting. She meets his mother, who is very patronizing, and she learns that his sister wants him to marry a certain little French countess. Then one day Barton comments on the flowers on Ruth's desk presented by Harry, and Ruth asks Harry not to buy her any more. He is indignant and turns to Hattie for consolation. Immediately after this Ruth finds on her desk flowers from Barton himself.

CHAPTER V.
"Cross Currents."

ALL during that day Ruth had intervals when she sat, her capable brain in a whirl, her capable hands idle in her lap, staring at the crimson, velvety rose petals, as if to ask them a question.

Of course, Peter Barton had put the flowers there. No doubt of it.

Should she thank him?

And how should she word it?

And, suppose she was wrong after all and Barton had not been the donor, what a fool she would feel should she express her gratitude.

She could visualize the scene—blush as she did so:

"Thank you for the roses, Mr. Barton!"

"Roses?" His eyebrows would lift slightly. "I am sure I didn't * * *"

No, no! She decided to let him speak of it first.

Meanwhile, in Washington, Peter Barton was wondering what on earth had possessed him to do it. The great box of hot-house roses had come in from his Long island place late the night before. When, quite early the next morning, the wire had come summoning him to Washington and when he had stopped at his office for some legal documents, an unknown impulse had caused him to take along the two most glorious of the blossoms and put them in his secretary's little vase * * * they had looked so incongruous amid the severe, tidy papers on her severe, tidy desk.

Incongruous? Really?

Why—she was such a prety girl—even if she was "all business."

Damn it—he added in his thoughts—he wanted her "all business." So—why had he left those roses on her desk? He detested the type of business man who takes advantage of his position to turn the heads of his women employes.

Why had he done it?

Ruth would think—things, and she would be wrong. He liked her; respected her; could not endure her imagining that he was taking the first tentative steps in the old commonplace, sordid game—the old joke: "Boss and stenographer!"

What was he to do?

"Do nothing!" Peter the lawyer advised Peter the man.

So he returned to New York, crossed Ruth's office with a brisk "Good morning, Miss Welles. Everything all right during my absence?"

"Yes, Mr. Barton."

Neither spoke of the roses, and this day passed, and others, each filled with its usual business routine.

Now and again she went to his house to finish some work. Twice she lunched with him and his mother. And she also met his sister, Mrs. Meredith Exeter, when she came to the office one afternoon, petite and smart, with a whorl of russet hair and superb, sea-green eyes beneath hooded brows. Her husband, small, wizen, insignificant, gray-eyed, gray-haired, gray-tweeded, followed at her heel like a tame though pessimistic Yorkshire terrier.

Ruth was with Barton at the moment. He presented her gravely.

Nelda—dressed in the sort of heavenly clothes which have nothing to do with wings, halo and white toga—had a bright smile and a friendly hand for Ruth, who liked her at once. She seemed so alert, so vital, so eager, so amusing and—at least at first sight—so willing to live and let live.

Her husband made only a negative impression upon Ruth. She knew a great deal about him and his wife through the gliding office gossip. Enormously learned, enormously wealthy, enormously aware of his blue blood; happy only when he was somewhere in the far wilds of Asia or North Africa in search of ancient ruins; his name a household word among the world's archeologists; disliked on his native New York heath, yet looked up to because of his wealth and name—such was Meredith Dexter.

Nobody knew why he had married Nelda Barton. So frivolous she was. So exactly his opposite. It was rumored that he gave her a free rein—within reason. For it was also rumored that if anything really serious should happen, if scandal should taint her name—well—heaven help her! For there was hard, pitiless steel beneath her husband's insignificant outer shell.

A few days later, when Ruth was again lunching at Peter Barton's house, she happened to overhear his mother say something of the sort to her daughter.

"You must be more careful, my dear. You know what Meredith is like when his dignity is offended."

"You should have married him yourself, darling," laughed Nelda.

And Ruth agreed with her in her heart. It was not that Mrs. Barton was exactly a snob, nor exactly unkind. But she was so aloof—not quite human—and Ruth wondered, even worried, how Peter Barton could be happy in such an atmosphere.

She spoke of it to Hattie, who replied, rather curtly:

"I guess we each make our own happiness. And it's up to nobody else to interfere!"

She spoke just a little guiltily; felt just a little guilty; hated herself for feeling so.

Why should she feel guilty? She asked herself. Yes—she was seeing a great deal of Harry Davis these days; lunching, dining, going to the movies with him.

Well—why shouldn't she? Hadn't Ruth given him up? And she herself liked Harry—liked him perhaps too much.

She wondered how much Harry liked her; felt hurt when Harry, as he often did, spoke to her about Ruth—her treatment of him—his complaints against her. "You understand, Hattie! You are so sensible!"

Poor Hattie! She would go home from these meetings with Harry and glare solemnly at her reflection in the mirror. Sensible! Must be the fault of the beastly, disfiguring spectacles, she decided one evening.

She took them off; liked herself better without them. Her eyes, after all, were lovely; her skin clear and fine; her mouth red and inviting.

"I shall leave off my glasses when I go out!" she made up her mind. "If I bump against people—I'll bump!"

She dined with Harry the next evening. She could not see well—the room was a wavering blur—but could see well enough to catch an admiring look in Harry's eyes across the table at Tony's.

"You look bully, Hattie!" he said in mild surprise. "What have you been doing to yourself?"

Her eyes smarted, her temples throbbed when she went to bed that night. But she smiled. It was a small price to pay.

"Guess I'm in love with him!" she decided.

Clear-minded, logical, she weighed Ruth's opinion of young Harry Davis. Not very ambitious, not very clever, a bit inclined to drift. Not the sort of husband for Ruth—who was impatient. But Hattie was not impatient. She had a reformer's zeal and persistence. She would make something out of Harry—if she had the chance—something big.

A little later she noticed that Harry was beginning to talk less about Ruth—and more about himself. So Hattie became more satisfied. For there was wisdom in her small head—not only the wisdom learned in leather-bound law books, but the wisdom inherited from her first ancestress, Miss Eve—the one who talked too much with the snake.

Hattie was typically American. She had typically American moments of outspoken directness.

So, one evening, she said to Ruth:

"I'm crazy about Harry!"

Ruth kissed her.

"I'm so glad, dear——"

"Wait a moment!" Hattie drew away. "I said that I was crazy about him—not he about me—at least not yet."

"Oh—how can he help himself, Hattie?"

"Cut out the bromides, please! He still thinks of you—at times. But those times are growing more rare and far between. Mind if I am frank?"

"Oh course not!"

"When he has forgotten you altogether—he will turn—to me—the nearest person. It's the law of rebound—and my arms will be open—ready to catch—and hold! You have always felt superior to him—I, well—I do not—at least not enough to hurt him—or to hurt myself."

By this time Ruth had controlled her thoughts. Her first word of congratulation, her kiss, had been impulsive gestures. The impulsiveness had gone. Her shrewd brain remained.

"You will not be happy with him, Hattie!"

"Please—don't interfere!"

Why not? I'm your friend, Hattie! I don't want to see you sacrifice your career!"

"That—" Hattie snapped her fingers—"for my own career! I'll use whatever gifts God gave me to help him along!" She gave a little laugh. "Counting the chickens before they are hatched, eh?"

"What do you mean?"

GAINES IS UNSHAKEN IN DENYING HE BEAT DAUGHTER TO DEATH

Seattle Man Replies Calmly to Questions, Explaining Relationship.

SAYS GIRL HELPED HIM AS HE DRANK HEAVILY

Contradicts Witness Who Said Accused Man's Car Was Near Murder Scene.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Wallace Gaines, on trial here as the accused slayer of his daughter, Sylvia, 22-year-old Smith college graduate, denied on the witness stand today that his automobile was parked near the spot where she was slain the night of June 16. The testimony was given to repudiate the story of Harry Wurster, an automobile mechanic, who testified Friday for the prosecution that he knew the car well and that he recognized it the night of the tragedy when, he said, it stood 50 yards from where Miss Gaines was beaten and choked to death on the shore of Green lake, in this city.

Gaines swore that about a week before Miss Gaines was slain, he and she stopped at about the place and purchased sodas while returning from a drive.

Explaining stains of blood on a shirt of his, the defendant told the jury he had cut his thumb and that he kept cigarettes in a pocket near which the marks occurred.

Admits Drinking Heavily.

The witness admitted that from the time he entered the army during the world war until his daughter's death he drank heavily, but he declared himself a light drinker before his military service.

In his early cross-examination Prosecutor Colvin failed to shake Gaines on his version of any detail. The defendant calmly answered each question, using about the same words he had in direct examination.

Colvin questioned him particularly about his familiarity with Green lake, near which the girl was killed and his knowledge of Sylvia's acquaintanceship with young men. Gaines had previously said Sylvia had no men friends so far as he knew, except that she was writing to Thomas Lowe, formerly an instructor in the Massachusetts School of Technology.

Gaines' explanation of an accident in a park near his home when policemen testified they found him and Sylvia early one morning 150 feet off the road in his roadster which was unlighted was that he had stopped to wipe the windshield, and the patrolmen took him to a police station because they said there was an irregularity in his license plates.

In a Hotel Together.

Gaines testified that November 24, 1925, he registered at a hotel for himself, wife and Sylvia; that Sylvia went to bed and he sat up all night, drinking and smoking, waiting for his wife, for whom he had sent a messenger.

"At 7 or 8 in the morning Sylvia woke up and helped me go to bed," he testified.

The next thing he remembered, "the maid woke us up and said she wanted to make the room." Sylvia "was lying on the bed," dressed, he said, adding "she probably had been caring for me."

His wife shot herself shortly after Thanksgiving because of a quarrel over drinking and a threat that he and Sylvia would leave, he explained.

Repeats Alibi for Day.

Gaines said that just before her death his daughter had decided to go to Massachusetts, because her "stepfather in Boston had been out of work, sick." The witness and the girl's mother, now Mrs. H. E. Maynard, of Lynnfield, Mass., separated seventeen years ago. Gaines said that a promise by William A. Gaines, brother of the defendant and chairman of the King county commissioners, to obtain work here for Sylvia, caused a change in the plans.

He repeated a narrative of previous witnesses of the way he passed the day of the tragedy. He said that after meeting his daughter downtown they went home and he built a fire in the kitchen to heat water and in the living room because it was chilly there.

Gaines is charged with killing Sylvia when she tried to terminate an unnatural relationship between them.

REPUBLICAN HEADS OF PRINCE GEORGES FAIL TO PICK SLATE

NEGLECT OF SMALLER CANDIDACIES ASSAILED

27 Aspirants File Notices; Time for Entry Ends Tuesday Night.

Plans of leading Republicans of Prince Georges county, Md., to eliminate controversy through uniting on one ticket for all county officers fell through at a meeting in the courthouse in Upper Marlboro yesterday.

The meeting was called by Oliver Metzerott, former District of Columbia rent commissioner and chairman of the Republican county committee of Prince Georges county, who proposed that the controversy and possible discord within the Republican ranks in the county, which would result from close contests in the primary September 14, could be avoided by general agreement beforehand on one Republican county ticket.

G. B. Timanus, of Laurel, introduced a resolution at the meeting yesterday embodying the plan, but withdrew it a short time after Jeremiah Hawkins, mayor of North Brentwood, objected that such a procedure was unfair to the voters and almost certain to result in dissatisfaction. It would, he declared, amount to selection of candidates by a small group of persons as against the principle of the primary selection by all voting Republicans.

Central Body Criticized.

John T. Fisher, of Oxen Hill, clerk to the county commissioners, sharply criticized the Republican central committee, declaring that it consistently had paid much more attention to the election of national and State candidates than to county officers, giving the latter small assistance.

Twenty-seven candidates for county officers filed formal notice of candidacies with the county board of election supervisors at Upper Marlboro. Time for filing notices expires at midnight Tuesday night. Candidates may withdraw within ten days thereafter and those remaining in the field after that date will be placed on the official ballot.

Candidates who formally filed their names yesterday were: For the house of delegates of the State legislature—Democrats, Le Roy Pumphrey, Mellwood district; Henry L. Morris, Marlboro district; Charles C. Marbury, Wellwood; Arthur F. Storey, Chillum; Burton A. Ford, Berwyn; Henry H. O'Neil, Bladensburg; William F. Keys, Chillum; J. Guy Beall, Bowie. Republicans—Frank Small, jr., Mellwood. Two others, William H. Anglin and Mario Venturo, both of Hyattsville, Democrats, filed earlier.

Five Democrats filed for sheriff, bringing the total to thirteen, of whom three are Republicans. Those who filed yesterday were: Harry Lewis, Bladensburg district; J. Irving Parker, Mellwood; Charles S. Early, Brandywine; Leon Allen, Surrats, and Harry Lewis, Hyattsville.

H. H. Sasscer, Nottingham, filed for the State central Democratic committee and John Broadus, colored, Spaldings, filed for the State central Republican committee.

Fred A. Soules, of Hyattsville, was the first to file for election as a delegate to the Republican State convention, others who filed yesterday including George D. Brown, colored, Queen Anne, and Oliver Hill, colored, Seat Pleasant.

Candidates for the Democratic State convention who filed yesterday were Charles A. Marden, Oxon Hill; M. Hampton Magruder, Marlboro, and Harry B. Brady, Aquasco.

John M. Bowie, Queen Anne, filed as a Republican candidate for the State senate and Frank Parran, Aquasco, former State senator from Calvert county, filed as a Republican candidate for State's attorney.

Three Republicans filed their candidacies for county commissioner. They were: William A. Duvall, Berwyn; Omar C. Strawn, Kent, and Dr. George E. Lancaster, Bowie.

Grand Tournament Will Be Held Today

The forty-second annual grand tournament will be held at Marshall Hall today. The feature of the tournament will be a tilting contest in which entrants will try to put the point of a spear through a one-inch ring while riding horseback at full gallop. The winner of the tournament will have the privilege of naming his lady queen of the ball which will take place after the tournament.

The following is the committee in charge of arrangements: Richard B. Tippett, Sheriff Joseph Howard, E. W. Hungerford and Harry Hicks. The chief marshall will be Frank S. Barnes, assistant marshall, Douglas Thomas; herald, Miss Elizabeth Barnes; aids, Mrs. Adelbert Hungerford and Miss Leonora Hughes. The judges: Benjamin Edelin, T. M. Underwood, Senator Frank Ball, P. P. Williams, John Mathews, George W. Ferguson, Robert Cooksey, Dr. T. L. Higdon, John Gering, Dr. George O. Monroe, Randolph Koester, Brooke Matthews. The orator of the day will be Representative Millard E. Tydings. The orator of the evening will be Ferdinand Cooksey.

David A. Reed in Azores.

Ponta, Delgada, Azores, Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—United States Senator David A. Reed landed here this morning from the Martha Washington. He is a member of the American battle monument committee, and is to select a location for a war memorial. Ponta Delgada was an American war base. Mr. Reed is traveling with Mrs. Reed and their daughter Rosamond.

DAMASCUS DISTRICT DAIRY CATTLE FREE FROM TUBERCULOSIS

Only 5 of 1,520 Head Are Found Infected; Disease Nearly Eradicated.

MISH MAY BE NAMED TO OPPOSE ZIHLMAN

Edward P.B. Marquerum Files for Democratic Nomination for Orphans' Judge.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY BUREAU OF THE WASHINGTON POST.
ROCKVILLE, MD.

Of the approximately 1,520 dairy cattle in Damascus district, Montgomery county, all but 5 are free from tuberculosis, so a test just completed under the direction of Dr. R. A. Gregory showed. These cattle daily produce something like 5,000 gallons of milk, about four-fifths of which is shipped to Washington and the remainder to Baltimore.

The work of eradicating tuberculosis among the cattle of Damascus district was begun in earnest in 1923, when a test showed 20 per cent of them infected. A complete test has been made each year since, and a marked improvement shown each time. The work will be prosecuted in other districts of the county, so Dr. Gregory has announced, until the entire county is covered and the disease is completely eradicated. It will require, it is thought, several years to complete the work.

Due largely, it is said, to the efforts of the county farm bureau and the county agricultural agent, cattle owners of the county are enthusiastically cooperating with Dr. Gregory, and in Damascus district W. R. Fairchild, of Damascus, had, it is said, much to do with the thorough job done there. It is believed that Montgomery county will be one of the first counties of the State to go on what is know as the "accredited list."

Frank W. Mish, of Hagerstown, several times Democratic candidate for the House of Representatives, and each time defeated by Representative Frederick N. Zihlman, probably again will be the nominee of his party to succeed Representative Zihlman. He has filed certificates of candidacy with the various boards of supervisors of elections in the district and is not expected to have any opposition for the nomination. Mr. Mish, who is one of Washington county's most successful farmers and business men and wealthy, once gave Representative Zihlman a close fight, and would have won but for a big slump in the Democratic vote in Montgomery county.

The Boys' and Girls' Pig and Calf clubs of Montgomery county will have a department at the annual fair, to be held in Rockville Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week, so the superintendent, James C. Christopher, has announced. Not only will pure-bred Berkshire and Duroc pigs and hogs and pure-bred Guernsey, Jersey and Holstein heifers and cows be shown, but a poultry exhibit will be staged and judging contests on dairy cows and hogs be held.

The Montgomery County National Bank and the Farmers' Banking & Trust Co., of Rockville; the Sandy Spring Savings Institution, the First National Bank, Sandy Spring; the First National Bank, Gaithersburg, and the Poolesville National Bank, have contributed cash for distribution as premiums in this department.

Turner W. Welsh, of Rockville, who has been in charge of the horticultural hall at Rockville fairs for many years, again will be in charge of that department.

Edward P. B. Margerum, for many years a justice of the peace for Colesville district, yesterday filed with the supervisors of elections in Rockville a certificate of his candidacy for one of the Democratic nominations for judge of the orphans' court, being the third candidate for such nomination, the others being James P. Gott and William T. Ridgely. All three incumbents—Judges Harry J. Hunt, P. Hicks Ray and John R. Lewis—and Thomas N. Bailey are expected to file as candidates.

The Rev. B. W. John, pastor of the Methodist church, officiated at the marriage in Rockville yesterday of Mahlon S. Randolph, 28 years old, and Miss Vivian Kiser, 20, both of Washington, the home of the minister being the scene of the ceremony.

J. William Garrett, who is connected with the Baltimore offices of the U. S. bureau of internal revenue, is being mentioned in connection with the Republican nomination for sheriff. He is understood to be willing to accept such nomination and his selection is believed to be probable.

Donald Canada Wins Glen Echo Election

Donald Canada was elected town councilman at a special election in Glen Echo yesterday to find a successor to Fred J. Bolduc, who recently resigned. Mr. Canada was sworn in last night by Mayor H. T. McCuen.

There were two candidates for the office. Mr. Canada received 54 votes and E. D. Houghton, the other candidate, 21 votes.

Rites Today for Commander Gearing

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 17.—The body of Commander Henry G. Gearing, U. S. N. (retired), 76 years old, who died at Charlottesville, Va., will be brought to Annapolis tomorrow for burial in the Naval cemetery with military honors. Commander Gearing lived in Annapolis nearly 40 years. Among the surviving children are Commander Henry C. Gearing, jr., and Lieut. Hillyer Gearing.

PROFITS IN STORES IN LAST 7 MONTHS BREAK ALL RECORDS

Volume of Retail Trade in U. S. Is Running Ahead of 1925, Banner Year.

PROSPERITY UNBOUNDED IN SOME SPECIAL LINES

Sales of Cigarettes 12 Per Cent Greater Than in 1925; Orders Press Factories.

By WILLIAM P. HELM, Jr.

The man behind the counter, Federal reserve figures show, was busier and made more money the country over during the first seven months of 1926 than during any other corresponding period in our history.

Volume of retail trade throughout the United States is running from 5 to 6 per cent ahead of the banner volume of last year, the board's survey shows. Only two districts, Cleveland and Minneapolis, fail to show a material increase over the same period last year. Those districts beat last year's record but by smaller percentage of increase than other districts.

Nothing appears on the business horizon to warrant the belief that there will be a decrease in retail trade during the balance of the year. Governmental and private business forecasters have announced their belief that the pick-up during the rest of 1926 will be even greater than during the first seven months.

May Exceed all Years.

If this optimistic prediction comes to pass, 1926 will ring up a bigger total of sales on the nation's cash registers than any other year. In some sections, retail trade went over the top last month with an extraordinary push. Notable was the Chicago district, where the volume of sales reported to the Federal Reserve Board by department and chain stores and mail order houses increased nearly 11 per cent over sales during July, 1925. In other words, for every $100 in sales during July, 1925, the reporting retail establishments in the Chicago district averaged $110.80 in sales during July, 1926.

In the St. Louis district the increase in retail sales last month over sales in July, 1925, averaged more than 9 per cent; in the Dallas district it was nearly 9 per cent; in the New York district, 6.2 per cent; San Francisco, 5.5 per cent; Philadelphia, 5.4 per cent; Atlanta, 4.9 per cent.; Minneapolis, 4 per cent; Boston, 3.5 per cent; Richmond, 3.4 per cent; Kansas City, 1.9 per cent, and Cleveland, 1.4 per cent.

Sears, Roebuck and Montgomery Ward & Co., the two outstanding mail order houses, sold $114.60 worth of merchandise during last month for every $100 worth sold during July, 1925, the latter month having been the highest July on record up to the present year.

Highest July on Record.

The five leading chains of 5 and 10 cent stores sold $112.10 worth of goods last month for every $100 worth sold in July, 1925, the Federal Reserve Board states. And July of last year was the highest July on record up to 1926, for volume of sales.

For the first six months of 1926 here are some of the increases reported by big systems of chain stores and mail order houses over the same period of 1925, which had hitherto been the banner first half of any year.

Sears, Roebuck sales increased from $118,000,000 in 1925 to $126,600,000 in 1926, or more than 7 per cent; Montgomery Ward from $82,426,000 to $95,217,000, or 15.5 per cent; F. W. Woolworth from $101,296,000 to $107,198,000, nearly 6 per cent; S. S. Kresge from $44,655,000 to $49,837,000, or 11½ per cent; J. C. Penny from $35,669,000 to $46,075,000, or 29 per cent; National Tea from $22,626,000 to 26,466,000, or 17 per cent; F. & W. Grand from $3,249,000 to $4,402,000, or 35½ per cent; Peoples Drug from $2,562,000 to $2,838,000, or 10.7 per cent; David Pender from $3,862,000 to $5,039,000 or 30.4 per cent and First National Stores from $25,979,000 to $29,453,000, or 13½ per cent.

Break All Records.

The first five months of the current year broke all records for these and other mammoth retail and mail order establishments. During June there was somewhat of a lull, the figures, taken from the companies' own books, show. Not more than half of the reporting companies showed a greater volume of trade in June, 1925, than in June, 1926. During July, however, contrary to all seasonal form, sales picked up again, on the average, at a high rate.

During the early months of the year, footwear and apparel accumulated, a drug on the market, in many retail stores because of the retarded spring and inclement weather. In June and July, however, these two lines of merchandise began to move in greater volume. With seasonable weather during the remainder of the year, 1926 probably will set a record of total sales much higher than during any year in the past.

In some special lines, prosperity appears to be unbounded. At the beginning of 1926, a survey by the Standard Statistics Co., of New York, discloses, there were in use throughout the United States 116,000 electric refrigerators. During the first six months of 1926, more than 250,000 additional electric refrigerators were sold. One company alone claims to have more than 200,000 of its various models now in use. By the first of October, it is estimated, 300,000 such devices will have been manufactured and sold this year.

Manufacturers are hard pressed to meet orders. They figure, at the moment, that there is an immediate potential market now existing for at least 2,000,000 electric refrigerators throughout the country.

The Delco Light Co., makers of the Frigidaire model, is now turning out 1,100 electric refrigerators a day and is building a new plant capable of turning out 50,000 a month. Capacity operations have been reported by the Servel Corporation. Earnings of the Electric Refrigeration Co. were $4.09 per share of stock during the first six months of 1926. Its three constituent companies, Kelvinator, Nizer and Leonard, reported net earnings of $5.09 a share during the first six months of the current year (before paying taxes), as compared with $4.32 per share during the full year 1925 and $3.09 per share during the full year, 1924.

Cigarette smokers are building up this year the highest net profits ever recorded for the American, R. J. Reynolds, and Liggett & Myers tobacco companies, which control the five most popular brands of cigarettes. Sales this year have been nearly 12 per cent higher than during the same period last year.

Big Typewriter Profits.

The Remington Typewriter Co. made 22 per cent more in net profits during the first three months of 1926 than during the same period in 1925. Orders booked by manufacturers of steel office furniture during the first four months of 1926 were $12,096,968, as compared with $10,405,135, during the corresponding period last year. The Rand Kardex Co. reported a 16 per cent increase in sales during the same period. The Shaw Walker Co. has had so much business that it has found it necessary to build a new factory. Fountain pen manufacturers state that sales this year are running far ahead of those in 1925.

In almost every line the story is the same—an overwhelming increase in the volume of retail business this year over last.

WIVES OF TOMORROW

By FRANCES M'DONALD

Enter—the Villain.

DEAR MISS McDONALD: I am a woman 26 years old, and have one child 3½ years. The first three years of my married life was very happy, but for the last three years my husband has been very cross with me—he is always finding fault with the way I spend his money and don't try to save any. I cannot save because he doesn't earn enough to even pay our expenses, as we owe big bills and have to pay rent. I have tried to work myself and help him out, but he never appreciates that. He says I am very foolish, that we can live on $20 per week and also have good times. We never go anywhere. I stay home all the time and never have any amusement. I get so lonesome when I see all of my girl friends having good times.

Now about 10 months ago I met a man who has been married and is divorced. He has one child 8 years old and he asked me to go with him. He says he admires me very much and that he wants to see me three times a week. I like him. But I realize that I am married and that I cannot do that, as I think I still love my husband. But my thoughts are with this other man. I simply want to see him and be with him as a friend.

Please advise me what I should do. Should I give him up or what?

BROKEN-HEARTED BETTY.

Betty dear, you will be "broken-hearted" all your life unless you learn Life's traffic rules and why it is best to obey them. Here you are 26 years old, with a husband you love and a nice little baby—all the stage set for happiness. And right into the picture stalks the villain—the gentle and artistic home-wrecker. He needs some one to take care of his eight-year-old and decides you will do. Your husband's rights as a human being mean nothing whatever to him. He needs a girl friend—perhaps a housekeeper—so what matters anybody's right?

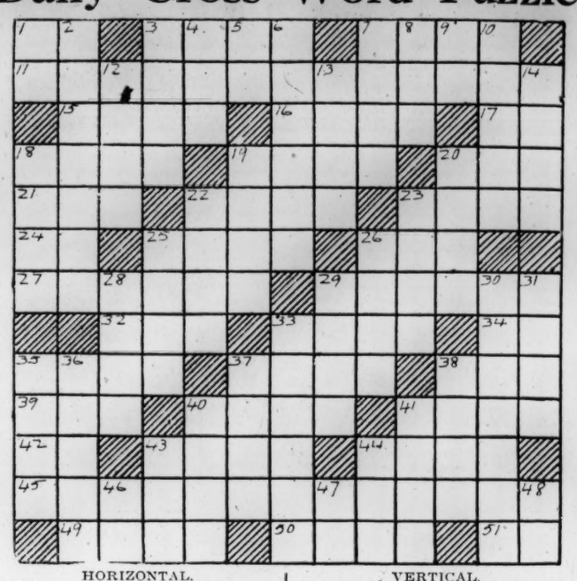

Betty, dear, even if you were free, your new-found villain boy-friend would not be a safe prospect for you. He will always be first to himself with the rest of the world bringing up the rear. So, just take what few thoughts you have and center them on how to make your allowance of $20 a week cover your needs. Do you follow the household suggestions offered by this paper to young wives? I know hundreds of homes that are run by rules laid down by the trained experts who write those household pages. Learn to be competent—learn to buy, and save. Take a real interest in being a success and you will soon be getting your thrills honestly.

Learn the rules, Betty, and the danger signals, and when you know the way you should go—just go, regardless of by-paths, detours and villains.

You are a woman. As such are you going to be a success or a failure?

Sit down now with our home expert and figure out what you will spend this coming week. Be a success, Betty, instead of a "sad story."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. W. A. EVANS

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations and where a stamped, addressed envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease. Requests for such service can not be answered.

KNOTS ON THE NECK.

THE knots are also known as kernels. Besides these, there is a long list of names. Tuberculosis adenitis is one. Scrofula is another. King's evil, still another. The very important ones are those due to infection with tubercle bacilli.

Dr. C. B. Gibson quotes an experienced physician as saying that between 50 and 75 per cent of all children attending dispensaries have knots in the neck that can be felt and that most of them are due to decayed teeth, enlarged tonsils or adenoids, stomach sores in the mouth, eczema of the face or head, or lice in the hair.

If a parent feels small kernels in the child's neck the chances are that infection with tubercle bacilli is not the cause. That is worth while knowing, since it is easy to rid the head of lice, curing eczema by changing diet is not difficult, taking proper care of the teeth or having them pulled is easy, and curing tonsils and adenoids is not exceedingly difficult.

But getting around to tubercular infection of the neck glands, this is serious. It involves finding the source of infection in the first place. It may be necessary to kill off the family cow or to destroy a herd. It may involve boiling or pasteurizing the milk. And, finally, curing up tubercular glands is not a simple matter. In the days of old the only cure was to have the king touch the sick child. Kings are getting scarce. If there were any virtue in the king's-touch-treatment the supply of kings would not be equal to the demand.

In writing of the treatment of the tubercular glands Dr. C. B. Gibson gives first place to treatment by sunlight. Most cases can be cured that way. Old style operations are now rarely done. Here and there a case calls for the old style operation, but such cases are few in number.

Second place in treatment he gives to treatment by emptying the gland with a syringe and then injecting into it a mixture of olive oil, ether, creosote, guiacol and iodoform. He thinks maybe sucking out the contents with a syringe and not injecting anything may be as curative as the injection treatment.

X-ray treatment does some good, but just how much has not been settled. He does not think injecting tuberculin is of service.

In addition to the treatment of the gland directly Dr. Gibson says underlying causes, such as decayed teeth and infected tonsils and adenoids, must be attended to and the child must live under good hygiene conditions. He must have the rest, open air, regulated exercise and proper feeding treatment which has proven so helpful in consumption.

Gland tuberculosis cases do not have to stay in bed for days as do consumptive cases, but they should have long rest hours and exercise must be closely controlled.

POTATOES PUT ON BURNS.

W. W. S. writes that freshly scraped Irish potatoes is the best treatment for a burn. He scrapes the potato to a pulp and then covers the burn with the wet pulp. When this has dried he makes another application of the same. The moist potato pulp excludes the air, relieves the pain and promotes healing.

Once he came home and found his son badly burned and crying: "O, papa, kill me! I can not stand it." The boy's mother got busy scraping potatoes. Soon they applied the pulp. The pain was quickly eased and cure without suppuration or scar followed.

REPLY.

What you say could easily be true. I am sure clean, fresh potato pulp would be a better application than some of the dirty oils sometimes used.

FOR INSOMNIA VICTIMS.

W. J. says that experience has taught her how brain workers who are troubled with insomnia can find relief.

If they will take walks after working hours, or do some physical work outdoor or indoor, in order to get physically tired, they will find it not hard to get to sleep.

Eating a light supper promotes sleep. A heavy one may prevent it.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

WHAT HAPPENS TO FATHERS.

If you should see my coat of gray
And my initialed shirt today,
My collar and my jaunty cap,
Do not decide that I'm the chap.
'Tis true that I may claim the shoes,
The hosiery I'll not refuse,
The handkerchief is mine, I'll swear,
But some one else is walking there.

Time was the raiment which I own
Was mine to wear and mine alone,
But now across the table I
Behold my scarfpin in my tie,
My fancy sweater, large as life
Upon the left hand of my wife.
"Hello," I say "there's something queer.
I can't be sitting there and here.
"Yet that's my necktie and my shirt
And that's my collar I'll assert,
And those, I'm certain I can say
Are socks I got last Christmas Day."
And then she chuckles: "Don't you see
How large your son has grown to be?
You leave your stuff upon the shelf,
He just walks in and helps himself."

And so I write these lines to say
If you should see my cap today,
My shirt, my shoes, my coat, my tie,
Do not decide that it is I.
My boy to such a size has grown
He takes my raiment for his own.
Dress does not mark the man, 'tis said,
'T oft proclaims the son instead.

BEAUTY AND YOU

CAUSE OF THICK ANKLES.

By Viola Paris.

THE fashions of today are such that we all naturally want to have beautiful, slender legs. But some of us are discouraged at the very outset when we look at our ankles and see how thick and clumsy they are.

Are you one of these, and do you sigh and say, "Well, I just wasn't lucky enough to have pretty ankles." Because, if you are, you have an entirely wrong idea about the matter. Ten to one, you weren't born with ugly ankles. You didn't even have thick ankles as a child. But then, suddenly, you discovered as you grew older that your ankles were heavy and awkward. The condition really isn't a natural one, and was, very likely, acquired.

One of the reasons may have been the wrong kind of shoes. A shoe should support the foot and ankle—not tire them and strain the muscles and ligaments. But a tight or wrongly shaped shoe will invariably do this, besides impeding the circulation and restraining the joints in their natural movements. A heel that is too high or that has carelessly been allowed to "run over" will cause continual slight turnings of the ankle. Thus, the ankle is weakened, and, just as though it were sprained, it swells. Gradually, this condition becomes chronic, and the tissues grow hopelessly stiff and thick. The ankle bone may even shift to one side, so that it stands out unattractively. The habit of standing or sitting with the ankle joint of one foot thrown out is a very bad one, not only because it is ugly, but because it is weakening.

It will be worth while to watch yourself for just these defects. Keep an eye on the children, too, to see that they don't fall into similar bad habits. Children should wear broad-toed shoes that conform to the natural shape of the foot. Young girls should wear commonsense heels until they reach the debutante age.

Tomorrow Viola Paris will tell how to keep the abdomen in its proper place.

Breakfast Room Flooring

THE breakfast room, the terrace and the porch or sun room all seem to call for floors that are different from those found in the other rooms of the house.

Many delightful effects are possible with linoleum tiles set in a decorative pattern. The floor should be waxed when finished, and it will eventually acquire a delightful patine.

Cement and sand mixed in the right proportions make a beautiful flooring for a sun room or hallway. The cement may be lined off in blocks to resemble stonework, or painted in some interesting pattern. Before the cement becomes thoroughly dry select certain blocks and coat them with two or three layers of thick enamel paint, allowing each coat to dry well into the cement. Then go over the entire floor with a dark oil stain and finish with a final oil coat in which has been mixed a little burnt umber. This is wiped off, and the umber stays in the cracks, giving an antique effect. When completed the floor can be given a coat of wax.

Still a third effect can be gotten by using cork tiles. These come in eight inch blocks. Here and there at random insert a colored linoleum tile, in designs of ships, shells, dolphins, etc. These motifs must be in scale with the room. A border of colored linoleum tiles will give the floor design a pleasing boundary. This type is especially useful in houses of Spanish and Italian character, such as are being built in Florida and California today.

In laying such floors the secret of success lies in having them absolutely even. While the amateur might be able to do the work skillfully, it is advisable to use a trained workman where intricate patterns are planned.

Conduct and Common Sense

DO PARENTS SIT UP TILL YOUNG MEN VISITORS GO?

By Anne Singleton.

THIS question does not come from people of the social world, because in that world evening visiting is not a custom. There are theaters and operas and dinners and dances, and a general atmosphere of general amusement in which the young men and women are already absorbed. They see each other at a dozen different places in the week, and, if a boy wants to go to see a girl at home (and gets uptown early enough), he usually goes in the afternoon; that is, any time after 5 and before 6:30. As most people do not dine till at least 7:30, if not 8, he has a short time for visiting at an hour when the family may have separated after their afternoon tea, and there's no question of chaperoning.

But evening visiting must be a custom among a very large portion of pleasant people who work all day and can not play all evening and every evening. It is a very sensible way, and a very sensible time, for a boy to pay visits to girls who are at home then. Sometimes he really likes the family life and games played by every one together. Sometimes he likes just to talk to the girl. Now, it is never easy for two people to carry on a conversation when others, who don't take part in it, are listening. Therefore, if there are not two rooms, so that elders can read and youngsters talk in peace, it is natural enough for indulgent parents to remove themselves from too close attendance upon children. Some reasonable excuse should be given—after all, you don't want the young man to feel that you are throwing your daughter at his head—and it would be even as well to suggest that you would see him before he went, as a sort of hint that your return would mean an end to the visit. It does not look "cared for" to leave your daughter to sit up all night if she pleases while you go to bed. Give the young people a reasonable time, and then come back and chaperon.

Advice to Girls

on correct skin care—as urged today by leading skin specialists

By NORMA TALMADGE

Copyright, 1926, by P. O. Beauty Features.

Just one rule to follow—start for one week in this way. It has brought naturally clear complexions to thousands

DON'T think a naturally clear skin is beyond you—or, that one comes only as the result of costly beauty treatments. Modern beauty science proves otherwise.

Printed below is a rule anyone can follow without bother or expense. Authorities say it has given more women the charm of natural skin loveliness than any other method known. It has almost entirely supplanted the artificial methods of yesterday.

In your own interest, try it for one week. Note the improvement that comes when your pores are properly cleansed of their accumulations with the gentle lather of Palmolive in this way.

THE RULE IN SKIN CARE THAT EXPERTS URGE

Wash your face gently with soothing Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Follow these rules day in and day out. Your skin will be soft and lovely.

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

Remember that before Palmolive came, women were told, "use no soap on your faces." Soaps then were judged too harsh. Palmolive is a beauty soap made for one purpose only: to safeguard your complexion. 60 years of soap study stand behind it. Millions of pretty skins prove its effectiveness beyond all doubt.

BE SURE YOU GET THE REAL PALMOLIVE

It costs but 10c the cake!—so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain Palmolive today. Note what one week of its use will bring. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.), Chicago, Illinois.

MODISH MITZI

Dad Sees Some Novelties

By Jay V. Jay

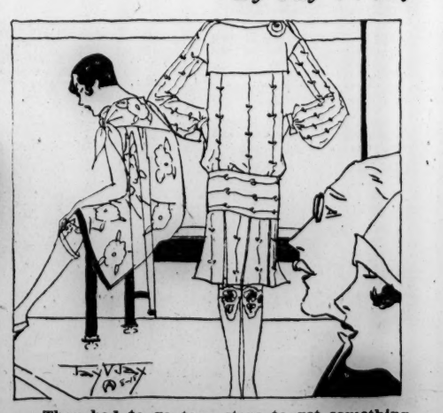

"Mitzi, I want you to listen to this," implores Dad. "Think of it, Kansas City is the second largest stock market in the world." Mitzi replies that she thinks it's too lovely for words. Her reply, of course, being about her new negligee. "Anyway, Dad," says Mitzi, "we'll go out and I'll show you a thing or two."

"Look," stage whispers Mitzi, nudging Dad somewhere in the ribs. "Look, a French felt hat and I have heard they are all the rage! Women have them in all colors, you know, but all the same style." Dad can't seem to work up quite the same enthusiasm, but he doesn't wish to be poked, so he notices as he is told to.

"Don't you love it?" urges Mitzi to Dad. Poor Dad. He doesn't want to commit hmiself. Maybe she means the Bell Telephone Building they are passing, maybe she means the wicked looking blonde. She refers, of course, to the costume the lady is wearing. It's built on bolero lines. The collar is mannishly made.

They had to go to a store to get something Mitzi had forgotten. There is a practical demonstration going on in the lingerie department to which Dad feels he is not invited. They are showing how the lace motifs clapped around the knees garter fashion give the effect of decorated hose. When Mitzi takes Dad out to see sights—she shows 'em to him.

REGIONAL TREATIES THREATEN LEAGUE, INSTITUTE IS TOLD

Hungarian Counselor Charges Alliances Show Lack of Confidence in Body.

JAPANESE DELEGATE DENIES YELLOW PERIL

Release of Atom Energy Is Cited as Bringing Riches or Ruin.

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Regional agreements being made between nations in Europe representing a continuation of the balance of power policy, is tending to undermine the foundation of the League of Nations, J. Pelenyi, counsellor of the royal Hungarian legation, told the Institute of Politics today.

Recent rapprochements among the central European countries indicate that the new alignments are not necessarily along belligerent lines, he said, but their establishment "as a second line of defense in case the league goes smash" hardly indicates a bona fide trust in the efficacy of the league.

The "yellow peril" menace, which some people believe exists in the Far East, was flouted as impossible by M. Saito, Japanese consul general in New York.

"Japan has come to a stage where she can forget war," he said. "She has not only lived up to the disarmament agreements, but is ready at present for further naval disarmaments, while the militaristic character of the government is daily disappearing in favor of the forces that will allow Japan to turn her attention fully to the problem of feeding an increasing population on a constant land area exploited to its full capacity."

Chemists, in their search for a means of releasing the energy of atoms and other radio active substances, are leading toward either catastrophic destruction or unlimited riches for the world, speakers asserted at the institute.

Riches or Ruin.

Dr. Umberto Pomilio, Italian chemist, predicted that the secret of wresting energy from atoms would be discovered within the next 25 years, and declared that the certain progress of science toward releasing and harnessing radio active substance points toward either destruction or unlimited riches.

Sir Frederick Soddy, English chemist, agreeing that chemists are advancing along "the only road likely to bring success, at a rate which makes it possible that one day we will see its achievement," likewise warned that the discovery might be used to the detriment rather than the good of mankind. At any moment, he said, some one among the little group of researchers might find the clew that is being sought.

"Should that day arrive," he said, "let no one be blind to the magnitude of the stake, or suppose that such an acquisition to the physical resources of humanity can safely be entrusted to those who in the past have converted the blessing conferred by science into a curse."

Volcanoes, along with the tiny atom, are also potential slaves to be put to work for mankind, Sir Frederick Soddy said. He pointed to the fact that Italy has harnessed her volcanoes and natural steam jets to develop power. Describing the vast energy that abounds in tides, plant life and the rays of the sun, Sir Frederick said the Sahara desert receives daily energy from the sun equal to 6,000,000,000 tons of coal.

Bridegroom Is Held On Bad Check Charges

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—With 15 cents in his pocket, William C. Potter, 20 years old, who, police say, is a son of Herbert J. Potter, wholesale grocer of Murfreesboro, Tenn., was held at Central police station today charged with passing five worthless checks to finance his honeymoon. Locked up with him was his bride of a month, formerly Miss Margaret Bell, who said she was known on the stage as Peggy Miller, and an actress friend, Williene Dibrell. Police said Miss Dibrell had posed as Potter's sister.

The trio was arrested while waiting for a Washington motor bus. Potter is charged with cashing two checks in Franklin, Tenn., where the marriage took place, and three at Baltimore hotels.

Wife He Believed Dead Makes Bigamy Charge

Hagerstown, Md., Aug. 17.—Ralph A. Wilhide, of Hagerstown, was arrested today, charged with bigamy. The warrant was sworn out by wife No. 1, Carrie Viola Burgan Wilhide, who charges he married her here six years ago, and that he then married Sarah K. Bowman last year.

Wilhide declares he received letters stating his first wife was dead.

Lights Along Airways Planned for Fliers

Approximately 10,000 miles of the existing system of airways in the United States will be lighted and made suitable for night flying under a program announced yesterday by William P. MacCracken, the new aviation secretary of the Department of Commerce.

Five aviators are to be sent out in different sections of the country to superintend the work. These men will fly over the routes and designate the sites where 24-inch revolving lights will be constructed. They will also designate the places for emergency landing fields for night fliers.

33,994 Are Enrolled In Citizens' Camps

Reports received from all 49 of this year's citizens military training camps show a total enrollment to date of 33,994, but it is expected that final figures will show a considerable increase over the 35,000 quota.

Enrollment at Third corps area camps attended by District boys was: Fort Monmouth, N. J., 327; Camp Meade, Md., 2,069; Fort Eustis, Va., 1,377; Fort Monroe, Va., 470; Fort Humphreys, Va., 27; Fort Myer, Va., 160.

Laundry Costs Held Chargeable to U. S.

American consular and diplomatic representatives abroad can be as spic and span as they wish at no expense for laundering their uniforms, if the government supplies them with their uniforms, Comptroller General McCarl declared in a ruling made public yesterday.

The cost of laundering uniforms in such cases, he ruled, is not a personal expenditure, but one properly chargeable to the government.

Bolt Kills Woman; Eight Are Stunned

Staunton, Va., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—A woman, 63, was killed and eight other persons were stunned by lightning that struck the front porch of a house near Adile Church, Nelson county, late yesterday. A dog under the porch and a horse 100 feet away also were killed.

Mrs. A. L. Furr, of Waynesboro, who was killed, her husband and son-in-law, Boyd Andes, with six other persons had taken refuge on the porch when the storm came up. Mr. Furr and Andes were dazed by the shock, but with the others who were also stunned, quickly recovered.

OIL MEN'S COUNSEL ASSAIL WALSH ACT

Declaring Law Unconstitutional, They Ask U. S. Appeal Be Dismissed.

Charging that the Walsh act is unconstitutional, a usurpation of the functions of the judiciary by the legislative branch of the government in that it seeks—without repealing or amending existing law—to force the court to construe the law in accordance with the judgment of Congress and contrary to the time-honored judgment of the courts, counsel for Edward L. Doheny, Albert J. Fall and Harry F. Sinclair yesterday prayed the District Court of Appeals to deny the motion of special government counsel to dismiss the special appeal allowed by that court last March, and set for argument October 4.

Counsel for the defendants, having demurred to the indictments and their demurrers having been overruled by Justice Wendell P. Stafford, in the District Supreme Court, appealed last March to the District Court of Appeals to review the action of the lower court. Granting the appeal, the Court of Appeals set October 4 for argument.

Meanwhile, Senator Walsh, of Montana, had Congress pass an act which directs the courts so to construe the law as to permit of no appeal from interlocutory orders in criminal cases. This law was made retroactive. Relying on that act, Owen J. Roberts and Atlee Pomerene, special counsel for the government, Monday moved the dismissal of the appeal with the assertion that under the Walsh act "it is manifest that the court now lacks jurisdiction of the cause."

PATROLMAN OFFERS AN ALIBI FOR MAZER

screamed. A moment later, when confronted by Studer, Mazer said. "Studer knows I didn't do it."

Then Studer Is Grilled.

District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen fairly pounced upon the remark. "Then Studer knows who did do it!" he shouted. Bernsteen began grilling Studer, and Mazer was whisked into another room where Joseph R. Roach, Chicago criminal attorney; Detectives Ora Slatter and George V. Armstrong, Cincinnati, and Acting Chief of Police Earl W. Hexamer, Canton, proceeded to grill him.

Outside the room, three Stark county deputy sheriffs awaited the word to transport Mazer to the Stark county jail. Bernsteen announced he would hold Mazer until tomorrow for further questioning.

Mazer and Studer thereupon were taken to the Cuyahoga county jail for the night. Bernsteen said he would resume the questioning in the morning. Roach, Slatter, Hexamer and Armstrong returned to Canton.

Back in Canton a grand jury of eight women and seven men, already convened, was held in readiness to consider the evidence against Mazer and others he may implicate.

Another Gives Self Up.

Meanwhile Andrew Pretzky, Akron, gave himself up to United States Marshal George A. Stauffer, when he learned he was wanted on a liquor conspiracy charge. Pretzky is alleged to have had a part in conveying liquor from Cleveland to Canton and is reported to have overheard a drunken man say: "Mellett is going to get bumped off."

Shortly after the grilling was resumed late today, investigators announced to newspaper men that statements signed by all of them and issued at certain intervals thereafter would be the only source of information.

For the time, at least, Mazer is the "key" which is expected to unlock the more-than-a-month-old mystery of Mellett's slaying. If he "squeals," according to the unanimous opinion of the investigators, he will implicate several coconspirators, including one, or perhaps two Canton policemen and several underworld characters.

WHEELER SAYS TINKHAM TRIES TO HIDE CORRUPT

Declares Charges as Groundless as the Wet Cause Is Hopeless.

HOLDS LAW IS FULFILLED

(By Associated Press.)

The demand of Representative Tinkham (Republican), Massachusetts, for prosecution of the Antisaloon league under the corrupt practices act brought from Wayne B. Wheeler yesterday the comment that Mr. Tinkham "has vainly tried for four years to get someone to take his alcoholic charges against the Antisaloon league seriously."

"These charges," said the league's general counsel in a formal statement, "are as groundless as the wet cause is hopeless.

"Mr. Tinkham yells 'stop thief' to hide the corrupt, lawless activities of the wets who back him," the statement continued. "The Antisaloon league has told the truth about its income and disbursements. If the wets were as frank, their budget would make the money spent by the league look like 30 cents.

Only a small part of the league's income is spent for political purposes, and the law does not require that money spent for other purposes be reported. We have been complying with the Federal election laws longer than any other organization.

"The national league alone filed its reports until 1925, when the law was changed, requiring State organizations to do likewise. The State leagues will comply with the law. Both by law and by Supreme Court decision it is not necessary to report primary expenses under the Federal statute. This can not be required by law without amending the Constitution.

"In the meantime Tinkham will continue to tinkle to detract public attention from his lawless supporters, who are shooting holes in the Constitution in order to get a drink of poison liquor."

street. When knocked down he became entangled under the wheel guard of the car, and firemen of the rescue squad were called to extricate him. He was taken to the hospital unconscious.

Policeman William McEwen, of the Tenth precinct, was slightly injured, the victim of a "hit-and-run" driver. He was driving a motorcycle in Thirteenth street near W street northwest when knocked to the street by an automobile, which fled the scene. He was treated at George Washington university hospital.

Alvin Smith, 32 years old, 1208 Sixth street southwest, was slightly injured when the car he was driving hit a parked automobile in front of 635 Virginia avenue southeast. He was arrested for reckless driving and fined $25 in traffic court.

John Mills, 1391 Newton street northwest, was slightly injured when the automobile in which he was riding collided with a truck driven by E. M. Stewart, colored, 28 years old, 1241 Carrollburg place southwest, at New Jersey avenue and N street northwest. Mills was treated at Casualty hospital for slight cuts and bruises on the face and body.

Struck by an automobile while crossing Fourteenth street near C street northeast, Ramon F. Sahey, 5 years old, 71 L street northeast, was slightly injured. He was treated at Casualty hospital.

Stephen Aubinoe, 43 years old, 1340 H street northeast, suffered severe lacerations of the head when thrown from the automobile in which he was riding following a collision with an automobile driven by Norman F. Haag, 1207 Sixteenth street northeast, at Fourth and K streets, police reported. He was treated at Casualty hospital and was later removed to his home. His condition is undetermined.

Boyles' Indictment In Alabama Fails

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Federal District Judge W. I. Grubb sustained the plea in abatement presented yesterday in behalf of Aubrey Boyles, former district attorney at Mobile, today. This automatically annulled the indictment against Boyles returned by a Federal grand jury at Mobile, in which it was charged that Boyles was in unlawful possession and had unlawfully transported four bottles of liquor.

PRINCE GEORGES BANK WILL MOVE SATURDAY

Institution Is Going Into New Building, Having Outgrown Present Quarters.

TRACTION SHARES ACTIVE

By F. W. PATTERSON.

The Prince Georges Bank of Hyattsville, Md., is making preparations for a general celebration Saturday on the occasion of the removal of the institution from its present quarters to its new home, just completed.

The new bank building is located on the corner of Marion street and the Baltimore-Washington boulevard with a 30-foot frontage on the highway and a depth of 66 feet running back on Marion street. The building is a classic structure of Bedford stone, the portico being supported by two Ionic columns, between which are bronze entrance doors leading into a marble vestibule. The main banking room is of a colonial type, with a gallery in the rear and a modern vault in the center. The decorative scheme is ivory white, with fixtures of green and white marble. Robert L. Harris, of Baltimore, was the architect, and the building contract was carried out by C. Wohlegemuth, jr., Washington contractor.

The bank has a capital of $60,000, a surplus of $100,000 and gross assets of $1,700,000, and its continued growth under the direction of J. Enos Ray, president, made necessary the erection of the commodious building which will be occupied Saturday. Three years ago a modern bank building was erected at Mount Rainier for the accommodation of a branch of the Prince Georges Bank at that point. Other officers of the institution are T. Howard Duckett, Neuman G. Dudrow and Perry Boswell, vice presidents, and T. M. Jones, cashier.

Capital Traction Sells Heavily.

Capital Traction shares held the limelight in yesterday's rather more active session on the Washington Stock Exchange, and while the buying appeared to have come from general sources, it is probable there was concerted demand. With opening sale of 20 shares made at 104, the previous level, another lot of 40 shares was turned over at that quotation, but a fractional drop to 103⅞ occurred on next sale, involving 30 shares, and an eighth was parted with on final sales of 12 shares, the stock closing at 103¾. It was marked up as the session ended, 103¾ bid, asked 104.

Washington Railway & Electric preferred was in favor, and 40 shares, in four transactions, changed hands at 91, while Potomac Electric Power preferred was easier at 108, with but 5 shares coming out. Peoples Drug Stores preferred sold at 104, a drop of 1 point, and Merchants Transfer & Storage preferred was firm at 101. National Mortgage & Investment preferred became easier under selling pressure, 120 shares moving at 8¼, and 70 shares at 8.

Interest in the bond market was limited to the utilities. Potomac Electric Power consolidated 5s gained to 101, while the general 7s returned to 106. Capital Traction 5s were easier at 101. Washington Gas Light 5s gained to 100⅝, and the 6s, in the smaller denomination, sold at 102¾.

Inquire About German Bonds.

Judging from the number of inquiries received by the Riggs National Bank, residents of Washington and its environs are big holders of German state, city and municipal association loan bonds, which are about to be revalued and exchanged into "loan-liquidation" debts by the German government. Neither the Riggs National Bank, which has been appointed as the local exchange agency for the revaluation plan, nor brokers who were largely interested in the original sale of the bonds would estimate on the possible total.

Heavier Freight Movement.

Reports just received from the railroads of the country and made public yesterday by the bureau of railway economics show that the daily average movement of freight cars on steam railroads in June was the highest for any June on record, amounting to 30.1 miles a day.

This was an increase of 1.7 miles over the best previous June, which was in 1917, and was an increase of 2.6 miles over June last year and 5 miles above June, 1924.

Francis M. Savage Returns.

Francis M. Savage, president of the Central Savings Bank, has returned to the city after an absence of several weeks, during which he motored through the New England States.

A syndicate composed of Pynchon & Co., West & Co., W. S. Hammons & Co. and John Nickerson & Co. has purchased and will offer later in the week a new issue of 15,000 shares of $7 dividend preferred stock of Derby Gas & Electric Corporation.

Derby Gas & Electric Corporation owns more than 99.9 per cent of the capital stock of the Derby Gas & Electric Co., and the entire capital stock of the Wallingford Gas Light Co. The purpose of the issue is to provide in part for acquisition of the capital stock of the two companies, the retirement of underlying securities and for other corporate purposes.

Politics Holds Stage.

"With approach of fall elections, politics doubtless will become the center of interest again in the near future," according to Hartshone, Fales & Co., who say that the various conventions will enable the leaders to bring forth all the vote catching issues and have them threshed out and threshed about in the old game of trying to snare the supposedly elusive vote. The reviewer points out that so far as business is concerned there does not seem to be any issue which is an outstanding problem except in the minds of the politicians. The average voter probably gets more of a thrill out of the prohibition question than any other. "All this sounds good for the stock market. European affairs have ceased to cause any concern here, though the British coal trouble and the French financial situation merit watching."

Subscription Lists Closed.

Subscription lists of the $5,500,000 Havana Electric Railway Co. 25-year 5½ per cent gold debentures with 25-year subscription warrants for common stock have been closed, as the issue has been heavily over-subscribed, announced Frank P. Morse, local manager of the office of J. & W. Seligman & Co., yesterday. Other bankers participating in the offering were Speyer & Co., Hemphill, Noyes & Co., and Otis & Co.

PRICES BREAK SHARPLY IN LATE SELLING WAVE

Steel Reeacts After Scoring New High of 159⅝; Rails Are Hit Hardest.

FEW SHARES HOLD UP

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Aug. 17.—Prices broke sharply among the leaders this afternoon on the stock exchange. Net losses of from 1 to 7½ points over yesterday's close were scored. After an early bulge, which carried United States Steel common up to 159⅝, a new high for all time, General Motors to 210¼, and bettered the price positions of many other industrials and standard rails, the market broke under heavy bear pressure and the general trend was downward during the remainder of the session. The reaction was regarded in many quarters as a natural corrective of the technical position of stocks, which had become somewhat impaired by the recent sharp rise.

Undoubtedly, however, the downward movement was accelerated by the revelation that brokers' loans last week increased an additional $32,000,000, making a gain of about $117,000,000 in the last two weeks. That expansion was interpreted as evidence that public interest had been broadening and that stocks to that extent had passed from strong into weak hands. Call money ruled at 4½ per cent on the stock exchange, but easily was obtainable on the outside for 4¼.

The late selling movement had its immediate inception in the circulation of reports that the United States Steel "melon," in all probability, would be held over until some time next year. Steel broke 5 points from the early high levels under the tidal wave of selling that followed the circulation of this report. Other stocks naturally tumbled as Steel gave way.

United States Cast Iron Pipe, General Motors, Baldwin Locomotive, Allied Chemical and Dye. Dupont and other popular industrials and specialties were driven downward anywhere from 1 to 7 points, while among the rails losses ranging from 1 to 6 points were the rule in carriers like Atchison, Chesapeake & Ohio, New York Central, Union Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line and Norfolk & Western. The two last named were the hardest hit. The market had revealed a highly nervous condition prevalent from the opening, and the break in Steel, helped along by professional selling on a large scale, quickly turned the general list downward.

Keener discrimination in buying, which has become manifest in the last few days, again was apparent in today's operations. Activity for the most part was restricted to a comparatively small number of stocks representing corporations strongly intrenched.

Rock Island was an outstanding feature among the rails, staging an advance which carried it to 62⅝, the highest level at which it has sold since the stock was listed on the exchange back in 1917. Buying of the stock, which was of large proportions, unquestionably was influenced in a large degree by the optimistic remarks of E. N. Brown, chairman of the board, relative to conditions in the road's territory. July results, he expects, will exceed those of June, which heretofore stood as the best month of the year. No new financing will be required for possibly ten months, and then will be based entirely upon the 1927 budget.

For the last two weeks selling of Freeport Texas has been persistent in the face of a strong market elsewhere. Today the stock had a sharp break and numerous rumore were set afloat. On the one hand it was said that liquidation had been going on because certain wells were losing production; on the other it was rumored that a bear clique was forcing down the price. Later on assertion with a semiofficial flavor was made that Freeport's production was not diminishing, but that on the contrary everything was going along nicely, and the stock rallied from its early lows.

Pere Marquette was a strong spot in the late trading today, advancing to 103½, new high ground, in the face of the general reaction. The oil stocks were quiet and for the most part suffered only fractional net losses as compared with yesterday's close. The motors were all heavy in the last hour in sympathy with General Motors.

Strength in Spanish and Danish exchange rates featured dealings in foreign exchange bills today. The trend was generally higher. Rates on Copenhagen advanced 30 points, virtually reaching gold parity. Japanese exchange advanced above 48 cents to the highest level since 1923.

CURB MARKET REVIEW.

New York, Aug. 17 (By the Associated Press).—Further irregularity developed in today's curb market. Brokers reported a rather widespread tendency to take profits, whenever possible, because of the growing uneasiness over the credit situation, while pools were disposed to await the next definite trend on the "big board" before resuming their operations.

Despite the reassuring statements on the soundness of the oil industry, the petroleum shares failed to break out of the narrow trading area within which they have been floundering for the last few weeks. Losses of a point or two in Vacuum, Reiter-Foston and Ti dal Osage were counteracted by similar gains in Gelena Signal, Lone Star and Warner Quinlan, but the turnover in these issues was small.

General Motors new stock, traded in on a "when issued" basis, was the outstanding individual feature, breaking nearly four points to 137¼. Other active motors showed mixed fractional changes, but some uneasiness developed over the rumors of further cuts on some of the new models now making their appearance. Trading in the baking shares quieted down, with price changes narrow. The coal stocks held fairly steady.

New peak prices for the year were registered by such ordinarily inactive issues as American Cigar, Blaw Knox, General Electric Co. of Germany, Savannah Sugar and Stanley Co. of America, buying of the last-named being influenced by the reported acquisition of new theaters.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Aug. 17. (By the Associated Press).—Active selling which developed toward the last in the wheat market brought about a sharp downward swing of wheat values and the selling was largely due to 12,634,000 bushels increase shown by the available supply of wheat in North America and Great Britain and afloat on ocean passage. Closing quotations for wheat were unsettled 1 to 1½c net lower, corn unchanged to ⅜c off, oats ¼ to ⅜c down, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to a rise of 17 cents.

Much of the selling pressure in the wheat market came from houses with connections northwest, although reports from Canada, told of general rains causing delay to the Canadian harvest. On the other hand, advices from the American northwest indicated better threshing returns than had been looked for especially as to Minnesota and upper North Dakota. Until near the end of the day, however, the reports of harvest delay in Canada, together with word of inclement conditions for harvesting in Europe, Germany in particular, did a good deal to uphold the wheat market here.

Scantiness of export demand for wheat, though, was of considerable effect as an incentive to sell as the day drew to an end. A leading Chicago speculator was conspicuous among the sellers, and there was also liquidation by discouraged holders who found the market without any adequate support. A prevailing view taken was that with liberal stocks everywhere and with no special urgency to immediate demand the effect of delayed movement of spring wheat either north or south of Canadian line had been more than counterbalanced for at least the time being.

Corn and oats reacted with wheat. Weather conditions were regarded as favorable for the new corn crop, and it was pointed out that number 2 yellow corn at Philadelphia, was being quoted 6¾ cents under Chicago September as against ½c under in the Chicago market.

Provisions were firmer on account of the mid-month showing of warehouse stocks available in Chicago.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Aug. 17. (By A. P.).—A further advance in the cotton market today met increased offerings. After selling at 17.02 early, December contracts reacted to 16.68 and closed at 16.76, compared with 16.87 at the close yesterday. The general market closed steady at net declines of 11 to 15 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 8 points to a decline of 2 points, generally 1 to 8 points higher, on reports of further showers in the South and renewed covering. The market showed considerable strength in early trading with October and January contracts selling up to 17.05, net advances of about 10 to 15 points on active positions and new high ground for the movement. On the whole however, unfavorable weather and crop advices, appeared to create less demand than recently, and at the advance of nearly a cent a pound from recent low levels, the market met a good deal of realizing.

Renewed flurries of covering occurred during midmay on the forecast for further showers in the South and detailed reports of the weather bureau showing showers or rains at many points with heavy precipitation in Oklahoma and Arkansas. Demand was supplied on comparatively moderate bulges, and liquidation continued with prices reaching the lowest levels of the day in late trading when October sold at 16.68 and January at 16.76, or 12 to 19 points net lower. Last prices were a few points from the lowest on covering.

No improvement was noted in the general average of private crop reports reaching here from the South, numerous complaints of deterioration as a result of insects or other causes being received. There was also bullish comment on the day's weather news, but failure of these features to stimulate more aggressive buying was regarded as indicating that the technical position of the market had eased on the advance from last Friday's low level.

JOHNSON AND MURRAY OPPOSE TIGERS IN TWIN BILL

Rickard Plans Battle in Courts

Legalized Boxing Now "Tottering," Brower Declares.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Tex Rickard trained a battery of legal guns on the State license committee today preliminary to seeking court action to compel issuance of a license to Jack Dempsey to fight Gene Tunney at the Yankee stadium on September 16, for the world's heavyweight championship.

Separate actions on behalf of Rickard, as well as Dempsey, are expected to be filed in the State supreme court promptly, probably by tomorrow. Lawyers representing both of them worked all day today on the necessary legal papers after conferences with the promoter and Gene Normile, the champion's business agent.

The court moves will take the form of requests for a writ of mandamus requiring the license committee to show cause why it should not issue a permit to Dempsey, whose bout with Tunney has received the sanction of the State athletic commission, governing boxing.

RICKARD'S legal move is his last resort in the controversy, but it has already received strong impetus from the opinion handed down yesterday by State Attorney General Ottinger, who suggested mandamus proceed-

Stars Score In Women's Tennis

Molla Mallory, Miss Ryan Triumph Easily in Titular Play.

Youths Extended to Win; Mrs. Wightman Brilliant.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—The path to the tennis crown laid aside by Helen Wills offered no serious obstacles for favorites in the second round of the national championship today.

Veteran women players who rank high among the contenders after ten to twenty years of competition on the courts, stood out in the impressive push of seven seeded contestants, with only mild opposition to test the mettle of Elizabeth Ryan, Mrs. Molla B. Mallory and Mary K. Browne.

Youth had its place in the second round triumphs, however. Mrs. Alfred H. Chapin, jr., Springfield, Mass.; Martha Bayard, of Short Hills, N. J., and Penelope Anderson, of Richmond, Va., youngest of the seven seeded players, came through their matches successfully.

MISS ANDERSON, barely survived a vigorously contested three-set match against the former national indoor champion, Mrs. B. E. Cole, of Boston, 6—0, 1—6, 6—3.

It remained for famous players of other days to supply the color and excitement of the round. Mrs. George W. Wightman, the former Hazel Hotchkiss, who rose to the national pinnacle seventeen years ago, scored in straight sets over

CY CUMMINGS IS CHIEF AT LAUREL

Chevy Chase Sportsman to Be Head of Popular Track.

OFFICIAL announcement of the election of Andrew J. "Cy" Cummings, of Chevy Chase, Md., to the presidency of the Maryland Laurel Fair association, was made last night at Saratoga, N. Y., according to Associated Press dispatches.

Mr. Cummings' new position will find him taking an active part in the conduct of the 23-day race meeting of the Laurel track this fall. Laurel is the most popular of the race courses in the vicinity of Washington and the fine meetings and worthy purses have earned it a high regard among both turfmen and followers of the races.

THE election of Mr. Cummings to the presidency of Laurel marks but another of the important positions which he has held. He has long been a prominent figure in Maryland political, racing and hunting circles and was elected to the Maryland legislature four times.

Mr. Cummings always has been a close follower of sports, and it was while at Georgetown university in his college days that he was regarded as one of the star linesmen of his time. He was one of the biggest players ever on the eam, towering 6 feet 4 inches and weighing 245 pounds.

League Head Absolves Carey

Heydler Says Ousted Trio Would Leave With Clean Bill.

Stamps Dissension as "Mistaken Zeal" of Players.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—The attempt of three veteran Pittsburgh National league players to oust Fred Clarke, from the bench, was termed "mistaken zeal" to further what they honestly believed to be for the best interests of the club, John Heydler, president of the league said here tonight, after holding extended hearings into the controversy. The league executive added that should the players, Max Carey, Carson Bigbee and Babe Adams leave the team, "they will do so with a good name."

Summing up his findings, the league executive, whose only action was to clear the names of the players, said:

"I cannot go back of the right of the officials of a league club to release, suspend, or ask waivers on any of its players, nor would I wish to do so if I had the right; but it is my opinion after a most complete and thorough hearing of this case that none of the three players—Carey, Bigbee, and Adams—has been guilty of willful insubordination or malicious intent to disrupt or injure his club."

Heydler came to Pittsburgh to inquire into the affair when he was appealed to by Carey, who contended that he and his two team mates had not been given a fair hearing before their dismissal which

Rain Forces Teams to Idle

Pilot Harris Pleased With Nats' 1927 Outlook.

Catcher April Passed Up—Goes to Columbus Team.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

JUDGING from the small crowd on hand at the Georgia Avenue stadium yesterday the weather man did the fans quite a favor, for by raining out the single contest scheduled between the Nats and Tigers, a double-header has been carded for this afternoon, giving the faithful two games for one admission.

But, while forcing a postponement yesterday did no real harm, should old Jup Pluv get busy again today, considerable damage will be done, for there are no other dates available for the staging of these battles locally and they would have to be shifted to Detroit on the Nats' final swing through the Western sector next month.

George Murray and Walter Johnson will do the flinging for the Harrismen here this afternoon and some great contests are looked for with fourth place at stake. Only a few points separate the two teams, and a double win would help considerably, especially as Philadelphia and Cleveland, the second and third-place teams, are battling each other in the Sesquicentennial city. Cobb is becoming mighty secretive in his old age and would give no idea as to what pair of flingers he planned to use.

MANAGER HARRIS and President Griffith were closeted more than an hour in conference shortly after noon yesterday, but, as far as could be learned, their talk was largely general, with the weather and the chance of playing yesterday figuring prominently.

Bucky did admit, however, that he and the club president reviewed the Washington situation, baseballically speaking, and that both are well satisfied with the Nats' 1927 outlook. "We have just about gotten rid of all our dead wood," Stanley stated. "During the winter, we gave away Nemo Leibold, Everett Scott, Bobby Veach and Allen Russell, while since the season has been under way, we have turned loose Joe Bush, Hank Severeid and Johnny Tobin ,the only remaining veterans on whom we were not banking much. Now I figure that we are in pretty good shape and that, with McNeely and Myer showing steady improvement, we are all set except for our mound staff.

"And I am not worrying much about our pitching department, either," Stan concluded. "Marberry, Murray and Crowder look like 'the berries,' Johnson and Coveleskie look to be far from through, Morrell has shown that he has a future, while I am getting great reports about Lisenbee and Van Alystine, the two rookies we recently signed.

"Down South, they rate Lisenbee as just about Crowder's equal, even though his record is not quite so good as was the General's. Then Irving Hadley and one or two other of our youngsters out on option are showing steady improvement. Take this bunch and add one or two others that Scout Engel is bound to scare up and I think we will be pretty well prepared next year in a pitching way."

BENNIE APRIL, who has been starring behind the bat for the Knickerbockers and Rialtos, and who has been performing in fine style for the University of Virginia frosh, has been trying for a berth with the Nats. He was advised yesterday, however, that he is not rated quite up to big-league specifications, and will leave the Capital City today to join the Columbus American association outfit.

President Carr decided to give him a chance on the recommendation of George Marshall, Washington's big collar and cuff man.

Sox Steal Six Bases Beating Yanks, 5 to 3

New York, Aug. 17 (By A. P.). The Chicago White Sox won an abbreviated five-inning game from the Yankees here today, 5 to 3. Rain stopped the game in the second half of the sixth inning in which Chicago had scored one run.

The Sox knocked Hoyt out in the third inning, scoring four runs on four hits, a base on balls and two steals. Chicago stole six bases on Pat Collins, the wet ball being partly responsible. Connally was effective except in the fourth inning when New York bunched three hits for as many runs.

Nats Buy Pitcher From Little Rock

President Clark Griffith last night announced the outright purchase of Pitcher Carroll from the Little Rock club of the Southern association, but he was unable to state whether the lad would report immediately or not until the end of the Dixie season.

Carroll is a right-hander, only 19 years of age, and, according to Scout Joe Engel, has plenty of stuff but is inclined to be slightly wild. He is a big fellow, about the size of Walter Johnson, and is so highly touted that the Nats are willing to take a chance on his developing control.

Johnny Farrell's 146 Leads Pro Qualifiers

Garden City, N. Y., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Johnny Farrell, of Quaker Ridge, who probably led in more golf qualification rounds than any other player, today showed the way in the Eastern district tests for the national professional championship, 146 for the 36 holes.

Eleven players were to qualify.

Johnny Farrell, Quaker Ridge, 75, 67—142; Cyril Walker, New York, 75, 70—145; Leo Diegel, New York, 76, 69—145; Tommy Harmon, Hudson River, 73, 73—146; Jim Barnes, Rockwood Hall, 73, 75—148; Gene Sarazen, Fresh Meadow, 77, 72—149; Pat Doyle, Elmsford, 75, 75—150; Bobby Cruickshank, Progress, 74, 77—151; Mike Brady, Winged Foot, 80, 71—151; Fred Canausa, West Point, 79, 73—152; Arthur DeMane, Sound View, 78, 74—152; John Golden, North Jersey, 78, 74—152; Joe Turnesa, Fairview, 75, 77—152.

Southworth's Homers Defeat Robins, 8 to 7

St Louis, Mo., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—The Cardinals staged a five-run rally in the seventh inning here today and took the series opener from Brooklyn, 8 to 7. The victory advanced the Cards a half-game closer to first place position. The Pittsburgh Pirates were idle today, their games with Boston being rained out.

Southworth poled two homers, one occurring in the seventh with two on base.

Bush Puzzles Giants And Cubs Win, 7 to 0

Chicago, Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Guy Bush held New York to two scattered hits today, while Chicago bunched hits off McQuillan and Scott and shut out the visitors, 7 to 0, in the first game of the series. Only one visitor got beyond first base, and he was left stranded on third.

Grimm led the attack for the locals with a single, double and triple, and was responsible for driving in four of the Cubs' runs.

A's on Tribe's Heels After Double Victory

Philadelphia, Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—The Athletics opened the battle for second place today by taking a double-header from Cleveland, 9-4 and 6-4. The Mackmen had their batting togs on and used up five of Speaker's best hurlers. Both games were cinched with batting rallies in the third inning.

Dave Barbee, one of Mack's new outfielders, hit his first big league homer in the second game. French contributed seven of the local's 27 safeties. Burns added two doubles to his total for the season.

AROMAGNE IS GIVEN AS GOOD THING AT SARATOGA

Collyer Likes Transfer in Second

Blue Ridge in Soft Spot in the Fifth, Says Expert.

Reputation Picked in Feature at Lincoln Field Track.

By BERT E. COLLYER.

YEA, BO, the honeymoon is over—when the bride commences telling what a wonderful man her first husband was. Just then with the bases full, up stepped Walter Pearce—well what's the use, go ask her yourself. Putting all jokes aside, the happy chatter wafted from Saratoga is AROMAGNE—tough moniker, I'll tell the cockeyed world, but by the same token the filly's middle name is Speed.

In that last effort she was all but knocked down, but when she got back in her stride she finished running over horses. I look for a juicy price—the Widener entry will rule favorite. HAT BRUSH is the proverbial "dark horse" and there was considerable overnight play. An dat's dat.

TRANSFER, which has been given a chicken prep, was another overnight commission horse, looks as if the "We boys" and the yesmen will have a field day—one with putting the beer on the other MIDINETTE, LIASON and MUSIC GIRL for what is left.

MILLWICK in his present form has a slight call over CARTOONIST, which will rule a short priced favorite. The latter is getting good but usually needs a race under his belt. DAZZLER is finer than split silk and has a chance to spill the frijoles.

BLUE RIDGE has been dropped into a soft spot in the fifth race. The two megs on him looks like carte blanche to the old mint.

LADDIE in the closing event is another eagle bird. This is one of the nicest maidens in training.

REPUTATION, the horse about which so much has been written, is dropped into a snug spot in the fifth and programmed feature out at Lincoln fields. "Uncle Dick" and the balance of the "insiders" will be riding today. The Bedwell entry holds the balance safe.

ISLAND FAIRY is taken to trim the old "Buzzer" Blarneystone—ask Milton—in the closing dash. At that, the Harned representative will go mighty well.

The same can be said of NOR'EASTER in the sixth. The latter has a full five-point call over this field. Ye-wekkum!

*Field.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—Lady Raglan, $5.70, $3.70, $3.40; Lady Braxted, $4.50, $4.10; Four Sixty, $14.20.

Lady Raglan, going much improved under hustling ride, moved into lead with a rush and held sway for entire trip to win well in hand. Lady Braxted suffered interference and was ridden wide but came steadily in stretch and was up in last strides for second place. Four Sixty raced prominently for entire trip.

FOURTH RACE—Five furlongs. Purse, $1,400 added. For 2-year-olds; claiming. Start good. Won easily. Went to post at 3:27. Off at 3:28. Winner, C. E. Durnell's ch. f. (2), by Sir Berkeley—Miriam. Trained by owner. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:47 1-5, 1:00.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—Lost Lady, $7.80, $3.90, $3.10; Old Lace, $4.80, $3.90; Sophronia Fair, $4.10.

Lost Lady, away well and given a hustling ride, raced into good lead at once and held others safe and won well in hand. Old Lace was taken back sharply soon after start and was far out of it for first quarter, but saved much ground and held on gamely in final drive. Sophronia Fair showed a good effort, but tired near end.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,800 added. For 3-year-olds and upward; handicap. Start good. Won driving. Went to post at 3:55. Off at 3:56. Winner, C. E. Durnell's ch. g. (3), by Rock Flint—Sleive Bloom. Trained by owner. Time, 0:24, 0:49 1-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:38 3-5, 1:45 1-5. (New track record.)

Two-dollar mutuels paid—Smiling Gus, $11.00, $4.60, $3.00; Barbara, $9.30, $4.00; Malcolm B., Jr., $3.70.

Smiling Gus, well handled and kept well up from start, held on well in final drive and scored lucky victory. Barbara, much the best, was taken back repeatedly in early stages, was ridden extremely wide in stretch, but would have won with a stronger ride near end. Malcolm B., Jr. showed good speed and held on gamely when urged hard, but had no mishaps.

SIXTH RACE—Seven furlongs. Purse, $1,600 added. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won handily. Went to post at 4:22. Off at 4:25. Winner, H. G. Bedwell's br. h. (5), by Cudgel—Cypher Code. Trained by owner. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:46 4-5, 1:12 1-5, 1:25 1-5. (New track record.)

Two-dollar mutuels paid—Senator Norris, $7.90, $5.10, $3.70; Blockhead, $11.00, $6.80; Thistlewood, $5.60.

Senator Norris, going in his best form, moved into the lead fast soon after start and, holding on well, won with speed in reserve. Blockhead, far out of it for half a mile, began moving up fast when reaching stretch and finished going faster than winner after closing a big gap. Thistlewood showed a fine effort throughout.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,500 added. For 3-year-olds and upward; claiming. Start good. Won easily. Went to post at 4:51. Off at 4:53. Winner, C. R. Wright's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—Happy Bob, $8.90, $4.00, $3.20; Bolivar Bond, $5.50, $4.50; Phidias, $4.60.

Happy Bob, going in his best form, moved into lead when called on before reaching stretch and won as his rider pleased. Bolivar Bond, going in suddenly improved form, came from far back and finished with a rush. Phidias showed most early speed, but tired in stretch.

RESULTS AT SARATOGA SPRINGS, AUGUST 17, 1926

(By the Associated Press.)

FIRST RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000. For 3-year-olds; claiming. Start good. Won driving. Went to post at 3:02. Off at 3:07. Winner, C. Cafarelli's ch. f. (3), by Polymelian—Cushion. Trained by W. Miller. Time, 1:13 4-5.

ORMES, NOTICE.

There is a letter in The Post sports department for Sam Ormes, manager of the Northern football team.

Over two billion
smoked a month!
—how do you explain it?

Natural tobacco taste
that's the answer!

IT'S a difference hard to put into words—but it takes no expert to taste it. Character; natural tobacco character, natural good taste—get that in a cigarette and you get everything!

For four consecutive years, Chesterfield has remained America's fastest-growing cigarette; over two billion are smoked per month. Do men want natural tobacco taste? The record speaks for itself!

PLAZA TEAM LEADING IN PLAYGROUND TRACK MEET

1,350 Youths Vieing For Post Cup

Tipton Breaks Only Record as Shower Halts Events.

Competition Resumed Today; McCullough Wins Half Mile.

PLAZA playground was leading the point scorers with 14½ in the third annual interplayground field and track meet yesterday when rain called a halt. The events will be resumed this morning at 10:30 o'clock, when the boys who have not competed will get their chance.

Plaza's lead means little, as twelve other grounds have figured in the scoring and not quite half the meet is completed. Those who have scored so far are: Cook, 10; Columbia Road, 9½; Henry, 8; Georgetown, 7; Garfield, 6; Johnson, 5; Burroughs, 4; Rosedale, 3; Hayes, 3; Bloomingdale, 1, and Brookland, 1.

The soggy condition of the track and jumping pits no doubt kept several of the youngsters from breaking records, but one lad, Tipton, running for the Henry playground in the 70-pound class, 50-yard dash, overcame these handicaps and lowered the time in that event from 7 seconds to 6 4-5.

THE ½-mile race, a new event on the playground program, brought out fourteen contestants and in many ways it was the feature of the day. Ben McCullough, of Garfield, dark-horsed his way to a victory in the event over Charlie White, the favorite, after one of the hardest fights ever witnessed in playground competition.

McCullough finished about three inches in front of White, and his success was due principally to courage. The time was 2 minutes and 16 seconds.

Although the day was marred by rain, those in authority in the playground office were highly elated over the number of youthful athletes who competed. Expecting about 1,200 youngsters to participate, the officials were pleasantly surprised when 1,350 future greats in the athletic world pounced upon them. After the final event today, the boys who have won first, second and third places will be awarded medals donated by The Washington Post, and the winning team will be presented with The Post cup by Mrs. Susie Root Rhodes, supervisor of playgrounds.

Rain Postpones Bouts; Fink-Ruth Meet Tonight

Intermittent showers all day yesterday and the threatening condition of the skies last evening caused Heinie Miller to postpone his Kenilworth boxing program until tonight, when the card will be presented intact, weather permitting.

The main event on the card is calculated to furnish local fans with a real fistic treat, perhaps the best yet offered in the nearby arena. This contest will bring together Babe Ruth, the sensational young junior lightweight of Philadelphia, and Frankie Fink, a newcomer in Eastern boxing circles, who has made a hit in New York with his fine boxing and punching ability.

A strong supporting cast has been provided for the main bout, the four preliminaries calling for 28 rounds of boxing. Tex Stovall is to meet2Bud Nolan in one, Jack Turner opposes Willie Curry in another, and in the third eight-rounder Phil Raymond will meet an opponent yet to be chosen.

The Sportswoman

By DOROTHY E. GREENE

A GROUP of six Pioneer Girl Scouts, headed by Mrs. Geritt Miller, jr., went to Camp Adventure, Kensington, Md., yesterday for a three-day intensive training, which will complete their Pioneer requirements. Incidentally the group initiated the new log cabin which was completed by them last week.

The group included Lois Hall, Ellen Anderson, Julia Bell, Julia Whitson, Lydia Hunt and Adelaide Woodley. Rhoda Blose, Carrie Aal and Betty Brundage, the other scouts taking the course, are at Camp Bradley and will miss the finishing touches in pioneer work.

GIRLS GET MEDALS.

Three Weightman playground girls were awarded bronze athletic badges for excellence in tests which included balancing, racing, hiking, goal throwing and folk dancing. The winners are: Susie Kettner, Minnie Baggett and Helen Curtain.

Swimmers Ready.

Entries for the annual interplayground swimming meet, in which swimmers from the eastern and western sections of the city will compete tomorrow, have been announced by the municipal playground department. The meet will take place in the Georgetown pool, Thirty-third and Volta place, at 2 o'clock.

Rosedale and Georgetown both have strong teams entered, and it is expected that the meet will be closely contested. Much interest has been shown in the result of the meeting between Helen Streeks, of Rosedale, and Ione Whaler, of Georgetown, both of whom are well-known swimmers. They will meet in the free style, plunge and fancy-diving events.

Miss Streeks is entered for the free style, side stroke, fancy diving and plunge for distance, and Miss Whaler will swim in the free style, back stroke, fancy diving and plunge.

According to a new ruling, girls in the 12-year and under class are limited to two races and one other event, while swimmers in the 13-year and over class may enter two races and two other events. Entrants are:

13-year class, free style—Georgetown, Ione Whaler and Catherine Frenzel; Rosedale, Helen Streeks, Helen Ryan and Hester Wood.

Side stroke—Georgetown, Catherine Frenzel and Gladys Ballinger; Rosedale, Helen Streeks, Margaret Callison and Esther Botts.

Breast stroke—Georgetown, Helen Cooper; Rosedale, Gertrude Hay and Helen Harris.

Back stroke—Georgetown, Ione Whaler, Sadie Klatti, and Helen Cooper; Rosedale, Gladys Spahr, Mary O'Connor, and Margaret Callison.

12-year class, free style—Georgetown, Clara Wren, Jessie Nimnom and Virginia Jones; Rosedale, Rufina King, Edna Hock and Dorothy Bishoff.

Side stroke—Georgetown, Clara Wren and Mae King; Rosedale, Hazel Wolfe and Ada Lusby.

Breast stroke—Georgetown, Jessie Nimnom and Thelma Gooding; Rosedale, Catherine Harris, Rufina King, and Ellen Swingle.

Candle race—Georgetown, Thelma Gooding, Mae King and Virginia Jones; Rosedale, Anne Hickey, Dorothy Bishoff and Catherine Harris.

Both classes, plunge—Georgetown, Ione Whaler, Catherine Frenzel and Margaret Hamberger; Rosedale, Helen Streeks, Gladys Spahr and Helen Ryan.

Diving for objects—Georgetown, Gladys Ballinger, Sadie Klatti and Catherine Frenzel; Rosedale, Mary O'Connor, Hazel Wolfe and Margaret Hickey.

Fancy diving—Georgetown, Ione Whaler, Marie McKernan and Helen Cooper; Rosedale, Helen Streeks, Gladys Spahr and Margaret Callison.

Life-saving—Georgetown, Clara Wren, Mae King and Margaret Hamberger; Rosedale, Gertrude Hay, Gladys Spahr and Margaret Simnel.

Beginners race—Georgetown, Lillie Greenberg, Sylvia Baronson and Thelma Abell; Rosedale, Barbara Baril, Runell Stork and Sarah Mulbery.

Storm Halts Tennis.

The storm ruined some of the initial matches in the interplayground tennis doubles tournament yesterday, but the meetings will be arranged this afternoon if the courts dry sufficiently for play.

Tomorrow's match between Althea Hall and Blanche Walker, of Burroughs, and Helen Streeks and Bertha Supper, of Rosedale, has been postponed because Miss Streeks is listed to swim in the interpool swimming meet to be held in the afternoon.

Other matches for tomorrow are: Ruby Riley and Evelyn Ager, of Montrose, vs. Betty Harrington and Mary Tolman, of Chevy Chase, at Montrose. Judith Fishburn and Louise Raff, of Mitchell park, vs. Priscilla Woodley and Katherine Pagan, of Happy Hollow, at Happy Hollow. Bessie Buchanan and Sally Ames, of Iowa, vs. Bertha Ryan and Emily Harrington, of Bloomingdale, at Bloomingdale. Mary Ellen Totten and Phoebe Parier, of Virginia avenue, vs. Marie Callan and Helen Singer, of Hoover, at Hoover.

AZTECS VS. ROBINS.

The Aztec Juniors meet the Robin Juniors on Diamond No. 1 at 5 o'clock this afternoon. For games with the former call Lincoln 8624.

W. & M. GRID SQUAD DUE SEPT. 1

Matsu Only Regular In Backfield to Be Available.

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—The first call of the gridiron at William and Mary college will be sounded September 1 by Coach Tasker. More than 60 candidates for the 1926 eleven are expected to report for the initial workouts on Cary field.

No small task will face the coaches in lining up new material to step in three of the backfield positions and as many or more line vacancies where the veterans of last year have left big gaps. Capt. Art Matsu, William and Mary's Japanese star, will be back at quarterback, but Cain, Irwin, and Charles will not be behind him again this year.

Capt. Elliott graduated in June and will leave vacant a tackle position, while Parsons and House will be lost to the line. Probably the most serious blow the team received was in the loss of "Meb" Davis, one of the best wingmen in the south Atlantic territory.

The complete schedule follows:

September 25, Randolph-Macon at Williamsburg; October 2, Loyola, at Williamsburg; 9, Syracuse, at Syracuse; 16, Harvard, at Cambridge; 23, George Washington, at Williamsburg; 30, Lynchburg at Newport News; November 6, Columbia at New York; 13, Wake-Forest, at Norfolk; 25, Richmond at Richmond.

Commercial League Will Meet Tonight

An important meeting of the Commercial league will be held tonight at the Atlas Sports Shop, 927 D street northwest, at 8 o'clock, it was announced by President "Vic" Gauzza.

Hess Team Tackles Seaman Gunner Nine

The Hess A. C., of Southeast, will try for its fifteenth victory in eighteen starts tomorrow when it engages the Seaman Gunners team on the latter's field at Eleventh and O streets southeast. Elliott Deuterman or Bopp will pitch for Hess.

Washington Soccer Loop Meets Tonight

A meeting of the Washington Soccer league will be held tonight in Room 2 District building (playground office) at 8 o'clock. Two representatives from each team will attend the meeting. Teams who were in the league last year and others that intend to enter the soccer loop this season should be represented at the meeting as important business pertaining to the starting of the actual playing season will be discussed.

COKES VS. TATES.

The Coca Cola Midgets will meet the Bennie Tates tomorrow on Diamond No. 10 at 5 o'clock. For games in the midget division call Franklin 8831.

RED SOX SEEK ACTION.

A game for Sunday with an unlimited team, preferably out of town, is wanted by the Washington Red Sox. Harry Groves may be reached at 614 I street northeast.

KEANES VS. FALLS CHURCH.

The T. T. Keane Juniors will meet the Falls Church nine tomorrow on the Plaza at 5 o'clock. Joe Freschi and Frank DiNenna, Keane aces, are likely to divide the pitching. Ed Cinotti will play short.

Golden Guinea Yearlings Sell

HILDRETH PAYS $7,000

For $9,000 Each at Auction

SARATOGA, Aug. 17.—Thirty-nine yearlings from W. B. Miller's Greenwich Stud, R. Belmont's Belray Farm, K. Gilpin's Kentmere Farm and the Short Grass Stud were knocked down at public auction in the Fasig-Tipton paddock here tonight. Climatic conditions were in sharp contrast to the preceding evening, and the clear skies and rising temperature were reflected in the attendance, which had returned to normal. The prices, too, were close to normal, for the 39 youngsters brought a total of $104,150, an average of $2,670 a head.

The Sagamore Stable contributed considerable to the evening's total, when it took two Golden Guinea youngsters for $9,000 each. Both of them were chestnut colts, one out of Planutess and the other out of Queen of the Water. The colts are bred almost identically alike, since Queen of the Water is an own daughter of Planutess.

John Whalen also stepped into the $9,000 class when he gave that amount for a bay colt by Wrack out of Ringling after being carried to that figure by the efforts of Jack Richardson to buy the colt.

The closing minutes of the sale were enlivened as S. C. Hildreth jumped into the arena for the first time to bid on a son of Fair Play—Yellow Sally. He stopped at $7,000, however, and J. Buckley carried the colt off for $7,100.

At the end of the sale two yearlings which Irvine Kort had bought at a previous sale were put up and resold.

"Pepco" Barry Off Kenilworth's Card

Prospects of an all-sandlot preliminary bout at Kenilworth tonight between "Pepco" Barry, of the Stantons and Auths, and Paul Healey, of the Linworths, were erased last night when it was learned that Barry is suffering from a boil on his neck, which will prevent his appearance. Healey, who has two knockouts to his credit here, will meet a substitute, it is said.

WOLF, ATTENTION.

Manager Rose, of the Smithfields, wants "Willie" Wolf to call him at Franklin 2481.

CRESCENTS, NOTICE!

Manager "Pop" Dulin, of the Crescents, is requested to phone Berwyn 108, between 6 and 7 o'clock, regarding a game with the Berwyn A. C.

JACK INVITES TUNNEY TO HIS CAMP

Champion Punishes Mates; Is Sued by Ray Cannon.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Jack Dempsey would like to have Gene Tunney visit him at the White Sulphur Springs training camp, near here, "to see a sample of what will happen next month in New York." The champion extended the invitation today to Bud Gorman, Tunney's chief sparring partner, who motored over from Lake Pleasant to see Dempsey go through his paces.

The party from Tunney's stronghold explained their presence by the fact that it was a light day on Tunney's program, the next sparring matches having been scheduled for tomorrow after four heavy days of ring work over the week-end.

The refusal of the State boxing commission's license committee to grant permission for the championship fight in this State next month made no change in the champion's training program today, nor will it in the future, his followers said.

DEMPSEY took on Jimmy Brown, negro middleweight, for the first bout of the day. A short tussle sufficed, and Phil Weisberger, heavyweight, entered the ring only to be knocked down after a short clash.

Jimmy Roberts, light-heavyweight, and Johnny Saxon, welterweight, were next on the card. In the champion's opinion the real test of the day came in the closing bout with Roberto Delfino, Argentine heavyweight.

There was a slight flurry in the Dempsey camp today when a process server appeared to serve notice on the champion of a suit brought by Ray J. Cannon, a Milwaukee attorney, to recover $29,450 alleged to be owed for legal services.

Cannon transacted business for Dempsey and Jack Kearns, his former manager, at one time, but Dempsey declared today that the money already has been paid. The sum sought represented not only payment for services, but also expense money and interest since 1918.

Hartford Insect Nine Registers Triple Play

A triple play was made by the Hartford Insects yesterday in their 10-7 victory over the Southern Insects. With two on base in the ninth, Riddle took a line drive and threw to Tucci, who relayed the ball to Dryzer. Fox led the Hartford attack with five hits, including two triples. For games with the Hartfords call Kindell Sampson at Franklin 6558-W.

Mount Rainier Meets Firemen Tomorrow

The Mount Rainier team, of Section A, Capital City league, will meet the District Firemen tomorrow, on the Mount Rainier field, at 5 o'clock. The Marylanders battled the Police nine to a 2-all score in an eight-inning game recently. Some comparison of the relative strength of the Labor day principals can be gathered after tomorrow's battle.

COMMUNITY JUNIORS PLAY.

The Jewish Community Juniors will play the Winsalls, champions of the Sport Mart league, today on diamond No. 4, at 4:30 o'clock. Goldstein, Denneberg and Lombard will report at the diamond.

G. U. GRIDMEN HONORED IN GUIDE

Long Runs by O'Neill, Plansky, Hagerty Are Cited.

WHILE the 1925 football season was replete with the usual number of thrilling and exceptional plays, of which the outstanding ones are recorded in the new football guide, yet there is a pleasant addition to the record of principal scoring plays, for in that category six runs of three of Georgetown's players are listed.

To "Bucky" O'Neill, one of last year's pony backfield, goes the top honors, for in the same game he ran 75 yards and 65 yards for touchdowns. Both of these long gallops were registered against King college, which was a 37 to 6 victim of the Blue and Gray machine.

Tony Plansky also made a distinguished run in the King college game, traveling just seven-tenths of the field—70 yards—for a six-pointer. This was Tony's longest excursion for a touchdown, although he made many others. He led the team in scoring. However, most of Tony's journeys over the last white marker came after short line bucks, ranging in distance from 1 yard up to 15.

ALTHOUGH eclipsed by his two mates, Capt. Jack Hagerty really made the most noteworthy runs for touchdowns for Georgetown last year. In the all-important game of the season with Fordham, Jack twice broke through his opponents from scrimmage to travel through an open field 40 yards before depositing the oval behind the crossbars.

Plansky also starred in this game, and both he and Hagerty received many selections on mythical All-American teams for the games they played that day.

In the Lehigh game Hagerty made another 40 yards for a touchdown, dodging through their entire team, returning a punt. In addition to his great speed, Hagerty was one of the shiftiest runners of the season in collegiate ranks, and, should he take a turn at professional football this fall, make a mighty good halfback for any team.

AN OPEN MIND MAY LEAD TO A FIND

UNLESS you have crammed a load of Prince Albert into that favorite pipe of yours, you simply haven't given your pipe a chance to do its stuff. No matter how contented you may think you are, there's a revelation in store for you—in the store where they sell P. A.!

On a sporting chance, you might say, thousands of others have tried Prince Albert. They've stayed with it! Because—they found P. A. cool as a breeze on a hill-top; sweet as a raise in pay; fragrant as springtime flowers. It didn't bite and it didn't parch.

There's one big reason for all of this: Prince Albert is real, blown-in-the-bottle quality tobacco. No other tobacco is like it—in fragrance, taste and performance in a pipe. That's why P. A. is known as the National Joy Smoke wherever pipes are smoked.

Keep an open mind on this subject. Maybe, after all, there is something to the wonderful tales you've been hearing about jimmy-pipe joy. Maybe? Why, there's no question about it. We know you've been missing the time of your life if you don't know Prince Albert.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

DOUBLE BILL LISTED FOR TODAY

There appears to be considerable discussion these days among the fans about First-baseman Joe Judge's future with the Nats. According to Pilot Harris, Joe's status is the same now as it has been for the past few years. "Our 'ivory hunter' has not been instructed to dig up any first-baseman," Stan stated, "but if, while he is looking at some other players, he happens to run across a promising piece of doorway talent, he undoubtedly would buy him, for we're always looking for good players, no matter what position they play or how we're fixed in that particular berth.

"The main reason why Judge is not in there day in and day out this season, as has been the case in the past, is that in other years we have not had a man of Moon Harris' caliber hanging around. He is a right-handed hitter, a good fielder, and gives me a chance to withdraw a southpaw against left-handed pitchers. Then again, there are certain pitchers that he always has been able to hit and, whenever I make the shift, I figure it gives us quite an advantage.

Scout Joe Engel left town yesterday afternoon headed for Louisville where he is understood to be on the trail of a promising catcher. Just what player he is after is not known.

Manager Harris probably will get back in harness again this afternoon. His leg injury has just about healed up and it would not be at all surprising if he did not take up his second-base duties in one of today's games.

Terminals to Resume Titular Play Today

Pullman and Black and White will try to outwit the weather man and get their play-off for the Washington Terminal Railroad Y. M. C. A. champion under way again today. The series now stands 1-all. The game starts at 4:45 o'clock on the league field near the Union station.

CLEAR NAME GIVEN OUSTED PIRATE TRIO

was concurred in by Clarke, Sam Dreyfuss, the treasurer, and Bill McKechnie, manager.

THE league head held a number of secret hearings, the first being attended by club officials and the players. Later he met with Carey, alone, and prior to issuing his statement tonight he conferred again with Dreyfuss and Clarke.

Heydler said he felt that the three players, by reason of their long and honorable baseball career, "were entitled to a full hearing of any grievance they may have in their passing or threatened passing from the Pittsburgh club."

They have been charged with stirring up dissension among Pirate players, he said, and with being ring leaders in an attempt to drive Clarke from the bench.

Carey made it plain, Heydler said, that through the hearing he hoped to clear his name as well as the names of Adams and Bigbee from any charge of insubordination or mutiny or attempt to hurt the club's pennant chances and not with any desire to remain on the club or to reverse the decision to release his two companions and waive him from the team.

Heydler said that in his judgment the affair would not have reached a critical stage had the players gone direct to Dreyfuss or Clarke rather than to McKechnie and the other players with their grievances. Clarke, he said, had an unquestionable right to sit on the bench as an advisor to McKechnie.

HEYDLER spoke of the Pirates' present position in the pennant race, adding it was evident there was dissension over matters of strategy, but evidently the dissension did not affect the team's play.

"It is my belief, however, there was a series of misunderstandings which finally culminated in open dissension immediately after the double defeat administered to the champions in Boston on August 7. I believe these three players made a mistake in the way they undertook what they sought to do, namely, the correction of what they thought was hurtful to the club's interest in having Clarke on the bench.

"In other words, it seems to me it was a case of mistaken zeal to further what they honestly believed to be for the best interests of the club. There was no evidence introduced to show any maliciousness on their part."

Heydler expressed the belief that Carey, as captain, thought he had some right to take the initiative, but, he added, the method adopted by Carey of opposing the wishes and order of the club owner in regard to Clarke could not but result to the detriment of the team's morale.

"It is because of my firm belief in the justice of this finding that I do now go on record to declare that should these players leave the Pittsburgh club they will do so with a good name and that in their passing there is neither stain nor blemish on their long and honorable careers," Heydler said.

Commenting on Heydler's opinion Sam Dreyfuss tonight said:

"The Pittsburgh club feels that Mr. Heydler has conducted this hearing in a fair and impartial manner. We accept his findings in good faith and consider the matter a closed incident."

BOYS' CLUB ELKS WIN.

The Boys' Club Elks defeated the McNeely Insects yesterday, 8 to 5. Fox and Tucci starred. The Elks have a game for tomorrow with the Corinthian Insects to be played on the South Ellipse at 1 o'clock.

Marines Beat Navy For Service Crown

Philadelphia, Aug. 17.—The Devil Dog proved the water hound when nine gobs were sent to defeat as the Marines beat the Navy in nine innings here today, 5 to 2. Several thousand service men sat through the rain to see the deciding game of the series for the service tilt at the Phillies' ball park.

The downfall of Eddie Miner's Sesqui-Navy nine also marked the overthrow of the pride of the Navy, Roy Bobo, the giant right-handed pitcher who has proved too much for many a team during the past year.

Potomac Park Begins Championship Series

Providing rain doesn't interfere, the Potomac Park league will stage its first play-off game between the Navy and Public Buildings and Public Parks nines on the South Ellipse diamond today at 4:45 o'clock. Navy won the title in the first half of the race, while the Parkers scored in the second series.

VETERAN WOMEN NET STARS SCORE EASILY

Mrs. J. E. Bailey, of New York, 6—1, 6—1.

Miss Eleanora Sears, veteran Boston sportswoman, whose remarkable feats have given her a unique place in women's athletics, passed from the singles competition after a keenly waged battle against Mildred Willard, of Philadelphia, 8—6, 7—5.

Making her first appearance in the tournament today after having drawn a first round bye, Miss Ryan sped through her match against Eleanor Cottman, of Baltimore, in twenty minutes. Only one game rewarded the fleet court covering of the Maryland girl, as her California opponent slashed deep chops to the corners of her court and raced to the net for crisp, acutely-angled volleys.

MRS. MALLORY'S straight set victory over Grace Bristed, of New York, was posted with equal ease and impressiveness at 6—1, 6—0, while Eleanor Goss, of New York, No. 5, in national ranking, yielded only three games to Isabella Mumford, of Boston, 6—0, 6—3.

Play tomorrow will take eight players to the quarter finals, which promise matches between Miss Ryan and Miss Goss, Miss Browne and Miss Anderson, Mrs. Mallory and the winner of a contest between Mrs. Chapin and Mrs. Wightman.

The summaries:

FIRST ROUND.

Mrs. Robert Leroy, New York, defeated Mrs. Agnes S. Lamme, Rye, N. Y., 3—6, 6—3, 6—3; Eleanora Sears, Boston, defeated Florence Ballin, New York, 6—4, default; Grace Bristed, New York, defeated Jean Barrett, Toronto, 6—0, 6—1; Josina Van der Ende, New York, defeated Anne Page, Philadelphia, 3—6, 6—3, 8—6; Jessie Gott, Scarsdale, N. Y., defeated Mrs. Arthur M. Duncan, New York, 6—0, 6—4; Mrs. Helen G. Lockhorn, Mamaroneck, N. Y., defeated Mrs. Edward Raymond, Scarsdale, N. Y., 1—6, 6—2, 6—1.

SECOND RACE.

Elizabeth Ryan, Santa Monica, Calif., defeated Eleanor Cottman, Baltimore, 6—0, 6—1; Mary Heaton, Greenwich, Conn., defeated Elsa Taubele, Rye, N. Y., 6—2, 6—0; Mrs. George W. Wightman, Boston, defeated Mrs. J. E. Bailey, New York, 6—1, 6—1; Mrs. W. H. Pritchard, New York, won over Miss Gott; 6—3, 6—3; Alice Frances, Orange, N. J., eliminated Miss Van Der Ende, 6—3, 6—1; Eleanor Goss, New York, defeated Isabella Mumford, Boston, 6—1, 6—3.

Mrs. Molla Mallory, New York, defeated Grace Bristed, New York, 6—1, 6—0; Mildred Willard, Philadelphia, defeated Eleanora Sears, Boston, 8—6, 7—5; Penelope Anderson, Richmond, Va., defeated Mrs. B. E. Cole, 6—0, 1—6, 6—3; Martha Bayard, Short Hills, N. J., defeated Mrs. Leroy, 6—0, 6—1; Mrs. E. H. Roeser, New York, defeated Mrs. William Shedden, Boston, 6—1, 6—3; Margaret Blake, Boston, defeated Mrs. Phillip Hawk, New York, 6—2, 7—5; Mrs. A. H. Chapin, jr., Springfield, Mass., defeated Mrs. P. H. Mitten, Boston, 6—1, 6—1; Miss Mary K. Browne, Santa Monica, Calif., defeated Mrs. B. F. Stenz, New York, 6—2, 6—1; Mrs. Theodore Sohst, New York, defeated Rosamond Newton, Boston, 6—4, 6—4; Mrs. Lockhorn defeated Mrs. H. T. Eaton, New Canaan, Conn., 6—2, 6—1.

RICKARD WILL TAKE BATTLE TO COURTS

ings after expressing his view that the license committee is exceeding its powers in refusing to grant Dempsey a license until he first fights Harry Wills.

Supported by this opinion, Rickard is confident he can successfully force the issue with the license committee.

It is not expected that Dempsey will need to appear here for any phase of the court action. He will be represented by his lawyers as well as by Rickard and Normile.

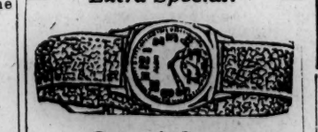

The State athletic commission, although its demands have been defied by the license committee, will not be a party to the court action. This was made clear today by Commissioner George Brower in a statement issued after the commission's regular meeting at which the only official act in the controversy was the incorporation of Attorney General Ottinger's opinion in the minutes.

COMMISSIONER BROWER, however, tossed a bombshell into the situation by an admission that the boxing game in New York is "tottering," presumably as a result of the present chaotic affairs brought about by the deadlock by the government and licensing powers.

Brower, pointing out that he and William Muldoon had done all they could to force the granting of a license to Dempsey, declared they would be "defeated if the license committee persists in following the lead of James A. Farley, chairman of the commission."

Farley has steadfastly held out against the Dempsey-Tunney match and insisted that the champion should first meet Wills.

MOST BONDS MOVE OFF IN IRREGULAR MANNER

Few Spots Are Conspicuously Strong; N. & W. Convertible 6s at New High.

FOREIGN GROUP IS QUIET

New York, Aug. 17 (By the Associated Press).—Bond prices worked irregularly lower in today's trading, which was unsettled by the reaction of the stock market and indications that the steady expansion in brokerage loans reflected a generally tighter credit situation. A few conspicuously strong spots appeared, but the buying in these cases was attributed to convertible features or other speculative factors.

Aside from the establishment of a new high record by Norfolk & Western convertible 6s, railroad bonds were sluggish. Atchison, New York Central, Southern Railway, Rio Grande Western and Norfolk Southern issues were conspicuously heavy, reflecting the general tendency toward liquidation of standard rail issues, which has been especially noticeable since the recent advance in the local rediscount rate.

Price movements of most corporation issues were decidedly confusing. Warner Sugar 7s of 1941 underwent another sinking spell, dropping nearly 3 points, to within a point of the year's low level. Granby Mining 7s lost ground on profit taking, and other weak spots included Belding Heminway 6s, Davis Chemical 6½s and Central Steel 8s.

Trading in foreign obligations bordered on a state of stagnation. French issues were firm and German General Electric 6½s advanced a point to a new high peak, at 110, in response to recent merger reports, but other bonds moved within narrow limits.

WALL STREET GOSSIP

New York, Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—"Intense genuine prosperity" prevails in the Southwest, says Mathew G. Brush, president of the American International Corporation, who returned today from a Western trip. "I have come back more bullish and optimistic about the great Southwest than I have ever been about one thing or one territory. The agricultural districts in southern California are bursting with prosperity. Oil companies in California are all functioning with wonderful organizations, which applies equally well to oil districts and refineries in Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas."

Retail sales in July by General Motors distributors and dealers totaled 101,576 cars and trucks compared with 65,872 in July last year, an increase of 54 per cent. Retail sales have shown a decline each month since May this year, when the corporation established a new record, which, it is explained, is in line with the usual trend of sales during these months of the year. Sales for the seven months of 1926 were 721,766 cars and trucks against 462,232 a year ago.

Additional lines to serve the new producing pool in Russell and Rice counties, Kansas, will be laid by Sinclair Pipe Line Co., owned equally by Sinclair Consolidated Oil and Standard Oil of Indiana. An 8-inch loop will be laid along the present line from Humbolt, Kans., 30 miles westward, and another short loop west of Neal for 6 miles.

The consolidated statement of Chrysler Corporation as of June 30 shows profit and loss surplus of $16,399,210, against $6,070,667 as of June 25 last year. Current assets were $37,824,207 and current liabilities $11,565,722. Net profits for the half-year was $7,846,744, including earnings of subsidiaries, equal after preferred dividends to $2.58 a share on the common stock.

The oil situation in Oklahoma is becoming stabilized, says E. B. Reeser, president of Barnsdall Corporation. No new major pools have been discovered there for more than a year and there is no new field of any importance in sight, but on the other hand, he asserted, Oklahoma and the Southwest have the biggest crops of wheat, corn and fruit in their history, with every indication that the same will be true of the cotton crop.

The Pere Marquette handled 67,728 carloads of freight in July, against 56,191 a year ago and in the first 13 days of August, 29,644, against 26,154 in the same period last month.

Intercontinental Rubber Co. and subsidiaries report net profit of $612,067 for the first half of 1926, equal to $1.03 a share on the no par stock.

Higher prices for foreign pig iron are said to have had a beneficial effect on domestic quotations, chiefly in Eastern districts, where prices are firmer with less evidence that market levels are being shaded. Eastern Pennsylvania is being quoted at $21 a ton minimum on No. 2 foundry. Buffalo holds at $19 a ton.

Four electric transformers, largest in physical dimensions ever built, have been installed at the Wilson substation of the North American system just opened at Merced, the southern terminus of t ehcompany's California tie line, which enables large blocks of power to be transferred from northern to southern California for the first time. Their total weight is 261,000 pounds when filled with 16,000 gallons of oil required for operation.

Net earnings of Weston Electrical Instrument Corporation for the first half of 1926 amounted to $405,501, equal after Class A dividends, to $1.92 a share on the common. Earnings in this same period last year were equivalent to $1.45 a share.

Universal Chain Theaters Corporation has signed contracts to build two new large motion-picture theaters, one at Joplin, Mo., and the other at Kenosha, Wis. Each will be a combination theater, store and apartment building type. The house in Joplin will cost $520,000, seating 2,000, and that in Kenosha $456,000, seating 2,108 persons.

Vanadium Corporation reports net income of $1,043,154 for the half year, equal to $2.78 a share on the no par capital stock against $733,016, or $1.96 a share in the first half of 1925.

A controlling interest in the Schumacher Wall Board Corporation, one of the largest enterprises of its kind on the Pacific coast, has been acquired by Paraffin Companies, Inc. In connection with the deal, public offering of 30,000 shares of Schumacher Wall Board Corporation, participating preferred stock will be made at $26 a share. A portion of this stock has been set aside for the Eastern investment market. Purchases of three shares of preferred will be priviledged to buy one common share at $17.

A new issue of $5,000,000 Havana Electric Railway Co. 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock has been sold by a syndicate headed by Speyer & Co. The shares were priced at par, each of them carrying with it six-tenths of a share of common stock. The offering followed the sale of $5,500,000 debentures for the company last week, completing the financing involved in the segregation of the street railways from the light and power properties of the Havana Electric Railway, Light & Power Co.

HERRICK BLAMES FOOLS FOR TROUBLE IN FRANCE

Asserts Reports of Ill-Feeling Against American Tourists Greatly Exaggerated.

SAYS FRANC WILL RISE

New York, Aug. 17 (By A. P.).—Optimism as to the future of France was expressed today by Myron T. Herrick, United States Ambassador, who returned on the Mauretania for a brief vacation.

"Knowing the French people as I do," he said, "I am confident that the French situation will straighten out and confidence be returned in the country on the part of the people."

Mr. Herrick said fundamental conditions in France were sound.

Reports of French ill-feeling against American tourists have been "greatly exaggerated," he asserted.

"Every country has its fools—who are fools at home as well as abroad," he said. "And as for reports of unsafe travel and great inhospitality in France, this is bally nonsense. There have been some cases of irritation, but they have been magnified and the government deplores it."

Mr. Herrick appeared concerned when informed that some members of the American Legion had planned to protest the legion's trip to Paris next year, and characterized it as a "grave mistake."

Speaking of the improvements in France's industrial and agricultural condition, he said:

"All France is now a great harvest field and every nook and corner is being cultivated. According to statistics, there are some 2,000,000 foreign laborers employed, and therefore fundamental conditions in France are sound."

Attributing the fall of the franc to a loss of confidence, Mr. Herrick said he was convinced that with the return of confidence the franc would reach normal conditions ultimately.

Returning to the report of American tourists' conduct abroad, Mr. Herrick said:

"I personally think our people have pretty level heads. Of course, a fool will make a fool of himself anywhere, but I have rarely seen an American in France give exhibitions of bad taste. Yes, in my opinion we are a pretty adaptable country and people."

COL. BELL PROPOSES CITY ASSESSOR TAKE REALTY BUYING TASK

His Plan to Await the Return of Commissioner Rudolph Before Being Pushed.

SAYS RICHARDS' STAFF IS FITTED FOR DUTY

Points to Loss of Assistant and Difficulty to Be Met by New Man.

Lieut. Col. J. Franklin Bell, engineer commissioner, yesterday thought up a neat way to try to escape the embarrassment of not being able to buy school sites under the restriction imposed on their purchase by Congress. He proposed that land-buying for District purposes be transferred from his department to that of the District assessor, who operates under the administrative supervision of Commissioner Cuno H. Rudolph. Mr. Rudolph is absent from the city.

District officials generally have expressed the opinion that what Congress sought, in forbidding payment of more than 25 per cent in excess of assessed valuation for land, was not so much to hold down the sums paid for land as to increase the valuation of all District property for purposes of assessment.

One of the effects of this would be to increase the tax bills of taxpayers without increasing the tax rate. Opinion has been expressed that another effect would be a tendency to perpetuate the $9,000,000 lump sum contribution to District expenses out of the Federal Treasury, instead of restoring a percentage ratio division of the cost of local government.

Praises Assessor's Office.

Col. Bell did not say that his new plan was intended to jog the assessor in the matter of increasing valuations. Neither did he state that he sought relief from a difficult job. Instead he complimented the assessor's office. He said:

"I am losing my assistant, Maj. W. H. Holcombe. He attended to the details of buying sites. It would not be reasonable to expect his successor, a new man in the District, unfamiliar with property values and neighborhoods, to be able to take up this work. On the other hand, Assessor William P. Richards has an efficient staff, admirably suited for just this duty. His office is the logical place for such work to be done."

Maj. Holcombe has a reputation as a go-getter and as a good bargainer. He has been unable to buy a single site since Congress tied up land purchasing with the 25 per cent clause, except one, for a police station, in which case the owner of the land was both well-to-do and public-spirited.

Will Ask Lifting of Ban.

Col. Bell would not try to shift such an awkward responsibility from the shoulders of one of his departments to one of a fellow commissioner's in the latter's absence from the city. So he is holding up consideration of his proposal by the board until Commissioner Rudolph's return, expected next week.

There is also a plan for the commissioners to join in asking Congress, at the winter session, to lift the restriction on the appropriations for buying sites, so that the development of the five-year school building program may be resumed.

Youth Gets 30 Days On Bad Check Charge

Charles Myers, of York, Pa., was sentenced to 30 days in jail yesterday on a charge of passing a worthless check by Judge Macdonald in police court. Myers is being held for the grand jury on a previous charge. A bank book containing entries amounting to a large sum which Myers is alleged to have used in passing the check was exhibited in court.

Headquarters Detective Patrick O'Brien, who made the arrest, said the youth obtained the bank book by depositing $2 in a bank at York. The check for which he was sentenced was for $28 and was given in payment for three shirts at Joseph Goldberg's store, 1010 Fourteenth street northwest. The youth sobbingly told the judge that he had done it all for another man, but would not give the reason or the man's name. He said he was one of a family of twelve children.

Hearing Tomorrow On Street Widening

Trade and citizens bodies will have an opportunity to present their claims for the widening of certain streets in the District at a public hearing before the board of District commissioners tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the District building.

Blueprints of the city streets that need widening, together with cost estimates of the work, were sent out to many of the business and civic organizations by the District authorities several weeks ago. There will be sufficient funds in the 1927 budget for the widening of only three or four streets and the hearing will be for the purpose of ascertaining from the citizens what streets need widening the most.

Woodmen to Hold Outing.

Cedar Camp, No. 15, Woodmen of the World, will hold its annual outing tomorrow at Chesapeake Beach. Two thousand persons are expected. M. I. Ryon, of Upper Marlboro, Md., is in charge of arrangements.

A. S. Heyser Commissioned.

Allen Schulze Heyser, 3348 Mount Pleasant street, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the air corps reserve.

Policewomen Appeal Trial Board Decision

Attorney Robert E. Lynch filed with the District commissioners yesterday a notice of appeal from the decision of the police trial board in the case wherein Mrs. Gladys Black and Mrs. Pearl Parker, policewomen, were charged with arresting an innocent woman and mistreating her. The trial board fined the policewomen $25 each.

The commissioners gave the lawyer until September 7 to submit a brief supporting his appeal. In the meantime they will be supplied with transcripts of the testimony in the hearing before the trial board.

R. T. LINCOLN'S WIDOW IS BEQUEATHED ESTATE

U. S. MAY GET PORTRAIT

The will of Robert Todd Lincoln, until his death only survivor and son of President Abraham Lincoln, dated October 17, 1919, was filed yesterday in the probate branch of the District of Columbia Supreme court by Norman Frost, attorney, on behalf of Mrs. Mary Lincoln, widow of the testator, and the American Security & Trust Co., who are named executors. The will is a brief document and bequeathes the entire estate, the value of which is not stated, to Mrs. Lincoln, except, of course, the six trunks of documents in the custody of the Library of Congress.

These documents are given to the United States government by the second paragraph of the will, and according to the arrangement made by the testator when he turned them over to the library, they are not to be made public until 21 years after the death of Robert Todd Lincoln. The will does not in any way change any arrangement or understanding entered into between Mr. Lincoln and the library authorities.

It is understood that many articles connected with or belonging to President Lincoln were in the home of his son at Thirteenth and N streets northwest. The magnificent portrait of Abraham Lincoln which hangs in this home may eventually find its way to the White House, according to a recent expression of the testator. Just what Mrs. Lincoln will do with Lincolniana, in the Library of Congress, remains to be determined.

Robert L. McGuire, who died August 6, leaves his son, Robert B. McGuire, $500 and a private library, according to the will filed yesterday in probate court. The remainder of the estate is devised to the widow, Mrs. Julia W. McGuire.

5 NAVY FLIERS NAMED FOR SCHNEIDER RACE

Lieut. Comdr. Wick to Have Charge of U. S. Team in Air Contest.

Five local naval officers will be represented in the personnel of the navy team for the Schneider racing cup seaplane races to be held between the United States navy and Italy at Hampton Roads, Va., October 24.

Lieut. Comdr. Homer C. Wick, commanding officer of the naval air station at Anacostia, D. C., has been designated as officer in charge of the team, and the following have been ordered to report to him for duty in connection with the race: Lieut. G. T. Cuddihy, Anacostia naval air station; Lieut. F. H. Conant 2d, bureau of aeronautics; Lieut. (j. g.) J. J. Glenhart, scouting fleet; Lieut. W. G. Tomlinson, Anacostia naval air station; First Lieut. H. J. Norton, marine corps, bureau of aeronautics.

It is not known at the present time whether Lieut. Cuddihy will participate as a pilot or act as executive officer for the team. Three planes of the R3C2 navy racing type have been entered. Italy and the United States navy each has won the cup twice and this race will determine its permanent possessor.

Autoist, Run Over By Own Car, Sues

William M. Bird, McKinley apartments, Third and E streets northwest, who says he was run over by his own automobile, filed suit yesterday in circuit court against the Terminal Ice Co. to recover $25,000 damages for injuries resulting from the accident.

Through Attorneys Doyle & Flynn, the plaintiff says that on February 1, 1925, he was filling the radiator of his car at a watering trough at Third and H streets northwest, when a truck belonging to the ice company struck the car from the rear, pushing it onto him.

Stockbroker Declared Sane.

Robert W. Brown, former stockbroker, who has been a patient at St. Elizabeths hospital for the last three years, was declared to be of sound mind and released yesterday by a jury in the District Supreme court sitting before Justice Bailey. Attorney George F. Curtis appeared for Brown.

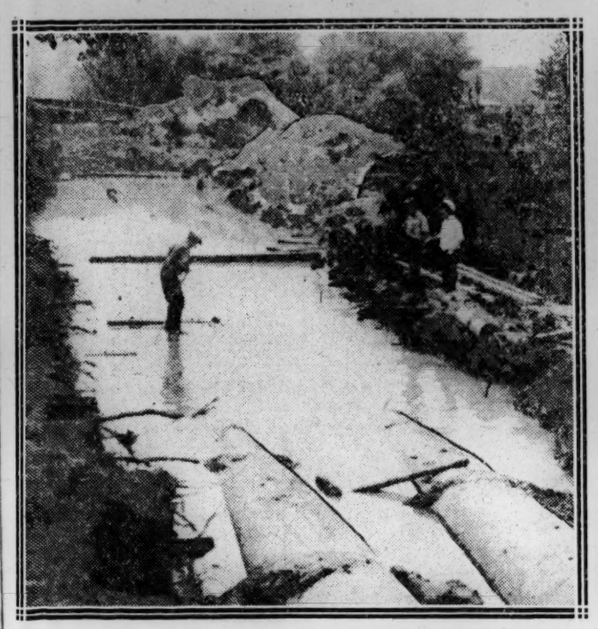

Laundry Stolen From Wagon.

C. C. Powell, driver of a laundry wagon, of Alexandria, Va., told police of the Tenth precinct that while he was absent from his truck at Seventeenth street and Columbia road northwest, yesterday, a thief stole four bundles of laundry, valued at approximately $100.

Brown, Red Star Traffic Head.

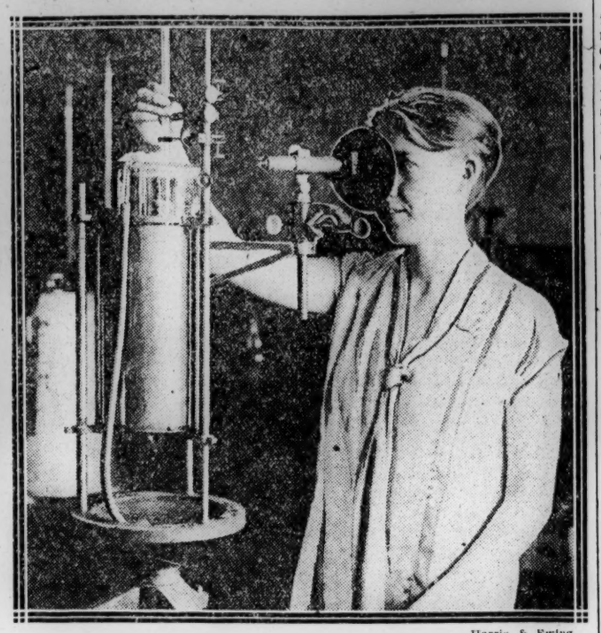

A. Chester Brown, former assistant traffic manager of the Washington-Virginia railway, has assumed his new position as traffic manager of the Red Star Line, Inc., and Washington Motor Coach Co., according to an announcement yesterday.

Parking Overtime In Storm Excused

The storm which swept Washington Monday was given as the reason she parked her automobile overtime by Miss Sarah F. Smith, of the Argonne apartments, in traffic court yesterday before Judge McMahon. The judge agreed that she had a good excuse and took her personal bond.

Policeman Raymond V. Sinclair, of the First precinct, left a summons in Miss Smith's automobile while, she says, she was marooned in a doorway without an umbrella. When she finally reached her machine, she said, the engine stalled, keeping her on the corner even longer.

U. S. BUILDING PROGRAM HERE IS BEING DELAYED

Removal of Center Market and Acquisition of Land Hold Up Start.

SLOWLY CLEARING SITES

There is little likelihood of getting a start this year on the District's $50,000,000 government building program, it was learned yesterday.

It has been planned to award foundation contracts for the archives and new internal revenue building this autumn but the work of clearing the property is moving slowly.

In the first place, the question of what is to become of Center market is still to be settled and the government has yet to acquire considerable property before the two buildings can be erected.

It owns about three lots on the proposed site of the archives building but owns none of the proposed site for the new revenue building. Both are in the vicinity of the market.

Little trouble is expected in acquiring the outstanding property, and the government is not expected even to have to resort to condemnation proceedings, but the business houses now on the sites are showing a reluctance to make the first move. They intend to move, but no firm has yet shown a disposition to take the lead.

Predictions that the building work will bring as high as 5,000 men to Washington are discounted by Treasury Department officials. The increase in population, they believe, will be unappreciable.

They place the number of workers engaged closer to 2,000 and point out that they will be transitory. As one class of workers finish another will come in and take up their work, it is explained, and at no one time will the total number of workers engaged on the buildings be on the job together.

FALLING BRICK WALL INJURES 3 WORKMEN

Rain Loosens Downtown Construction and Cave-In of Several Tons Results.

A brick retaining wall 20 feet long and several tons of earth in the foundation of a building under construction at Fifteenth and G streets northwest yesterday caved in and three colored laborers were seriously injured.

They are: Moses Lee, 216 Seaton court northwest, broken left leg and mangled foot; Rodney Jordan, 44 years old, Columbia road northwest, broken right leg and body injuries, and Reginald Galloway, 21 years old, 2248 Cleveland place northwest, sprained leg and body bruises.

The men were extracted by fellow workmen and taken to Emergency hospital in a police patrol. Police assume that the earth was loosened by the heavy rains.

La Vigne Will Invite Grange to Meet Here

An invitation to the National grange to hold its 1927 convention in Washington will be tendered to that body by C. E. La Vigne, director of the Washington convention bureau, at the leadership conference of the Pennsylvania State grange to be held in Centre Hall, Pa., August 17 to 20. The director will outline facilities of the National Capital for accommodating such a gathering in his address on leadership to be delivered at the conference tomorrow.

R. W. Dunlay, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, and A. M. Loomis, president of Potomac grange, No. 1, of this city, will also address the conference tomorrow. The Centre County Pomona grange and the Pennsylvania State college will participate in the conference.

"Teller of Fortunes" Given 180-Day Term

Despite his plea that he was "telling fortunes," George McDonald Shaw, colored, was sentenced to 180 days in jail yesterday by Judge George H. Macdonald in police court on a charge of permitting gaming. Shaw was arrested at 56 Pierce street northwest, the home of his mother, by Sergt. Lloyd E. Kelly and Policeman Bauer, of the Second precinct.

The policemen testified that they were passing the house and saw a card game in progress. When they entered, they said, the six men in the game swept money from the table into their pockets.

Autoist Sent to Jail and Fined.

Ninety days in jail and a fine of $100 was the sentence imposed on James Howard, colored, 212 Florida avenue northwest, when he was found guilty of driving while intoxicated and driving without a permit yesterday by Judge John P. McMahon in police court. Howard was arrested by Policeman E. G. Smith, of the Sixth precinct.

HOUSE PHONE RATE CUT IS CONSIDERED BY UTILITIES BOARD

Hearing Called for September 15 at Which Action Will Be Discussed.

25 CENTS FIGURE GIVEN AS LIKELY REDUCTION

Company Making More Than "Fair Return," Commission's Auditors Find.

Telephone rates, which were theoretically reduced a year ago, may be revised similarly this fall. A public hearing to consider such action was ordered yesterday by the public utilities commission, to take place September 15 at 10 a. m.

The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. not only made too much money during the last twelve months, according to accountants of the commission, but it would still have made too much if it had lowered its rates in obedience to the commission's order intended to have become effective June 10, 1925.

aids, what the company's net earnaides, what the company's net earnings would have been if the rates had been reduced, represents more than $100,000 in excess of a "fair return" on the valuation placed on the telephone property by the commission; indicating, it is said, that a further reduction of 25 cents a month on residence telephones would scale down the profit to the 7 per cent on investment the commission recognizes as just.

Company Valuation Increased.

In September, 1924, the Federation of Citizens associations petitioned the commission to reduce local telephone rates. The company countered by demanding an increased valuation of its property. Hearings resulted in a compromise whereby the valuation was increased, but not enough to please the company, and the rates were ordered reduced, but not enough to please the federation.

An order was issued directing the company to reduce its unlimited residence telephone tariff from $5 a month to $4.75, effective June 10, 1925, and to increase the number of calls permitted on two-party lines for $2.50 a month, from 35 to 40.

The telephone concern appealed to the courts to have the commission's valuation increased, and pending the appeal, posted a bond to secure reimbursement of telephone subscribers if the court should sustain the commission and say that it should have obeyed the order and reduced the rates.

Call Isssued by Commission.

The present call for a hearing was issued by the commission on its own initiative, without an appeal from citizens' organizations. It is said that the reduction, if any, to be ordered followng the hearing in September, may be another 25 cents, to provide a monthly charge of $4.50 for unlimited residence telephones, and 45 calls for $2.50 a month on the two-party lines.

This order, if issued, is expected to result in another lawsuit with the telephone bills still unlowered, but with the bond increased to secure refunds to subscribers if the company eventually loses in court.

The commission yesterday granted the petition of the Capital Traction Co. for permission to cease operation of the Rock Creek Park golf course motorbus line. The secretary noted on the records of the commission the offer of the company to give a bus to the golf concessionaire or to the director of public buildings and public parks if either wanted to pay the deficits of operation.

Gun-Toter Is Given 240-Day Jail Term

Elmer F. Neal, colored, 2602 Bowen street southeast, was sentenced to 240 days in jail yesterday on a charge of carrying concealed weapons by Judge George H. Macdonald in police court. Neal is alleged to have hailed a taxicab at Ninth street and New York avenue northwest Monday night and told the driver, Kurtz Brandenburg, that he had just shot a man and wanted to make a quick getaway.

Brandenburg drove toward the Second precinct police station and met Policeman Otto Hallett at Seventh and M streets. He hailed the policeman, who took the negro to the station house. Search of his person revealing no weapons, the police searched the taxi and found, they testified, a revolver. Neal was arrested and taken to court.

Watch Stolen From Desk.

A few minutes before the wrist watch of Miss Gladys Herberson was stolen from her desk in the office of a motion picture exchange in the Mather building, 916 G street northwest, yesterday, a salesman was trying to sell her some photographs, police were told. She valued the watch at $75. Police are seeking the salesman.
